As a fitting climax to the four years of faithful and efficient service during his ministry with the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church of this city, Rev. Homer B. Davis and family who are leaving Thursday for Fredonia, N. Y. where Rev. Davis will begin his new pastorate with the Methodist church of that city, were honored at a reception and dinner in the church Monday evening.

Three Hundred Attend

Dinner was served at 6:30 in the church dining room at attractively arranged tables with covers arranged for three hundred in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Following the dinner a musical program was carried out in the auditorium with Norman E. Clark, superintendent of the Bible School, presiding. The program closed by a solo number by Rev. Davis, who sang the song that is loved by every one, "The End of a Perfect Day," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Rev. Davis was accompanied by Mrs. Davis on the piano, his daughter, Lucile on the violin and son, Edwin on the cello. It was quite a touching moment and seemed very appropriate for the occasion.

A guard of honor was appointed composed of Hon. George T. Weinhartner, Charles H. Andrews, Mrs. George Forest and Mrs. D. T. McConahy, who escorted Rev. Davis and family from the church to the lawn, the congregation singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," led by Chester F. Reynolds.

Presented With Car

On the lawn a handsome Buick touring car, equipped with a winter top, was standing which was presented to Rev. Davis as an appreciation from the congregation for the splendid work accomplished during his pastorate with them.

The presentation was made by George G. Stitzinger who gave a brief outline of the work done in the Epworth church and throughout the city by the Davis family. He spoke of the pleasant relations existing between pastor and people and wished Rev. Davis and family

Start Probe In Train Disaster At Bethlehem

Engineer Schmidt Of Scranton Flyer Issues Statement

EIGHT ARE DEAD, OFFICIAL TOLL

Lehigh Valley Officials Intimate Blame For Wreck Lies With Central System

(International News Service)
BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 28.—An investigation of the causes and an effort to fix responsibility for the collision of the Scranton flyer of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Lehigh Limited almost under the sheds of the union station here, in which eight persons were killed and 40 injured, was scheduled to open today.

The Jersey Central train ploughed through the Lehigh train at an intersection of the two roads here yesterday, in clear weather and after the trains had been in full view of each other for some minutes. The Lehigh Valley railroad issued a statement implying that the blame rested with the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Engineer Issues Statement.

Henry Schmidt, engineer of the Scranton flyer, who is in St. Luke's hospital suffering slight injuries, said:

"I thing something was wrong with the signals I threw my brakes and blew my whistle. I was too close and could not stop. If the Lehigh Limited had been moving fast the accident would not have happened."

The investigation is expected to determine if the signal was set against Schmidt. Both trains were said to have been moving at about 15 miles an hour, and the Lehigh Valley railroad admitted that the limited was slightly ahead of time. It is said the Scranton flyer was running ahead of schedule.

A revised list of the dead follows:

Harold W. Bigel, Lehighton, Pa.
David Baum, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Hugh McGee, Lehigh Valley baggageman, Allentown, Pa.
Charles C. Gales, New York City.
George McGovern, Mauch Chunk, Pa.
H. J. Ott, Allentown, Pa.
A. J. Shovlin, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Unidentified man, believed to be a negro.

Most of the injured were suffering from body bruises and shock.

N. Y. Republicans Openly Divided On Prohibition

Platform Adopted By Republicans Leans Toward Dry Side; Candidates Are Wet

PLATFORM ADOPTED WITHOUT ANY HITCH

Party Adopts Platform Plank Calling For Strict Law Enforcement

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept 28--The Republicans of New York marched out in the middle of the road today on the controversial issue of prohibition—and thereby averted what promised to be the most disastrous split in the history of the party.

The platform leans to the dry side; the candidates to the wet.

Having adopted a plank pledging the party to strict law enforcement, the state convention today proceeded to the serious business of nominating at the head of the state ticket two men who are as well known for their wet views almost as Gov. Al Smith. These are Senator James W. Wadsworth and Rep. Ogden L. Mills. To the latter falls the task of opposing "Al's" thrust for a fourth term at Albany next November.

Relieve Strain

Thus the wets and drys emerged from an embarrassing situation with at least a semblance of victory. The extreme-right drys from upstate are dissatisfied, but no less so than the extreme-left wets from down state. There was a lot of muttering today in the wake of the platform's adoption, but the vast majority of the 1316 convention delegates are content, and consider themselves well out of a situation that had the party leaders frantic with worry and trepidation.

So relieved were the rank and file that the platform went through the convention late last night without a voice being raised against it on the floor. Both sides were afraid to start anything.

It was considered not improbable today that the slate of candidates

Five Carloads Of Seats For Cathedral Auditorium; Installation Is Started

Rapid progress is now being made on the completion of the Scottish Rite cathedral on Lincoln avenue, which has been in the course of construction for two years.

Representatives of the American Seating company are now here and have started the installation of the seats of the auditorium. There are more than 3,000 seats to be put in place and it will take some time to complete this work.

Three carloads of the seats have been received here and two more carloads have been shipped and are expected here in a few days. The fact that it required five railroad box cars to hold the seats of the auditorium will give some idea of the immensity of the place.

Chairs for Dining Room.

The 2500 folding chairs to be used in the dining room of the cathedral have also arrived and have been placed in the dining room but have not yet been unpacked. This will be done in a few days.

These chairs are of steel construction and are decorated at the back with the double eagle of the Scottish Riet.

Friday evening there will be a meeting in the cathedral for members and friends of the New Castle Consistory, as well as representatives of the general public, at which time some idea of what has been done and what is contemplated in the use of the cathedral as a community enterprise will be outlined.

It is proposed that the immense building, which is one of the outstanding places of western Pennsylvania, will become the center of community and county-wide activities that will increase the prestige of the city and surrounding district.

New Castle Fair Draws Good Crowd On Opening Day

Annual Exhibition Opens With Indications Of Notable Success

STOCK BARNS ARE FILLED TO LIMIT

Midway Has Many Entertainment Features With Appeal

Country folk and city dwellers today joined hands to make the New Castle Fair the biggest and best that has ever been arranged for New Castle and attendance figures at noon augur well for a record fair.

Automobiles and carriages could be seen pouring their human cargo into the spacious ground, located along the Harlansburg highway, all during the morning.

And no wonder, for at the grounds are all kind of blooded livestock, various exhibits by Granges, merchants and boys and girls' clubs; fast race horses and a midway dotted with attractions that surpass those of past fairs.

Automobiles which streamed through the lane connecting with the grounds were directed swiftly but safely by traffic officers, and after passing into the grounds proper were directed to a spacious parking plot.

As soon as one stepped from the parking space they found themselves surrounded by a maze of exhibits or attractions. Automobiles, farm implements of all kinds, restaurants, shows—in fact, everything that has an appeal to catch the eye.

For instance, beneath the grandstand there are a half dozen concessions. Some are soft drink emporiums, others are miniature res-

Men At Work Fail To Corroborate Reports Tappings Are Heard

IRONWOOD, Mich., Sept. 28.—Insanity, cold, starvation.

These three grim perils stalk side by side, blazing the way of death 727 feet below the surface of the ground, where 43 miners have been imprisoned in the G. Pabst mine here since Friday at noon.

Shortly after dawn today your correspondent was the first newspaperman to descend the wrecked G. shaft to the lowest level where a crew of 10 men, working on a suspended platform, are relining the opening with steel, concrete and timber.

This rescue party is working 280 feet below the level of the ground and a survey of the black workshop, dimly illuminated by carbide lamps, reveals that if the entombed men are to be saved it will not be through this method of rescue.

In the F. Aurora mine, however, reports come to the surface of fast progress on the 300-foot bore being made from the thirteenth level of that mine to the eighth of the G. Pabst, where at least 40 of the victims of the slide are trapped.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A Central News dispatch from Bucharist today stated that Queen Marie's intended visit to the United States has been postponed indefinitely.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

Town Talk

One of the most unusual sights witnessed in this city for some time was seen on South Mill street Monday afternoon, when two funeral processions, going in opposite directions, passed each other near the intersection of Phillips street. Both processions were long, making the sight more impressive. Traffic was suspended as the funeral processions passed.

Overcoats have the call today.

City employes are still busily engaged in making improvements in rounding off corners at street intersections, on main thoroughfares. One of the latest to be completed is at Lincoln and Highland avenues. These rounded corners are proving a great aid to traffic in the city, especially where the streets intersect at an acute angle.

Tomorrow's New Castle Day at the fair.

N. Y. REPUBLICANS OPENLY DIVIDED ON PROHIBITION

will go through the same way and for the same reason. Nomination of Wadsworth and Mills will come late this afternoon.

Prohibition Plank

The prohibition plank that the convention greedily swallowed said:

"The manufacture, transportation or sale of intoxticating beverages is forbidden by the Federal Constitution. So long as this provision is in the Constitution it should be enforced. The Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act are the law of the land. As a party which has always upheld the cause of law and order, we pledge our public officials, whether national or state, to do all in their power to see that they are obeyed.

"The people of the state are rightly alarmed by the lack of observance and enforcement of the Federal law relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors. From this has resulted the ending referendum to obtain the opinion of the people upon the question of modification of that law. The referendum gives all the opportunity to express themselves. We urge a full expression at the polls on this matter."

There they left it.

Favors Repeal

In his keynote speech, Rep. Mills argued for committing the party to the results of the referendum, irrespective of which way the cat jumps in November. Senator Wadsworth would have gone even further. He favors the outright repeal of the Amendment and the institution of the Quebec plan of Governmental control and supervision of liquor selling.

The convention would have none of them, nor would it listen to Rep. Hamilton Fish, who insisted upon a plank denouncing the coming referendum as "a Democratic trick."

The balance of the platform was outlined by Mills—a scathing attack on the fiscal policies of Al Smith at Albany and a pledge to install "Coolidge Economy" there.

MERION CRICKET CLUB, ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 28. — Miss Glenna Collett, Providence defending champion, was one up on Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, when they reached the ninth hole in their first round match in the national championship here today. Miss Collett required 45 to go out and Mrs. Hill 48.

First round matches were played in a cold rain, a number of the contestants wearing all rubber suits of various colors. It was one of the worst days in many years for championship golf but the course was in condition to play and the officials could do nothing but start the matches on scheduled time.

taurants where the wall-known "hawt dawg" and "hamburger" with lemonade or coffee can be had.

To the north stretch a line of tents which house many and varied attractions. Spielers were busy shouting their wares, and before several of the tents were platforms upon which performers gave ballyhoos.

Blooded Stock

Farther to the north were the barns where the cows, stallions, sheep, bulls, pigs—almost every kind of stock is housed in clean barns. Long lines of people visited these barns to gaze at the blooded and highly prized stock.

The speed barns also proved a source of interest. All afternoon men, women and children visited the barns where the horses which will race, beginning Wednesday, are given every attention.

In another section is the motordome, a place where motorcycles dash around walls built straight up and down and where a miscue on the part of a rider would result in his injury or death.

Along other plots were concessions with blankets, fancy baby dolls, clocks; in fact, every kind of an article that would appeal to man, woman and child.

And these are only a small part of the concessions at the fair, which will operate day and night, and if the attendance today augurs well, a record will be broken this season.

According to officials, no blemished animals can be, or are being, exhibited. There are stallions, mares, weanling colts. They include Belgian, Shire and Clydesdale, heavy draft geldings and mares and ponies for the display children's day.

There are all kinds of bulls—Jerseys, Guernseys, Holsteins, Shorthorns, Herefords and Angus. Sheep, such as Delaine, Shropshire, Oxford, Southdown, Hampshire, Leicester, Dorset and Cheviot are displayed.

In the exhibit of swine there are Berkshires, Chester Whites, Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Hampshires.

Judging Contest

At one o'clock the Lawrence County Farm Bureau held judging contests on different classes of livestock raised by the Farm Bureau's boys and girls club and the awards will be announced later.

The poultry department, superintended by McClure Hartsell, contains all kinds of fowls, and in another department is the display of farm products such as seed corn, potatoes, beets, carrots, cabbage, cucumbers, onions, tomatoes, musk melons, watermelons, pumpkins, squash, corn, mangel wurtzels and fruits.

The Grange also has a household art display. Artistic arrangement and general appearance, quality of products, number of products and labeling call for points to be considered in the awards.

In another department there will be household science, such as canned goods, also cakes, frostings, cookies and household art, such as embroidery, satin stitch in white, eyelets in white, in colors, piano scarfs, hardanger, cross-stitch and hemstitching, Irish crochet, filet crochet, cotton crochet, in wool, knitting, tatting, towels, quilts, spreads, lace and insertion.

There is also an apiary exhibit, and in fact there is something for man, woman and child to see and enjoy at the fair this week.

the greatest success on their new field of labor.

Rev. Davis was deeply moved at this token of friendship and regard and stated that this occasion had been the brightest mile post in all the years of his ministry. He thanked the congregation for their kindness and courtesy during their stay with them. He said the Epworth people were a big hearted people who did big things with little fuss and he would always cherish the memory of the pleasant four years with them.

The event is considered to be one of the most pleasant farewell gatherings ever held in the history of the church and will long be remembered by all those who were present.

Will Be Missed

Not only will the congregation of the Epworth church regret to have Rev. Davis and his family leave the city, but countless friends throughout New Castle and community, as well.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis have always been ready to minister to the sick or any one in distress whenever they were called upon. During their stay here, Mrs. Davis has given much of her time to charitable work. She has always taken an active part in the societies of the church and Bible school and with her gifted musical talent has taken part in many concerts given in this city.

Miss Lucile Davis has been a tireless worker in the Young People's Sunday School Council of the New Castle District. Her work and influence will be much missed by the young people with whom she associated while here.

Telephone Rates Change Friday

No Protest Filed To Application Asking For Right To Make Changes

ANNUAL RECEIPTS WILL BE REDUCED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania today was making plans to put into effect Friday a new rate schedule. The new schedule of tariff for long distance service was approved by the public service commission. No protest was filed to the petition.

The new rates will bring about a decrease in the cost of calls to points 150 miles or more distant, while there will be a slight increase in tolls for points from 24 to 110 miles distant. Discontinuance of the midnight discount, changes in station to station rates and the period for night calls are included in the new schedule.

Estimates made by the Bell company show that gross annual receipts will be reduced $95,000 by the changes.

REPORT PROGRESS IN ONE EFFORT TO REACH MINERS

lieve they are less than 60 feet from the victims. If such is the case, it is believed that the men on the eighth level will be found alive.

A mine captain returning from the 21st level reported that his crew was making excellent progress there. He said he believed he could get to the 20th level by tomorrow. If the main shaft is not blocked at that point he will be able to ascend directly to the imprisoned men.

The diamond drill, for the emplacement of which it was necessary to blast through granite to the second level on the G. shaft, has required constant repair and little faith is pinned on it as a means of reaching the men.

Hear No Tappings

Although the officials of the Oliver Iron Mining Company have been sending out reports of tappings heard in the main shaft since last night, workers on the job discredit these announcements. Because of the apprehension held by relatives and friends of the men below, they serve to placate the townspeople here, although mumblings of dissatisfaction are to be heard on all sides.

A telegraph operator who descended the G. shaft to the emergency platform today came to the surface with the report that he could hear nothing which might be Morse code signals.

When your correspondent descended to this level a miner called his attention to what are called tappings. The sounds emanate from the black chasm below and might well be echoes of the sledge hammers pounding in the shaft above.

Despite the fact that a trained ear might be able to differentiate between echoes and original sounds, no miner in the shaft has been found by your correspondent who will admit that he believes them to be tappings as announced early this morning by company officials.

"There may be tappings, but I have not heard them", one veteran mine captain said after he had come up from an all-night vigil in the shaft. "I cannot believe that tappings could be heard because of the fact that earth and rock lie between us and the men and my experience in the mines has taught me that sounds will not come up above an obstruction of this kind".

However, company officials were not discouraged and promised a new gesture later today, when they planned to send a man into the shaft with a stethescope in an attempt to catch any sounds that may be coming up the slate walls of the opening.

Many Citizens Are Unprepared For Cold Snap

Sudden Drop In Temperature Keeps Coal Men And Heater Men On The Jump

Coming like a bolt out of the blue, the present cold snap has found many people unprepared.

Few had coal in their bins, and many who had taken this precaution, had neglected to have needed repairs made on their heaters. As a result there has been considerable suffering, and not a few are hurling imprecations at the weather man.

Now the coal men and the heater men are both on the jump. Everybody wants coal or heater repairs made at once. It is not so hard to get coal, but heater repairmen find it impossible to respond to all the calls at once.

One of the common annoyances of those who have furnaces in their homes is to find that the smoke stacks are full of little holes. They sweat and oxidize during the hot months, and often the damage is not discovered until it is time to make on a fire. There is a fortune in store for some one who can invent a smoke pipe, leading from the heater to the chimney, which will not oxidize. About the only way it can be prevented with the present smoke pipes, is to take them down and store them in some warm place during the summer.

While the weather has been extremely cold during the past few days, for this season of the year, the weather man is promising a rising temperature, and it looks as though his guess would be right, for it is considerably warmer today.

Accident Occurs On Wilmington Ave.

Cars Collide at Moody Avenue Intersection —College Boys In One Car

When the car driven by William Kaglik, 1803 Hanna street, this city (home address Hadley, Pa.) and that of R. T. Galbraith of 206 Leasure avenue came together last midnight at the intersection of Wilmington and Moody avenues, two persons sustained minor injuries and both cars were badly damaged.

Kaglik sustained several cuts while a boy named Millison, who was riding with him, sustained a cut on the head that necessitated the attention of a physician.

The police were notified that there had been a serious accident at Wilmington and Moody avenues and Officers Steiner and Samuels were detailed on the call.

They found that Kaglik was driving north on Wilmington avenue and that R. T. Galbraith was making a left hand turn when the accident occurred. According to the report of Kaglik, Galbraith did not make the regulation main thoroughfare stop on turning from Moody onto Wilmington avenue, while Mr. Galbraith reports that he stopped and secing no car and believing that everything was all right, made the turn.

Kaglik had picked up three New Wilmington boys at Wallace avenue and was taking them to the college town. They were Millison, the man injured, J. G. Mark and J. D. Eagleson. The Kaglik machine was wrecked.

The officers found that Kaglik did not have a driver's license and this morning he was charged before Alderman O. H. P. Green by Chief of Police Henry Dysart with operating a car without a driver's license and paid a fine and costs.

Other Accidents.

As W. A. Stone of 317 Boyles avenue and his son Joseph were crossing Shenango street from the P. & L. E. station to the Dewberry gasoline station this morning, on foot, a car bearing Pennsylvania license 96-585 turning north on Shenango street from Washington street, ran into and hit the former. He was apparently not seriously hurt.

H. W. Craven reported this morning that while driving south on Moravia street in front of the New Castle Feed company place of business, a coal truck collided with and damaged his machine.

N. Allison, 411 Neshannock avenue, reported to the police Monday that while driving west on East North street his machine collided with another machine going in the same direction. Some damage was done.

G. Allshouse, 232 Stanton avenue Greensburg, Pa., reported today that while driving at South and Mill streets his car was in a collision with a car driven by Mrs. Mary Nader of 17 North Mill street.

As it started to go over the engineer, R. M. Thompson jumped and landed safely but with such force as to sustain some injuries to his feet and legs which however were not of a serious character.

The fireman Mark Hanna, was unable to get out before the engine landed on its side and he was burned by escaping steam before he was removed from the overturned engine. He was removed at once to the Shenango Valley hospital where he is reported to be doing as well as could be expected. The engine was not greatly damaged.

"Bootleg" Vinegar Sold In Kittanning

KITTANNING, Pa., Sept. 28.—A country-wide crusade against the sale of "bootleg" is being prosecuted here by agents of the Pennsylvania department of agriculture. Stores where vinegar is offered for sale are being visited and samples taken for analysis. As a result of the inquiry J. M.. Nichol of Indiana, special agent from Harrisburg, has lodged information against 14 dealers before Justice of the Peace Frank J. Atkins of Kittanning. They are charged with the violation of the act of the assembly regulating the sale of vinegar.

It is alleged that tests made by state chemists disclosed that vinegar sold in various places as "pure cider vinegar" was in fact distilled vinegar containing coloring matter.

HILARIOUS COMEDY FEATURE AT PENN ALSO STYLE SHOW

Those people who want a good laugh with their entertainment, and that includes almost everyone, can get a million laughs or more at "Kid Boots" which is at the Penn Theatre the first half of this week. With Eddie Cantor, the famous Broadway comedian in the leading role supported by that little imp Clara Bow, and the beautiful Billie Dove and Lawrence Gray, fight fans expect something out of the ordinary and they get it. "Kid Boots" is patterned after the famous stage comedy of the same name and it is funnier on the screen than on the stage. A part of the scenes are enacted on a golf course, and the way Cantor plays horse with the ancient and honorable game would give a real devotee of the game the shivers. But it is not all golf for their is two romances in "Kid Boots" and they keep you thinking to know what to expect next. It is a hilarious play and one that will linger long in the memory after it has gone.

The Jiles Shoppe presents an additional feature on the stage with a fall fashion revue that will stand out as a premier effort at displaying the newest in feminine apparel. New York models display all the dresses and they do their work well. The arrangement and the method of display is different than anything of the kind ever attempted here and it is a real feature.

To add additional spice to the program Neal Burns as the Daffy Dill is a real fun maker and the Kinograms is there with the latest in world news in pictures.

The Penn orchestra plays and gives appropriate music throughout the evening.

BARRING STUDENTS FROM COLLEGE

THERE were 4000 applicants to enter the freshman class at the University of Pennsylvania says a report from Philadelphia. It was the largest number on record at that institution. But only 1500 of the applicants were permitted to enter the University. This refers, of course, to the undergraduate or college department.

These figures are interesting for two reasons. First, because they show the enormous and ever-growing demand for a college education. And, second, because they indicate that colleges and universities are no longer striving to get students. Nearly all of them now have more students than they desire. That is a complete change from conditions only a few years ago.

Once mere size of a college was held up as the measure of its worth. The bigger the better was a popular belief. That theory has been proved woefully wrong. Given a certain equipment in buildings and endowments, a college can properly look after the welfare of a given number of students. All students beyond that must mean a decrease in that degree of personal contact which is of the highest value in education.

So it is no longer a case of the biggest being the best. Colleges are measured correctly only when their facilities per student are measured. Other standards fall before that vital one and college authorities now very generally admit it.

Pennsylvania is only one of many institutions which now turn away students. Are these boys and girls who are denied admission to lose their chance of a higher education? And how do colleges sift the wheat from chaff in making their selections? If by a scholarship test alone, then it must happen that in thousands of cases the most potential talent is cast aside. Often the one who would reap most by a college education knocks at the door illy prepared in scholarship, due to financial inability to pay for a better schooling.

A new problem has arisen in things educational that is going to be a difficult one to solve, it seems.

WE CANNY AMERICANS

WHATEVER else those who do not like us may say they never come to the point of calling us goofs or gumps. Non-Americans today think of us as most Americans thought of the good citizenry of Connecticut a generation ago. Out repute for being canny, astute, sagacious, even sly, is monumental, perhaps indestructible. Even what happened at Philadelphia Thursday cannot deprive us of our national renown.

Yet we are interested not so much in what happened Thursday as in what was observed immediately after Thursday. Some hundreds of male Americans were noted walking the streets of Philadelphia headed nowhither in particular because they had no place to go. They had come to see the prize fight, and, finding a chance to bet on the champion, blithely wagered all they had, including the price of return railroad tickets. Friday the Philadelphia charities were swamped with requests for aid, and telegraph offices were overwhelmed with pleas to send collect messages to folks back home beseeching funds. Perhaps the blind baggage was popular, but reports of this are not at hand. Anyway, not one of the stranded hundreds wished to stay in Philadelphia permanently.

Now of all large exhibitions of lack of sagacity this wins the blue ribbon asserts the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Philadelphia is doing its best to get rid of its non-paying guests by advancing money to such as are "worthy," whatever that means. Judged by standards of good horse sense the "worthy" in such a batch would be hard to identify.

Let Europe, deeming us all so wise and cautious and Caledonian, take a look at the Philadelphia flotsam. And if Philadelphia is too far away let Europe look at the 2,000 Americans who are hungry in Paris because they came to Europe and spent all they had and can't get home.

Legal tender has a tough time.

Just Folks

SIMPLE THINGS

I like to fling the doorway wide
and bid a friend come in,
I like to have a blazing fire in which
my dreams to spin,
I like an easy chair at times and
books to read at night,
A little garden space outside with blossoms red and white,
A bowl of soup and home-made
bread, a yellow bird that sings,
For happiness, it seems to me, is born of simple things.

Oh, I could write a thousand charms
I've seen along the way.
A red geranium in a pot, a little child at play,
A maple tree in scarlet dressed, a
patch of summer sky,
The blush upon a maiden's cheek,
the twinkle in her eye,
All these have set my blood aglow
and never lost their fire,
For life is filled with countless joys
of which we never tire.

We weary of the fame we win and
sicken of our gold,
The joy which once we thought they had they do not seem to hold,
But man can sit with friends tonight and watch the faggots
burn
And want them all to come again
and wait for their return,
And when October tints once more
an old familiar tree
There's none so bored by beauty
but will turn his eyes to see.

No man grows weary of his fire, his
books and easy chair,
The roses he has brought to bloom
to him are always fair,
The more familiar joys become the deeper grows his love.
Who wearies of a lovely moon and all the stars above?
So mindful of the thrill of power
and all that money brings
It seems to me the lasting joys are born of simple things.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:48. Sun rises tomorrow 5:54.

Hundreds of people were stranded in Philadelphia after the prize fight and had to be fed and their transportation paid home by some one. It's not all a pudding it seems.

Reading a whole lot don't seem to make a bit of improvement on a lot of people. A club would help a lot more.

It is now claimed that Dempsey may never fight Tunney again. If Dempsey keeps up his past reputation it will be some time at least before he will allow himself to be forced into a scrap.

We like cold weather better than hot weather. Some folks would be mean enough to say we prefer it because we are fat, which we are not. We sure got some good sweats this summer and we did not have to go to a Turkish bath for 'em either. Of course we cannot have a garden in cold weather so will tolerate the hot stuff.

Yet even an efficiency expert may squeeze a tube of tooth paste in the middle instead of at the end.

A big mail order house man in Chicago declares that prohibition is making this country prosperous. His house does not handle hootch and no doubt is getting a lot more business than formerly from those who should be patronizing the merchants in their home cities.

It is not the woman with the most gold in her teeth who has the dearest smile.

A quarantine is to be placed on several kinds of nuts now being imported to this country from Europe. The quarantine, however, is to be confined to the kind of nuts that grow on trees and not the humans who can readily be named such.

The operators in 2,000 beauty shops in Chicago are going on a strike for more money, less hours and less work. Beauty shops are more important now than saloons were so it will be a great calamity if peace is not soon declared.

The man who cuts the pages of a book with his thum doesn't understand why it is wrong to eat with his knife.

Many a man who is fined for contempt of court would not dare to talk back at home.

Woman is the cause of man's greatest blessing and the cause of his greatest misery. She's two-sided.

Why does a man always prefer to see some other fellow's sister pictured in her gymnasium costume? Who can say?

South Dakota has a cigarette law which brings that state a fine revenue. Last year $380 was collected on it. A tax like that in Pennsylvania would pave all the secondary and by-way roads in the state in a few years.

The girl who boasts that she can dress in ten minutes frequently looks as if she had thrown herself together in five. Maybe less than that.

When a man's wife asks him to go with her to the fruit cellar and see what she has put into cans for the winter, he should go at once and admire her work enthusiastically. He can leave his rough comment until the time comes to eat it and his wife will not be tired and proud of her work by that time It's best not to make any rough comment even then.

The "High Life Party" of Illinois will support candidates for all public offices on a platform of "Give the people all they want to eat and drink—especially drink, and let joy be unconfined." This party also wants the president of the United States elected by the direct vote of the people. We are betting some of the birds in that party do not know how presidents are elected now. It will be fine when that party gets what it thinks it wants.

A woman has really accomplished something when she can bake pancakes her husband will compliment.

A lot of airplanes were wrecked last week while carrying pictures of the fight in Philadelphia to other cities. Perhaps Providence was taking a hand.

Why is a woman happy when her husband has to sit beside the oldest lady in the dinner party?

An old man, traveling a lone highway,
Came at the evening cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim
For the sullen stream held no fears for him,
But he turned when he reached the other side
And builded a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," cried a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here:
Your journey will end with the ending day
And you never again will pass this way.
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"

And the builder raised his old gray head,
"Good friend, on the path I have come," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet will pass this way.
This stream, which has been as naught to me,
To that fair-haired boy may a pitfall be.
He too must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

Then there is the patriot who raises dahlias for the pleasure there is in it. And what wonderful blooms they can produce. A few days ago we had presented to us a bouquet of more than a dozen different varieties of dahlias by Mrs. A. L. Thayer of Lincoln avenue. It was hard to tell which one was the prettiest. It gave us a great deal of pleasure.

It is said that kissing was popular as a form of love and caress centuries ago. We are glad that it is even more popular now and we sincerely hope it will conintue to grow in popularity as long as we are here.

At a convention of the trade in Montreal, plasterers were ranked as among the greatest artists in the world. And indeed they are. The way they have been able to get it the past years since the war shows a development that is the very finesse of artistic endeavor.

A college in the west reports that it has sold every ticket for every game to be played at home this season. It is only at the end of the football year that we hear the college presidents gravely discussing the abolition of football.

Visitors from the old country claim to find numerous people in Ireland who live to be 100 years old and over. Fighting and whisky together is a great combination to keep people alive and kicking.

If the Sesqui Centennial could stage a fight every week it wouldn't need to keep open on Sunday for the revenue that's in it.

Beauty shop employes in Chicago demand $35 a week wages or they will strike. It takes a lot of money to make people in Chicago beautiful and perhaps a lot of work.

Donora, Pa., comes to the front with the boast that they have not had a fire there for 52 days. We could say the same thing too until Saturday night when there were about 10,000 fires started in New Castle.

Helping the southern storm sufferers is the finest kind of home missionary work and the Red Cross is asking aid. If New Castle was to be afflicted outside aid would be given, so let us all be generous and help Florida now.

We begin to see why the European nations fight so many wars. It is the easiest way they have of opening a charge account.

There are millions of plums in Lawrence county this year and a number of different varieties are on display at the New Castle fair but there isn't a political plum in the whole lot.

Caste means little in this country. Many lowly men are fathers of youths who are the greatest football stars.

The question now is where will there be a run-off between Dempsey and Tunney?

There seems to be a grave question which is greatest help to channel swimmers, tugs or children.

The biggest objection to forgiving the European nations their war debts, is that the American citizen, and many of them in very humble circumstances would be assuming the debt. A good part of the money owing to the United States is being carried by individuals in Liberty Loan bonds, and the only way these could be met would be through increased taxation, and we all know how much time and trouble Congress has been put to to get some reductions in taxes the past several years.

Ford's Five Day Week.
Wages and Hours.
Business, Not Sentiment.
Slaves For All of Us.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1926, by N. Y. American, Inc.

Henry Ford announces five-day week for working people in all his plants, and that means about 50 industries, coal mines, iron mines, lumber camps, factories, machine shops, etc.

Some years ago, when the average man was "well paid" with $2.50 a day for 10 hours, Ford announced $5 as the minimum for an eight-hour day. Next he made the minimum $6. Now he reduces the working week to five days, and intends that every good man shall earn in five days as much as he has earned hitherto in six days.

As practical as his own machines, disclaiming any philanthropic motive, Mr. Ford shows that national prosperity demands high wages and short hours.

"The industry of this country could not long exist if factories generally went back to the 10-hour day, because the people would not have the leisure, the desire or the means to consume the goods produced. A workman would have little use for an automobile if he had to be in the shop from dawn until dusk."

The eight-hour day opened the way to prosperity in America, says Ford, "and so the five-day week will open our way to a still greater prosperity."

Ford sees the humanitarian side of his plan, and values that, just as he values his own work day of about 14 hours.

"There is a humanitarian side to the shorter day, and shorter week, but dwelling on that side is likely to get one in trouble, for then leisure may be put before work instead of after work—where it belongs."

Things must be done gradually, according to Ford and others that know. "Twenty years ago," says he, "introducing the eight hour day generally would have made for poverty and not for wealth."

Five years ago, introducing the five day week would have had the same result.

Ford's industrial genius reveals itself brilliantly in his brief statement. "Make your machines work as long and as hard as they can be made to work profitably. At least 18 hours a day, for machinery and as many days in the year as possible. Work your men not more than eight hours a day and as few days as possible."

* * *

The example set by Ford and other intelligent, not sentimental, employers could start a better era in our industrial feudalism. If powerful men would interest themselves in their men as they do in their expensive machinery and their dividends, the day of strikes and sabotage would soon be ended.

Laboring men only ask for a decent human life, fair play, education and opportunity for their children, and reasonable leisure to enjoy the earnings of their hard work.

The marvel is that men have worked so patiently through the ages, content with just enough to keep alive and go on breeding for the next generation of exploiters.

The five-day week will come, and the day shorter than eight hours, as better machinery and better organization make long hours unnecessary.

Prosperity will increase for big and little men. Once a man was rich and happy when he had many human slaves working for him. Industrial intelligence will make it possible for all men to enjoy sufficient wealth, leisure and real happiness when all have machinery, slaves of steel, working for them.

WE ALWAYS FIND TIME—

To do the thing we want to do if we want to badly enough.
For pleasures easier than we find time for duties.
Dies hard for the man who has to loaf to kill it.
To listen to the man who has a compliment for us.
To get our boys out of jail even if we did not have time to chum with them.
To knock an administration even when we don't have time to vote.
To do the regretting after we neglect a friendship for lack of time.

Commander Harold T. Bartlett, who has been chosen to succeed the late Commander John Rodgers in the field of long range scouting by aircraft, is one of the veterans of the United States naval aviation service. He took up aviation in 1914, three years after his graduation from Annapolis, and his service since that time has included duty at sea on various battleships as a pilot of planes and on catapulting planes from on board naval vessels. During the World war he served with the British and French air forces abroad. In 1918 he commanded the naval aviation training school at Montchic, France. Commander Bartlett holds a pilot's license for seaplanes and the expert pilot's license issued by the National Aeronautical Association.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

TOO YOUNG TO KNOW

Herbert Hoover is a strange sort of politician.

When he makes a speech he usually says something worth thinking about.

In a late utterance he pointed out that the aim of education should be to produce normal children, but that as yet no one knows what a normal child is.

The child a prize fighter would pick as normal and the one a poet would choose would be entirely different in character.

The standard in normalcy depends upon the individual who does the picking.

"In our image" is the usual guiding motto.

Beyond a few fundamentals — such as good health and an active mind—men run into disagreement.

The reason we do not know what a normal child is like is because we do not know what a normal man is like, because behind it all we do not know what we are here for.

What was man put on this whirling globe in space for, anyway?

What is his biggest job here?

He is placed here without definite instructions. He finds himself groping around trying to understand what he is to do, what he is to be, what he is here for?

On such questions we get an infinite variety of personal opinions, but no proved answers—a multitude of sparks, but no steady flame.

We do not know absolutely whether Jack Dempsey, Sergeant York, Eugene V. Debs, or Percy Bysshe Shelley comes nearest to living the kind of life men are intended to live on our earth.

We can only watch, think, and come to our own conclusions.

In terms of planets, our earth is young. Man is still younger. Civilization and thought are younger yet. Humanity is nearer its source than its ending.

The earth will go spinning through space—a great laboratory wherein men will work out their experiments and their destiny, if we accept the word of scientists—for some billions of years.

In that time the answers to the great questions: What am I? Why was I put here? What am I supposed to become? may be found.

We do not know them now. Perhaps because we are too young to know.

Bible Thought For Today

PRAYER FOR WISDOM:—So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. Psalm 90:12.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

OFTEN AT CROSS-PURPOSES

The language of the United States of America, and of Great Britain is supposed to be the same English language, but it is not. Let any American visit England for the first time, and the difference will immediately become very apparent. The American will frequently misunderstand the Englishman, and vice versa. The American will find that both he and the Englishman use the same words. These words will be found in the dictionaries of London and New York, with perhaps the exception of some of the slang used by each. Any profanity used by the other will be easily understood, but the ordinary words of conversation, words that are perfectly good English, will be given entirely different values, depending upon the viewpoint of the Englishman, and the viewpoint of the American.

The English word for "Elevator" is pretty well known in the United States; he calls it a "Lift". But take the word "Truck". The Englishman applies it to a freight car on a railway, a use utterly foreign to the American viewpoint. When the American speaks of a "Truck" he is talking about a motor vehicle upon the highway. The Englishman calls that a "Lorry". The Englishman has another use for the word "Truck"; he speaks of the "Truck Acts" of Parliament which were passed to end the system of company stores, which has always been a cause of labor disturbances in both England and the United States. "Truck" in that connection referred to the charging up the workman, against his wages, with his purchases at the company's store. The Truck Acts of Great Britain forbid any deduction from wages for articles supplied by the employer.

When the American speaks of an "Apartment" in a hotel, he is referring to a high priced series of living rooms, housed in company with other similar series, under a single roof. To the Englishman the word "Apartment" conveys the idea of shabby, genteel lodgings. When he wishes to refer to ultra fashionable quarters of the sort to which the American might refer, he speaks of a "Flat". To the American "Flat" is anything but that of which he might be proud.

The Englishman will never speak of a man broken in fortunes, as "Flat Broke". He might use the word "Flat" in the same sense that the American does, and say that a certain drink is "flat", meaning that it has lost its taste and is stale. He may say that business is "flat", meaning that it is not particularly good, nobody buying except what he absolutely needed, and the American can understand that.

In this connection, and this is the thing that I wish the Americans would take home to themselves, I would emphasize the fact that when English newspapers talk about things American, the American is apt to take offense too easily, because he thinks he knows always exactly what the editorial writer means. Vice versa, the Englishman does not know how to discount the exaggerated statements made by American writers, who use a language that has to be interpreted to an Englishman before he does understand it.

If this is true about two people speaking the same language, some allowance should be made the French people for their misinterpretation of the American language, and American ideas, and the French should be a little more considerate in interpreting words of Americans.

POEMS HOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"Sanctuary," By Aline Kilmer

Mrs. Kilmer is the widow of Joyce Wilmer, who wrote "Trees." She is a genuine poet, and has moments of inspiration. This is the result of such a mood, I think.

God has builded a House with a low lintel,
And in it He has put all manner of things.
Follow the clue through the mazes that lead to His door.
Look in! Look in! See what is there for our finding.
Peace is there like a pearl, and rest and the end of seeking;
Light is there and refreshment.
But there shall be more:
There we shall find for our use wide, beautiful wings,
Ecstasy, solitude, space; and for those who have been too lonely,
The love of friends, the warmth of a homely fire.

Oh, never grieve again for the piteous ending
Of loveliness that could not be made to last:
There all bright passing beauty is held forever
Free from the sense of tears—to be loved without regret.
There we shall find at their source music and love and laughter,
Color and subtle fragrance and soft incredible textures.
Be sure we shall find what our weary hearts desire.
If we are tired of light, there shall be velvet darkness,
Falling over long fields, with stars, and a low voice calling,
Calling at last the word we thought would never be spoken.

But we, being hard and foolish and proud and mortal,
Are slow to bend and enter that humble portal.

Religious Tide Seen Growing In U. S. Army

Church Attendance Is On Increase Among Soldiers, Chaplain's Report

Big Increase In Chapel Service In Past Year Is Shown By Figures

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—While a crime wave is abounding through the country a religious tide is enveloping Uncle Sam's fighting men.

Church attendance is increasing remarkably and an era of chapel building is now under way in the army, says Chief Chaplain J. T. Axton. Navy chaplains report the same experience.

The trend is regarded as a legacy of the World war and is not checked by the widespread activity for a greater national defense, Axton declared. Army leaders are planning to cite church attendance figures to support their contention that the teaching of preparedness does not create a militaristic class bent on forcing the nation into war.

Search For Cause.

In searching out the cause of the 25 per cent boost in attendance at army chapel services last year, Chaplain Axton went back to Civil war days. He found that immediately after that war there was a lull in things religious in the army and a few years later chapels were being built at army posts all over the country.

"The percentage of officers, their wives and soldiers attending church in the army posts is undoubtedly much larger than in cities, larger than 20,000," said Chaplain Axton, "and it probably equals the attendance in smaller communities."

Work has started or plans are well under way for building $100,000 chapels at Fort Smelling Minn., Plattsburgh Barracks, N. Y., and Fort Bragg, N. C., funds being raised by popular subscription within and without the army. Chapels recently were dedicated at San Juan, Porto Rico and Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Church Attendance.

Church attendance in the army last year was listed at nearly 2,500,000, an increase of more than 500,000 over the previous year, and final reports for the fiscal year ending July 1 will show a still further increase, Chaplain Axton said.

So rapid has been the rise of interest in religious affairs in the army that the chief chaplain is urging the budget director to make provision for 25 more in the next fiscal year.

Appoint Committee For Eyre Funeral

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—A special committee to represent the state senate at Senator T. Lawrence Eyre's funeral in West Chester Thursday will be named by Senator Samuel W. Salus, of Philadelphia, president pro tem of the senate, it was said today. Senator Eyre died at his home in West Chester yesterday.

A special session called by Lieut. Gov. Davis, will be necessary to fill the vacancy in the senate caused by the death of Eyre. His term would not have expired until December 1, 1928. His district, the nineteenth, comprises Chester county.

The election may be set for November 2, the time of the general election, after nomination under regular party rules for filling vacancies.

ALCOHOL CAUSES DEATH.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 28—Peyton R. Cost, coroner decided today an inquest and autopsy unnecessary in the case of Frank Wild 45, carpenter whose body was found in Pitcairn hollow south of Lowndes hill yesterday. Alcoholism was the cause the coroner declared.

It might be worse: Corruption among the dry forces is still infrequent enough to be news.

PROHIBITION HAS REDUCED DRINKING NINETY PER CENT

By IRVING FISHER,
Professor Of Economics At Yale University In His New Book, "Prohibition At Its Worst"

Emory R. Buckner, United States District Attorney in New York, presented estimates at the subcommittee hearings in Washington, purporting to show that the diversion of industrial alcohol probably reached 60,000,000 gallons a year. This was unexpected, and, of course, was good "news" for the press.

PROF. FISHER

Dr. J. M. Doren, Chief Chemist of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and in charge of the department dealing with this phase of the situation, presented a most excellent and elaborate analysis of Buckner's erroneous reasoning, and also a study showing the diversion of industrial alcohol for beverage purposes to be between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 gallons a year, and probably between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000, or only 8 to 9 per cent of the prewar consumption of beverage alcohol.

It must also be remembered that not all of the alcohol diverted is consumed. Between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 gallons have been recaptured and confiscated. Leakage, breakage and evaporation will account for almost as much more. The result is that probably illegal consumption of alcohol from diverted industrial alcohol is less than 8 per cent of pre-prohibition legal consumption, and, therefore, still less than 8 per cent of the total pre-prohibition consumption, legal and illegal.

To this must, of course, be added the alcohol smuggled into the country and distilled or brewed absolutely; but all experts agree that all put together, they constitute a minor part of illegal liquor far less than that from diversion of industrial alcohol—that is, far less than 8 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

After an examination of all the data, I have estimated that the flow of alcohol down human throats in the United States is at present certainly less than 16 per cent, probably less than 10 per cent and possibly less than 5 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

An entirely independent estimate has been made by Robert A. Corradini, statistician of the World League Against Alcoholism. This is based on the assumption that the samples seized by the Treasury Department represent a true cross-section of the liquor on the market, of which the legal portion is known. This calculation has not yet been published; but all experts who have seen it can find no serious flaw in it, except the possibility that the samples seized are not representative. Carradini's result indicates that the total consumption is less than 3 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

It seems safe to conclude that the total consumption today is probably not over one-tenth of pre-prohibition consumption.

IRELAND HAPPY AND PROSPERING UNDER NEW REGIME

By TIMOTHY SMIDDY,
Irish Free State Minister To The U. S., In An Interview

Ireland is making good. She has laid the foundation for a sound industrial and agricultural development and is going about it with high spirit and with splendid hope.

It is wrong to think or speak of Ireland as poor. She does not need capital; what she needs most of all is industrial leadership. Ireland as a country is rich. Her people have deposits in foreign lands alone which draw annual interest of $55,000,000. Her national debt, which is only approximately $75,000,000, is lower relatively, I believe, than that of any other country. Her budget balances and she is coping with her farm problem by means of sane legislation.

It is wrong to think of the Ireland of today as the sad land of two decades ago. She is no longer a sad country, but a happy country—as happy and contented as any country in Europe.

U. S. MUST REVISE HER DEBT CLAIMS AGAINST EUROPE

By RAYMOND FOSDICK,
Noted Lawyer, In An Interview.

The bitterness all Europeans feel toward us as a nation proves that what we shall be able to get out of Europe in the way of debt payments will not be worth the price.

They believe America has been a little stupid in the matter and their political leaders make them believe that it has been handled much more badly than is really the case. The result is that the entire populations resent our attitude.

It is disillusioning for an American to go abroad and see how things have changed. When I was over there with the soldiers I wasn't allowed to pay for anything. People insisted that because I was an American I take things for nothing. Now the reverse is true.

Whenever a U. S. senator says something against Europe in connection with the debts, the people over there never stop to think that it is an individual speaking. They take it as the feeling of the entire senate.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

J. V. STALIN.

Behind the kaleidoscope of Soviet politics, which recently has sent some well-known figures tumbling, stands a new power in the person of Stalin, the name he took, which means the "Man of Steel." He is the Russian counterpart of an American political boss, the head of the machine, the power behind the principal actors of the Soviet drama today, according to report reaching England.

M. STALIN

He sent Trotzky into exile and called him back again. He directed Djerjinsky, the head of the ferocious Cheka, the secret police, who recently died under mysterious circumstances. He sent Zinovieff down from power and was behind the dismissal of Kameneff from his place as chief of the commissariat of trade. His name is Josef Djugashvili.

He is a big man and dour. He is a blustering, rough and impetuous leader, who wins through discipline or cajolery. Lenin was his first idol and still is his example. But Stalin is a practical man of politics, who does not let fine theories stand in his way.

In his hands Soviet Russia probably is on the edge of many changes which will make it fit more smoothly into the society of other nations, for Stalin is neither a bigot nor a fanatic.

He has made himself deliberately a man of greatest mystery. For years he boasted that he had never given out an interview.

He has been a revolutionist since 1905, when he took active part in bloody fighting in the Caucasus, for which he was arrested by the czar's police and exiled to Siberia. But he came back and worked several years, quietly and smoothly with Lenin.

It was his task, when the Soviet union was formed, to placate the so-called "outer nationalities," the states surrounding the fringes of Central Russia which were declared free and independent by the Soviets, but which had, above all else, to be kept within the Soviet circle.

Then Stalin was promoted to become secretary of the Communist party, which controls the Soviet government, and there again his diplomacy, judgment and political sense won for him a conspicuous success.

He is gathering the fruits of it now, for his secretaryship gave him control of the Soviet political machine, the "steam roller," which he now steers over the earlier officers.

DIES FROM INJURIES.

His left arm was mangled and his chest crushed. He leaves his widow and four children.

Attends National G. A. R. Encampment With "Custer Cannon"

FIRES SALUTE DURING PARADE

Comrade Joseph Trax of West Washington street, member of the Second Cavalry during Civil War days, and who has been one of the outstanding figures of each national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for many years, returned home Saturday night from Des Moines, Ia., where he attended the most recent national encampment, accompanied by his faithful Custer cannon, with which he fired a salute during the encampment parade.

Tired but happy, and perhaps a little the worse for wear on account of his physical condition, Comrade Trax stated this morning that it was the most delightful national encampment that he ever participated in.

He was especially extravagant in his praise of the Sons of Veterans of the convention city, because as he says, they left nothing undone to make the old soldiers comfortable. They saw to it that cars were provided to take them to their hotels and also to points of interest. They also saw to it that their hotel bills were paid.

En route from Chicago to Des Moines the special on which he was traveling and to which were attached the cars of the Maryland Division headquarters, of which he is an official member, a flood was encountered and it was found necessary to make a detour of 100 miles.

It rained on the day of the encampment parade, but a truck was provided for him and the Daughters of Veterans, who were to pull his cannon, and he fired a salute from the truck.

In a collection given him for powder he found a $10 gold piece, which he advertised, but no owner appeared. The collection amounted to $23.

One of the outstanding pleasures of the encampment for Comrade Trax was the fact that he was permitted to issue commands to 1,200 mounted cavalrymen of the United States army and did so with credit to himself.

One of the things brought back was the encampment badge given out at the Pennsylvania headquarters, and a part of which is a replica of the Liberty Bell. Special badges were issued to the men from each state and each had some object emblematic of some historical event in the state attached to it. His picture and that of his cannon were carried in the papers of Des Moines.

Reports Apple Tree Again In Blossom

Backward season reported quite generally throughout this district does not appear to have prevailed, as far as a Ohio Nonpareil apple tree on the Dr. G. A. Smith property at New Wilmington, Pa., is concerned.

The tree not only has a large crop of perfect fruit on it at the present time, but is now giving forth its second series of blooms for the present year. The new blossoms and the ripe fruit are on the tree in abundance at the present time.

It is attracting widespread interest in the New Wilmington district and is the first occurence of the kind to be reported this season. Four fine apples from the tree, as well as some of the blossoms, were presented to The News.

The program which Jackson Center Grange gave at Milburn Grange hall was very entertaining. This meeting of the two Granges will probably be the first of a series of programs exchanged between the neighboring Granges. A photographer was present and took pictures of the dining room while lunch was being served. The picture will be shown on the screen in the near future. The meeting was well attended, as more than 200 people were present.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

LOSS IN FLORIDA

St. Petersburg, Fla.,
September 24, 1926.

Mr. Fred Rentz, Editor
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

My dear Mr. Rentz:

The thought occurred to my brother-in-law, Oliver Moore, formerly of New Castle, Pa., now associated with us here in St. Petersburg, that perhaps some of our many friends in New Castle would like to get some real, truthful information about the hurricane which recently swept Miami, Ft. Lauderdale and other portions of Florida.

The death list was greatly exaggerated. The latest figures compiled by officials and thoroughly reliable and accurate information, states that the total death list of the whole storm swept area was only 238 as against reports that went out of more than 1,500 perished. There was approximately 11,000 injured. The following list of deaths was published in today's St. Petersburg Times:

Moore Haven, 126.
Miami and immediate vicinity, 109.
Hollywood and immediate vicinity, 54.
Fort Lauderdale, 19.
Hialeah, 22.
Dania, 11.
Fulford, 8.
Seaboard Park, 7.
Ingleside, 3.
Hallandale, 2.
Homestead, 2.
Pompano, 2.

This report states than an accurate check of the dead at Clewiston and Progresso still remain to be made.

Property loss was given as follows:

Hialeah, $15,000,000, estimated by Mayor Grethen.

Hollywood and Dania, $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 estimated by J. W. Young, developer of Hollywood.

Fort Lauderdale, $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 estimated by city officials.

The total damage from Miami to Pensacola and Mobile is estimated at $165,000,000.

There was only one life lost in St. Petersburg which was caused by a live wire electrocuting a child 18 months old, after the storm. The property damage in St. Petersburg would not amount to more than $100,000, and this consists largely in damage caused by water from leaking roofs. St. Petersburg has been doing business as usual since the storm with the exception that we are out of telephones on account of a fire in the telephone exchange building. This will be remedied within a few days.

There are many people in New Castle who are interested in St. Petersburg and will be glad to know that St. Petersburg was so fortunate. Miami is getting back to normal very rapidly and the whole state is sending food supplies and money to the storm stricken area on the East Coast. The whole West Coast of Florida and Central Florida was fortunate indeed.

Many of your readers are interested in Gainsville, Florida and we wish to state that Gainsville was untouched by the storm. The same is true about Perry, Fla.

We trust you will publish this letter for it is accurate information and will be of interest to many of your readers who invested money in Florida. Miami, Hollywood, Coral Gables and Fort Lauderdale which were badly hit by the storm, will rebuild bigger, better and stronger than ever. The damage in other places in Florida was greatly exaggerated.

With kind personal regards, I remain

Yours Sincerely,
W. McKEE KELLEY.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

George Clarke, a celebrated negro minstrel, on one occasion when being examined as a witness was interrogated severely by a lawyer.

"You are in the minstrel business, I believe?" inquired the lawyer.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Is that not rather a low calling?"

"I don't know but what it is, sir," replied the minstrel, "but it is so much better than my father's that I am proud of it."

The lawyer fell into the trap.

"What was your father's calling?" he inquired.

"He was a lawyer," replied Clarke.

FASHION REVUE PLEASES THRONG

Jiles Shoppe Presents Style Show In Penn Theatre Monday Evening

Monday evening the Elite of New Castle turned out "en masse" to witness the Fashion Revue at the Penn Theatre conducted by the Jiles Shoppe of this city and displayed by professional mannequins.

The affair was a huge success as evidenced by the large audience, and a triumph for the Jiles Shoppe for the brilliance of the costumes shown.

Feminine New Castle has never witnessed anything quite so elaborate, reaching a climax that drew forth audible whispers and enthusiasm, when the final scene ushered in the evening gown number. All of them being importations, it was truly a scene that deserved exclamations of delight, the gowns being of such rare beauty.

The card announcements made by two little children, Lorena Jean and Baby McGregor, children of Dr. McGregor, of Butler, Pa., made a decided hit with the audience by their adorable appearance.

The stage was beautifully arranged by some rare art fitments that will remain at the Penn Theatre until Wednesday evening.

Squire Gilmore Awards Claim

Squire A. H. Gilmore, dean of the Neshannock township legal forces, heard the famous oatfield case this morning in his court on the Wilmington road. The plaintiff in the case, Henry Price, claimed $50 damages from the Perrysville Development company and after weighing the testimony, Squire Gilmore awarded judgment to the plaintiff in the amount asked. The defendant will appeal.

The case grew out of the alleged actions of the Perrysville Development company in laying out streets and avenues through an oats field some five acres in size, planted by Mr. Price. When the reaper went to harvest the crop he found stakes up so high that he could not cut it.

Rubber Company Legality Case Again In Court

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Sept. 28.—The legality of the $100,000,000 refinancing plan of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company, which was attacked four years ago, again goes into the courts here today.

An action requesting that the litigation be reopened was begun by Frank C. Tomlinson, a stockholder, seeking review in the courts of a "settlement" of six stockholders' suits here in 1923 on the grounds that it was reached without any evidence or arguments being heard by the court.

While no confirmation has been obtained it is common gossip here that interests favorable to the former management of the company are backing Tomlinson's case in order to wrest control from the banking group headed by Dillon, Reid & Co.

The principal point of attack is the 10,000 shares of management stock, held in trust by Clarence Dillon and Woen Young, New York, and John Sherwin, Cleveland, by virtue of which the bankers control the company.

Suits already are pending in the Ohio supreme court alleging that the management stock is illegal.

Queen Cleans House As King Goes Hunting

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Queen Mary always the thrifty housewife, has just been enjoying her annual house-cleaning. While King George has been shooting record bags of grouse, she has taken advantage of his absence to give Buckingham Palace a real "turn-out."

There are no half measures about it. Not only is every room thoroughly cleaned, but every piece of furniture is moved and any accumulated dust removed. The cupboards are the Queen's only province. Dressed in real workaday clothes, armed with a duster and feather brush, she personally removed every article of china, dusted it and carefully replaced it. Some pieces were left out, to be sent to other royal palaces that might accommodate them better. They have been replaced by other pieces bought by the Queen at the antique shops she so delights in visiting.

After this, the store rooms. Here the Queen carefully checks off the list of articles and inspects all the linen. Some of it is put aside to be given away. In its place the Queen makes a careful list of renewels required.

Buchingham Palace finished, the Queen went on to Sandringham, with a housewifely glint in her eye. Sandringham was in a somewhat worse condition because it has been a trifle neglected since the death of Queen Alexandra.

But with the joy of a young wife entering a new home, Queen Mary attacked those dusty ornaments and pictures. She did not worry to go back to York Cottage for luncheon. She just had a little cold food sent over from York Cottage and after ten minutes returned to the fray with renewed zest.

By the time the day's work was finished she returned to York Cottage thoroughly begrimed.

Chicken Thieves Get Long Terms To Penitentiary

Perry Township Henlifters Are Sentenced For Robbing Many Roosts

William Kennedy and James Weimer, Perry township chicken thieves, were sentenced by Judge Hildebrand Monday afternoon. Kennedy was given from one to six years and Weimer from two to seven years in the Western penitentiary. They pleaded guilty to eight indictments, and it is said could have been sent up for about 35 years if the full limit had been given.

Kennedy and Weimer were engaged in the most extensive hen roost robbing ever known in that section of the county. The chickens stolen are said to have been sold in Ellwood City and other places.

Those who made charges, together with the number of chickens stolen from each and the value, as shown by the indictments, were as follows.

R. H. Nye, 40 chickens, value $60.

R. E. Weller, 12 chickens, value $18.

Roy Cleland, 15 chickens, value $22.50.

John Brenneman, 30 chickens, value $25.

R. E. Weller, 14 chickens, value $21.

George Magee, 40 chickens, value $30.

William McCartney, 60 chickens, value $45.

William Thomas, 35 chickens, value $43.75.

Farmers in that section of the county will be very much relieved to know that the wholesale chicken stealing, which has been going on for some time will be stopped.

Can't Eat, Can't Sleep, Man Wins Victory

"I had gas on the stomach so bad that I couldn't keep food down and used to toss in bed all night. After taking one bottle of Adlerika, I eat anything and sleep like a log".—R. C. Miller.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria".

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results".

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika".

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system".

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose".

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In New Castle at Love & Megown's.

You are a wise man or woman if you understand your colon and keep it in perfect, working order. Health, happiness, vigor and long life are the gifts which an active colon give you—and lazy colon takes away.

Your colon is the last five feet of your digestive canal. It is your sewerage system your garbage can, so to speak. Keep it clean and you are well and happy; let it stagnate and it will distill the poisons of decay, fermentation (gas) and putrefaction into your blood, poisoning your brain and nerves so that you are restless, irritable and blue; poisoning your heart so that you are weak, listless and lazy; poisoning your lungs so that your breath is heavy or foul; poisoning your stomach and digestive organs so that you are bloated, belching and uncomfortable; poisoning your and uncomfortable with gas pains; poisoning your blood so that your skin looks yellow, sallow, unhealthy; poisoning every part and organ of your body through your blood, making you look old and ugly long before your time; making your joints and back stiff and rheumatic; your eyes dull and your brain sluggish.

By the perfect law of nature, your colon should empty itself three times a day—within an hour after eating. Does your colon work that well? If not, it has lost its tone. What do you mean by tone? Your colon is a hollow muscle. Its walls are made up of long, muscle-fibres or muscle cells, which by their contraction, empty the colon just as you squeeze a rubber hose pipe. These muscle fibres should contract three times a day—within an hour after each meal. If they do not contract they have lost their power to contract.

But there is a practically perfect remedy for lazy, flabby colons. This remedy quickly restores the tone, is absolutely harmless and decidedly pleasant to take. Clip this article and take it to your druggist. Tell him to give you a bottle of World's Tonic. It will cost you one dollar.

You will be delighted with World's Tonic for it will make you feel like a different person. Your eyes will sparkle with vitality and alertness, your brain will be clean and active; your complexion will be fresh and transparent, reflecting the purity of your blood; your digestion will be thorough and your appetite keen, for your food will taste delightful, and agree with you; you will sleep and awake refreshed, your system will be full of vim and vigor; you will feel younger, stronger, vigorous—you will enjoy the pleasure of living. Get started on World's Tonic today.

Nearly every person over twenty-five years of age; and many younger, need World's Tonic, more or less. You will be simply delighted with it. World's Tonic cannot do you any harm. It can only do you good. Sold at Paisley's, Smith's, McKee's, Eckerd's, and all other reliable drug stores.

Drive Is Launched To Save Millions In Tax Collecting

State Chamber Of Commerce Opens War On Organized Collectors And Assessors

PHILADELPHIA PLAN EXAMPLE OF ECONOMY

Ohio Statewide Method Would Save Pennsylvania More Than $5,000,000 Annually

The question of a fair and equitable assessment and taxation plan, long raised in the legislature by the Marshall and more lately the Ludlow bills, has again been brought into prominence by the State Chamber of Commerce. Its local tax committee, meeting at Harrisburg recently, passed a day discussing means of bringing the importance of local tax administration to the people. Representatives of 73 municipalities were present, New Castle being represented by President Fred L. Rentz of the Chamber of Commerce. This committee is not wedded to the Ludlow bill, but does believe that the legislature should do something to bring about centralization in local tax collecting and to end the stranglehold the strongest group of opponents to such a scheme—the assessors and tax collectors—have on all proposed tax legislation.

It is the opposition of this group, consisting of 6,000 organized assessors, that is blamed by the State Chamber, the League of Women Voters and many others who have studied the question for killing the bills already introduced in past legislative sessions to relieve local conditions.

The local chambers are to make a study of taxes and expenditures now necessary to collect them under the antiquated tax system. Their reports will go to the State Chamber, which will name a subcommittee to draft a referendum to be presented to the 110 organization members, which in turn will take a vote of the prevailing opinion among their individual members.

That action was taken after a general discussion of a paper presented by F. W. Walker of Beaver Falls, vice president of the State Chamber, who summed up the work of various organizations which have been trying to bring about a simpler and less expensive tax system. There was no indorsement of the Ludlow bill, which went down to defeat in 1925, but it was referred to frequently as a measure which in the main was aimed at the inequalities of taxation.

Philadelphia System Would Save Million.

Philadelphia, unlike many of the other municipalities of the state, has made a remarkable record in reducing the cost of collection by the elimination of the fee system.

"For the year 1924-1925," said Mr. Walker, "the total local school tax collected in the state was $114,318,426; the cost of collecting it $1,927,756. For the same period Philadelphia collected a school tax of $24,888,230 at a cost of $39,884. The cost of collection in Philadelphia was .0016 per cent; in other counties the cost ran to 2, 5 and even 10 per cent and more. At the Philadelphia rate all the local school taxes could have been collected for $184,051.

"For the fiscal year 1923-1924, the total amount of school taxes collected in fourth class school districts was $28,756,753, at a collection cost of $939,417. This cost of collection was 3½ per cent, or 20 times the cost under the Philadelphia system. The Philadelphia school tax is collected by the receiver of city taxes, who received from the school board $4,000 in 1923 for his extra service, in addition to his salary of $10,000 as the receiver of city and county taxes.

"Philadelphia collected all local taxes in 1925 at the rate of $2.03 for each thousand population. The cost in other counties, under the fee system, runs from two to six times as much.

"The state tax commission reported in 1925 that the cost of collecting county taxes alone in about one-half of the counties of the state ran from a minimum of 3.8 per cent to a maximum of 19.7 per cent. In certain average counties in Ohio, the average cost of collecting all taxes in the country was $4.06 per thousand.

Could Save $5,000,000 Annually

Surveys in twenty-eight counties showed local tax collection costs of $1,137,455 in 1924. On this basis the total cost of collection in Pennsylvania counties was estimated between $5,500,000 and $6,000,000. This cost is seven times the cost in Ohio, which collects the same amount of taxes but has a modern system of collection. If Pennsylvania should abolish the fee system now consuming her taxes and should adopt Ohio's method of collection, her collection cost would be about $873,000 instead of $6,391,000 (estimated), representing a saving of more than $5,000,000 a year. A saving of $50,000,000 during a decade would build an impressive number of new schools and miles of road.

"In Ohio local taxes are collected by the County Treasurer at a flat salary ranging from $2,500 to a maximum of $6,000 per year. They collect all county, municipal, library, park, school and township taxes as well as a small State levy and all special assessments. In addition, they collect liquor, cigarette and dog licenses, as well as inheritance taxes."

The resolutions adopted by the local taxation committee of State Chamber of Commerce, as a result of the meeting were:

Resolved, That the committee on local taxation urges the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce to hold a referendum of its membership on the Ludlow Bill of 1925, as introduced, or in a modified form calculated to win wider support.

Resolved, That the chairman of the committee on local taxation be authorized to appoint a sub-committee to assist the State Chamber in the preparation of a referendum on the Ludlow Bill of 1925; and be it

Further Resolved, That the committee on local taxation asks the State Chamber to invite agricultural and other organizations opposed to the Ludlow Bill to co-operate in preparation of the referendum.

Resolved, That the committee on local taxation recommends the appointment by each commercial organization of a committee to study and report on taxation and expenditures in its municipality and county.

PROGRESS—

THE PROSPERITY of a community is not measured by its population, but by its civic and commercial progress.

A handful of workers achieve more than a city full of drones.

Teamwork is what counts in everything. A prominent football coach recently said: "Give me a team of average ability who will work together each with the other and all for the team and I will win over any team made up solely of individual stars.

Individual ability makes great men—shining lights, but it is mass cooperation of energetic men of civic spirit, home pride and community enterprise that builds a city's progress and prosperity.

It was this spirit and cooperation which built New Castle and her wonderful industries of which we are justly proud, and to those public spirited workers and this most excellent community we should pledge our constant support.

Queen Marie Joins Bobbed Hair Class, Ferdinand Peeved

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a beard for a bob. That's the modern version of the ancient proverb in the royal court of Roumania, according to the Berlin Morgenpost.

Queen Marie of Roumania, whose hair has been one of her glories, has prepared for her American tour by having her hair bobbed, says the Morgenpost.

The king, so the story goes, was not consulted about Queen Marie's visit to the court hairdresser to be shorn and he is furious, so furious that he is making threats of reprisals. The king, it is whispered by the court gossips, in his fury has threatened to make a trip to the court hairdresser himself to be shorn of his beard. Such an act would be a drastic one, perhaps even a tragic one for everyone admits that Queen Marie's beauty is not detracted from by bobbed hair, but who knows what King Ferdinand would look like without his beard.

Moreover if the king is shaven it will destroy the tradition of the ages, for centuries have passed and never have the Roumanian people seen their king's unshorn face. There have been Van Dyke beards, flowing beards, and square bottom beards in the Roumanian court, but never an unshorn king.

Bucharest buzzes with the gossip of this hirstute crisis, meanwhile the court hairdresser is so busy ringing up his cash register that he hasn't time to discuss the matter. All he will say is that since Queen Marie had had her hair bobbed it seems that every woman in Bucharest wants a bob too, says the Morgenpost.

Those engaged in junking automobiles number over fifty thousand, not counting fool drivers.

NO CHANGE IN COST OF TRIP TO LOCAL FAIR

Announcement was made today at the office of the New Castle Fair Association that the same fare that has been charged in past years for transportation to and from the New Castle fair grounds, is again in force this year.

The charges for transportation one way to or from the fair ground is twenty-five cents in the busses and thirty-five cents in taxicabs or cars of small capacity.

It had been rumored that the price was to be increased, but this is not true and the Fair Association wishes its patrons to understand the true conditions existing in connection with transportation charges.

Passengers for the fair may load at Croton avenue between Washington street and Permar alley and at the south-west corner of the public square.

JAZZ, LAUGHTER AND KAZOOS IN CAPITOL TRIUMVIRATE

Theatre fans are fans because they like to be entertained. But occasionally they like to be part of the show themselves, and the idea of Charles Kranz, manager of the Capitol Theatre, that the audience would take to a "Jazz Week" with kazoos as their instruments, proved to be a smart idea Monday night. In theatrical parlance it was a "wow".

They took to it like a headwaiter takes to a cover charge and the result was the biggest kazoo chorus in the history of New Castle. Don Bartel and His Cosmopolitans, in conjunction with the Capitol Orchestra played the airs, with the audience kazooing along. And to put a kick in the musical punch, George P. Wilson tuned in with more of the monkeyshines that had the audience convulsed an act ahead.

It's a real bill of entertainment at the Capitol the first three days of this week. The folks hoped that Don Bartel had a real orchestra. Don as you may know proudly admits to Ellwood City as his home, and was known to many of the audience. He didn't disappoint anybody for his Cosmopolitans are a real band. This is his last road appearance for some time as the band leaves for New York City Thursday to appear in the Trianon, formerly the Cinderella ballroom, for a winter engagement. Zip Ashilman the drummer adds to the act with a comedy skit and eccentric dance.

George P. Wilson and Company present "As You Like It." Old Bill Shakespeare wouldn't have recognized it as his offering of like name, but the capacity house "ate it up". It's fifteen minutes of laughs, with never a hint of anything approaching off color. Wilson is the funniest comedian in the Capitol this season, and just in passing you may be interested to know that he shows something on a piano.

The picture is Johnny Hines in "The Brown Derby". Up until now there has been some mystery as to who the man was who won or wore the Brown Derby. Johnny is it, and his wearing of it brings tears of laughter to your eyes. Pathe News, a comedy, the Capitol Orchestra and Organ complete a splendid bill.

Four "Favorite Sons" Boomed For Legion Commandership

By Central Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—The meeting of the American Legion at Philadelphia is to be featured by two main considerations which in a way are interdependent.

The first question before the Legion is whether or not the original intention of holding the 1927 meeting in Paris is to be adhered to. On this decision depends the probable election of at least one of the four outstanding candidates for the office of national commander.

If Paris is to be the meeting place it is almost conceded that General John J. Pershing will be elected to head "the second overseas enterprise of the A. E. F.." A national movement is under way to elect the former A. E. F. leader by acclamation. Gen. Pershing, it has become known does not wish to be involved in any Legionary politics and will not allow his name to be used if there is any indication that members have other candidates whom they wish to present in preference to himself. Gen. Pershing's known enthusiasm for the Paris meeting combines the meeting place and election issues.

The prejudice which existed immediately after the war against the election of high army officers to important legion posts has practically disappeared and in spite of the rumored antagonism to things American in France there is a growing feeling that perhaps a legion meeting there would be a diplomatic move. Hence election of General Pershing by acclamation is expected by many Legion leaders.

The three other men who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the post of Legion "C. O." are:

Howard Savage of Chicago, Ill., past state commander. His candidacy is backed by his state organization which recently at the suggestion of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick went on record as favoring the Paris meeting. While this may confuse the issues temporarily it is not expected seriously to affect the situation.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson of Marion ,S. C., considered one of the south's favorite sons.

E. E. Spafford, past commander of New York. He has been indorsed by his state and his friends are making an active canvass for him notwithstanding his defeat in the elections for commander at last year's meeting.

Other candidates may, of course, be presented at the time of the election.

Ninety-Seven Billion Cigarettes Will Keep Smokers Busy Puffing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—United States will smoke about 97,000,000,000 cigarettes this year.

Figures on tobacco taxes issued Monday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclosed an increase of about 22,000,000,000 in the use of cigarettes since 1925.

The country will consume about 8,100,000,000 cigars in 1926, an increase of 1,000,000,000. About 40,000,000 pounds of snuff and 393,675,000 pounds of tobacco that will be used this year represent material increase over 1925.

Popularity of bridge is held responsible for greater sales of playing cards, upon which were paid a tax of $531,484 from July 1 to September 1. Radio bridge lessons are said to have nearly doubled the playing of this game.

Cigarette taxes from July 1 to September 1 amounted to $48,087,000, an increase of $4,300,000 over the corresponding period of 1925, but because of the cut in cigar taxes the income from this source of $4,137,000 showed a big decline.

Plan For Inquest In Woman's Death

(International News Service)

BRADDOCK, Pa., Sept. 28.—Officials were today preparing for the inquest into the death of Mrs. Ethel Green, 28, known as the "Braddock Butterfly." The inquest will be held in the Duquesne police station on Friday.

Mrs. Green was found dying in the gutter of a Duquesne street about a month ago. Blood was streaming from a wound behind her ear and she never regained consciousness. Several arrests were made in connection with her death and police believe that the inquest will reveal that the woman was murdered. The theory that she was thrown from an automobile has also been advanced.

STORK PREDICTS LONG, COLD WINTER

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 28. — Now that this year's vacation period is over, it seems high time to talk about the next. The question has come up whether the holiday period should be advanced. It has often been discussed and in 1925 the hotelkeepers of the Cotes du Nord and Finistere addressed a letter to all the mayors of Brittany and to the Senators and Deputies of France asking them to set the school holidays at the beginning of July.

"L'Hotellerie," the official organ of the hotel and touring industry, is now publishing a circular letter demanding that the same arrangement be made and publishes the responses of many of its readers. With school ending as late as the 15th of July, as it does all over France, the holiday season is reduced to a short period of six weeks for the hotel owners.

A monument will soon be erected at Besancon in honor of Count Hilaire Bernigand re Chardonnet, the inventor of artificial silk. This industry, which had its birth in France, now offers a trade to more than 800,000 workmen in all of Europe.

Oysters in France will be dear as well as scarce this year because a parasitical disease has attacked a great many of the beds, hindering the growth and making it probably that very few of the little "animals" which cost 14 francs a dozen in September 1925 will bring thirty-three this year and all other familiar varieties will be practically "out of sight" for most humble consumers.

Because a stork has just passed over Alost in Belgium and stopped for some time on the steeple of St. Joseph's church, old weather-prophets are predicting a long, cold winter. It is believed that the bird was enroute for the Orient. Six of the birds have also been sighted at Marseilles and the old inhabitants are very much astonished.

Paris will soon have its "rue Alan Seeger." The name of the young American poet killed in France who wrote the famous "Rendezvous with Death" figures in the list of 40 poets and writers killed in the war whose names have been chosen by the Paris Municipal Council as titles for various Parisian streets and squares. Among the list published occur the names of Guillaume Apollinaire, founder of the school which presaged the Dad poets, Paul Reboux, many of whose plays were given at the Grand Guignol, Paul Drouet and many others.

Monsieur Poincare, France's Premier, in spite of the possibility of attacks by his numerous enemies, is often seen through his large bay window at night, bending over his work-table. Certain people stop as they pass by, look in and comment, and very often a large crowd gathers under his very nose without his notice.

One of his friends who is a near neighbor warned him that he must take care.

"Bah!" answered Poincare "there's no use drawing the curtains."

However, the Prefect of Police was advised and told Mr. Poincare that if he did not soon do it he would send around some of his gendarmes.

It is said that Poincare preferred to pull down the curtains at this threat.

The craze for lucky charms on dresses has now spread to having figures of elephants worked on frocks and even jewels. Many designs seen at recent fashion shows were covered with tiny representations of the mammoth of the jungle.

Fall hat styles indicate once again that as long as short hair remains an institution it will be impossible to induce women to wear a hat worthy of the name.

There seems to be more brim on the new ones, but they still fit the head like a glove, and are of the eternal felt. In desperation the velvet manufacturers are copying the various felts in a piece material, which looks very becoming.

PEP MEETING IS PLANNED

Westminster Students To Meet On Friday Evening To Cheer For Team

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Showing the spirit that makes grads of the school speak of the "Westminster Spirit" long after their under graduate days are over the Westminster college student body is making ready for a monster pep meeting to be held Friday evening in preparation for the first home game of the season Saturday afternoon when Westminster meets the University of Buffalo.

It is one of the customs of the college that a pep meeting be held before the first home appearance of the moleskin wearers. The Blue and White eleven met defeat at Pittsburgh last Friday at the hands of the Duquesne University eleven but the defeat has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the undergrads.

Jesse Cogley, cheerleader, will have charge of the program. There will be speeches by players and officers of the college. There will be music galore. Another event will be the singing of the Westminster hymn by the Freshmen class.

Linson Stebbins Travels 7,000 Miles To Preach In Canada During Summer

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28. — Linson Stebbins of Warren, Pa., a graduate of Westminster College, and a student at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh, was a visitor here Monday.

Stebbins just recently completed a stay of almost four months at Erskine, Canada, a village more than 2500 miles from his home. He spent the summer preaching. His pastorate was composed of three churches, each within a radius of 20 miles. He preached three times each Sabbath, making the trips between churches on horseback.

During the entire summer he traveled approximately 7000 miles. He reports that Canada is a delightful country but talks from the natives convinced him that one must be of a rugged nature to withstand the trials of a winter in the northern part of the country.

He was a member of the graduating class at Westminster in 1925. He will complete his seminary studies in two more years.

Ninety Passengers Are Rescued From Stranded Steamer

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 28.—All of the 90 passengers and all members of the crew of the Ward Line steamer, Mexico, which ran aground on Madagascar Shoals, near Progresso, have been rescued, despatches from Progresso today stated. The rescue was effected by the American steamer Rajah, with the Hamburg-American liner Rio [illegible]ico standing by and co-operating.

[illegible] is feared the Mexico is a total loss. She is hung hard and fast on the rocks of Madagascar Shoals, with heavy seas constantly pounding her. She is a steel ship of 6,000 tons, plying regularly between New York, Havana, Progresso, Vera Cruz and Tampico.

A report of the rescue was made by wireless by the Rajah to Progresso. The report said the Rajah and the Rio Panuco had stood by the wrecked vessel all day yesterday, until a brief lull enabled small boats to approach the Mexico and take off the passengers and crew. The Rajah is proceeding to Progresso, where those rescued will be disembarked.

Plan To Recall German Witness

Government Resumes Case Against Daugherty And Miller Today

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—With the government's case virtually completed against Harry M. Daugherty, former U. S. attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, on trial for alleged conspiracy, Richard Merton, German industrialist, was due to be called to the witness stand today for recross examination by defense counsel.

Although Merton is technically a government witness, his testimony was favorable to the defendants.

Following the official closing of the government's case today, Max Steuer is expected to move for a dismissal of the indictment against his client, Harry M. Daugherty, on the ground that the evidence submitted is insufficient. Col. William Rand, counsel for Miller, is also expected to move for a dismissal.

Socialist Party Without Candidate In Fall Elections

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28. — Only one state wide nomination for the November general elections was unfilled today, the last day on which political party executive committees can certify to the state bureau of elections names of candidates to fill vacancies, caused by withdrawals or deaths of persons nominated at the May primaries.

The Socialist nomination for the United States Senate, made vacant by the death of Miss Cora M. Bixler, of Lancaster, is the one nomination which must be filled today, if at all.

Labor party vacancies were filled yesterday when the party certified the names of William B. Wilson and Eugene C. Bonniwell as its U. S. senatorial and gubernatorial nominees respectively.

A number of minor party vacancies remain for congressional and legislative offices.

Red Cross Receives Copy Of Proclamation Issued By President Coolidge

Contribution of $5 from a friend has been received at the Red Cross headquarter in the Lawrence Savings & Trust company building. To date about $145 has been received at the local chapter to assist in the relief work in the hurricane district in Florida.

A letter received by the chapter chairman at the local headquarters from the general chairman, John Barton Payne, contains a proclamation issued by the president of the United States.

The letter received is as follows:

The president has just issued the following proclamation:

"An overwhelming disaster has come to the people of Miami, Hollywood and surrounding communities in southern Florida. Such assistance as is within the means of the executive departments of the government will be rendered, but realizing the great suffering which now needs relief and will need relief for days to come, I am prompted to appeal urgently to the American people, whose sympathies have always been so comprehensive, to contribute generously in aiding the sufferers of this disaster.

"That the utmost coordination and effectiveness in the administration of the relief funds may be obtained, I urge that all contributions for this purpose be sent to the American National Red Cross at Washington or to the local Red Cross chapters. I need not assure the people that the Red Cross will utilize in the most effective manner all contributions received for relief in this catastrophe."

This places the responsibility squarely upon the American Red Cross and chapters should give wide publicity to this proclamation and see to it that prompt action is taken to collect and remit to national headquarters funds for this relief work.

JOHN BARTON PAYNE,
Chairman.

WHITE TO RECORD DEEDS FOR LOTS

Council adopted the suggestion of Solicitor Robert White made during council session today and passed Councilman Genkinger's motion authorizing White to record the deeds of all lots acquired by the city through delinquent tax sale for the past five years.

This will alleviate the necessity of advertising the lots for sale each year and result in a saving, White said.

His advice was accepted today after he asked permission to file deeds for 32 lots in the southern section of the city, formerly owned by the Browns.

Handle Of Auto Punctures Heart

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—Sebastian Rose, 66 years old, a farmer of Green county, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when a touring car which he was driving left the road near the Claughton Chapel church, five miles south of here. Rose was pinned between a tree and the car, a handle on a door of which punctured his heart. His wife, who also was in the car, escaped injury.

MAN DROWNS BENEATH CAR.

WASHINGTON Pa., Sept. 28.—Pinned beneath an automobile in a foot and a half of water Elmer Hytiani 43 of Daisytown drowned last night before assistance could reach him. The machine which was being driven by John Rauto of Walkertown went over a 20 foot embankment on the Ritcheyville-Deems Grove road and turned upside down in the stream. Mystery In Fall Of Jack Dempsey

By NORMAN E. BROWN

One's first impression of the outcome of the Dempsey-Tunney fight was that it was the old, old story of age and easy living against the fire and determination of youth.

One was inclined to give Gene Tunney the credit due the conqueror of the champion.

I hold that Tunney must be a good, if not a great fighter, an intrepid, courageous fellow, who will be a credit to the title he now bears if not a man worthy to be placed alongside Jeffries, Sullivan, Fitzsimmons and Corbett as champions.

But I find an ever-increasing air of mystery surrounding the miserable showing of Dempsey.

Those who followed the training camp progress of Dempsey at first hand—those who studied him closely there, and then saw him in the ring at Philadelphia are dazed—still in a state of coma.

As one wealthy realtor of my acquaintance remarked, "How did Dempsey lose, in the ring, that fire, aggressiveness and fair punching power he showed in the training camp?"

As the round by round of the fight will tell those who did not witness the fight, Dempsey struck but one or two determined blows in the ten rounds. For but a few seconds in two rounds did he assume an aggressive attitude.

Now Dempsey's main attribute as a fighter throughout his climb to the title and his reign as champion was his inborn desire to carry the fight—to rush his opponent and beat him down by the very force of his attack.

Why did he alter his style against Tunney? If he planned a strategic campaign against the young challenger is it reasonable to suppose he would have held to it after six rounds of fighting had resulted in nothing but a decisive lead for Tunney in points?

Supposing that the absence of the crafty Jack Kearns from his corner handicapped the former champion in waging his campaign against the challenger. It is human nature in moments of great stress and danger to lay aside superficial ideas and teachings and resort to the primitive—the natural. Why, then, when he saw the battle going against him, did not Dempsey throw aside any preconceived ideas and wade in with his old, devil-may-care style, smashing and slashing, wasting a dozen blows to get in one?

Dempsey knew that Tunney couldn't hurt him. Why, then, the timerity? Why, then, the willingness to let his title slip without doing or dying?

Why the affable handclasp before the ring instead of the old air of a meat-hungry lion going to dinner?

The natural question is: "What was wrong with Dempsey?"

Whatever was wrong it enabled Gene Tunney, upstanding youth and war hero, to step into the most coveted sport title in the world. So why worry about the reasons.

And yet what a horrible impression the fight left of Dempsey—Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, the Man Killer, the crouching, growling, blood-thirsty, plunging, weaving, devastating, bewildering socker.

A heavyweight title changed hands in ten rounds, on points, with neither man knocked off his feet. There is just one reason for little enthusiasm for Tunney, likeable as he is.

Westminster Opens Home Season Saturday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Westminster college's 1926 grid machine suffered an unexpected reverse at the hands of Duquesne University at Pittsburgh last Friday, but Westminsterites in general are awaiting the first home appearance of the eleven before they pass judgment on this year's crop of pigskin chasers. This initial appearance will come Saturday when the University of Buffalo is met here.

There is no need to beat about the bush, the defeat at Pittsburgh went hard with those who were of the opinion that this year's Blue and White outfit was "it." However there is no adverse criticism being spread about the campus for those who are in touch with the gridiron affairs know that Beede and Lawther coaches, have their hands full in placing a winning team on the field this fall.

The team which went against Duquesne was the "greenest" in the history of the college but the machine showed possibilities. Time after time the fat was demonstrated that there is offensive power but the defense must be strengthened.

Injuries were few so that a full team can be applied next Saturday unless unforseen events occur this week. The squad was permitted to rest Saturday but were called to the field early Monday afternoon when one of the longest drills of the season was held. Coach Beede predicts numerous changes in the personnel of the eleven unless better things are shown within the next few days.

Jimmy McQuiston, star halfback from last year who has been out with a bad knee is expected to be back in the game Saturday. His appearance will help considerably. He is the only triple threat man on the squad. Lauder another halfback who entered the Duquesne game without a thorough knowledge of the system is expected to go better against Buffalo. An attack of boils kept him away from the field for more than a week.

Plan Prosecution Of Sesqui Directors

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 28. Conferences between members of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association and John Robert Jones, their attorney were to be held today to prepare for the prosecution of Mayor Freeland Kendrick and directors of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition on charges of conspiracy to violate the Sunday "blue laws" officials of the association announced today.

This legal step was decided upon after the Supreme Court at Pittsburgh set November 22, nine days before the closing of the sesqui as the date to hear the committee's appeal for an early hearing on the Dauphin County Court opinion ordering the sesqui to close on Sundays.

Three Wise Men — By Feg Murray

Let's give a moment to the poor umpires, the men who get plenty of knocks and very few boosts, and to wham a barrage of abuse and pop bottles is merely another incident in a season full of arguments and disputes.

To err is only human, but here are three men who make the minimum amount of mistakes in a business where it is necessary to make decisions instantly, often under very difficult and trying instances. Bill Klem, "Hank" O'Day, and Ernie Quigley are three veteran National league arbiters, each of whom commands the respect of players and fans alike.

Bill Klem holds the record for umpiring in the most world series. He is noted for an antipathy to being called "catfish", and for being one of the best judges of balls and strikes in the business. He takes great pride in his work, and does nothing else but umpire, play golf and dabble in real estate. This is his 21st season in the majors.

"Hank" O'Day is noted for his sternness, his fearlessness and for having been a famous pitcher for the New York Giants. Angry players or hostile crowds don't bother "Hank" one bit. He is gruff and cranky, but as keen as a razor's edge. It was O'Day's decision in the famous Merkle-Evers play, it is said, that saved the honor of baseball.

Ernie Quigley is quiet and dignified, and a truly remarkable man. The statement that he sees more sport in a year than any other man is based on the fact that Ernie umpires around 160 baseball games, 25 football games and more than 100 basketball games each 12 months. He is an all-year-round official. Ernie gave evidence of his great strength, as well as his cool judgment, on August 25, 1925, in a game between the Giants and the Reds. "Pep" Young, after being hit by a ball thrown by Pitcher Donohue, was tearing out on the field to fight the innocent Cincinnati hurler, when Quigley picked up the struggling Giant bodily and carried him across the field to first base to cool off.

Feg Murray Says—

No, Esmeralda, they don't make stadiums in the shape of a horseshoe so that people can get in and out of the open end.

Father And Son Struck By Bullet

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 28. — Andy Filjak, 40 years old, of Star Junction, is in a critical condition with a bullet wound in his abdomen and his son, Joseph, 20 years old, has a bullet wound in his left hand, as a result of an accidental shooting which occurred in the Filjak home last night. Both are in the Uniontown hospital.

Joseph told police that he was examining a revolver which he found in his home when the weapon was discharged. The bullet went through his left hand, he said, and then struck his father in the abdomen.

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 28.—David Lutton, a farmer residing near Sandy Lake was seriously hurt when he was attacked by a ram near his home. He was knocked down, and the animal continued to batter him after he was on the ground. Ligaments in one leg were badly torn, and his back injured. Members of the family, who discovered his plight, rescued him from the enraged animal.

Crushed Between Cars And Killed

ROCHESTER, Pa., Sept. 28. — Harold P. Nulton, 23 years old, a brakeman, of Mulberry street, West Bridgewater, was killed instantly yesterday when he fell between two cars in the Conway yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was riding a "cut" of two cars down a "hump" when the cars bumped against others. His skull was fractured, his left arm cut almost off and his side torn. The body was brought to a mortuary here.

Nulton was married about 18 months ago. He leaves his widow and a daughter a few months old, besides his mother and step-father.

HE WHO GOES NOT NEAR THE FIRE WILL NOT BURN HIS PAW

"Old rats, young rats, fat rats, lean rats, large rats, small rats, sons, daughters and my great-great-grandchildren, sharpen your ears and listen to the words of one who is ancient among you, and because he is so very old knows many, many things."

Great-great-Granddad stopped to clear his throat, and in the baggage car it was so very still Pat wondered that the rats could not hear the beating of his heart.

"Sure, and 'tis respected the old one is! Such a solemn crowd! Never, no never, did I guess those wriggly rats could keep so quiet! Important must be the news he's about to tell them. Whist, now! 'Twill be something about the trap or I'm no Irish terrier."

Pat never opened his mouth, but that is what he thought. And as might have been expected of so clever a doggie, Pat was right.

"Once again in the affairs of the rats of the baggage car have the Two-Legs meddled," Great-great-Granddad continued. "Tricked by our quick wits, envying us our sharp teeth, jealous of our four legs that carry us fast and far from their two, they have set out to do us harm. On the floor behind me is a—what is it, children? You know the answer!"

"A trap!" cried the rats in chorus. "A trap that waits with its spring to break our backs! But we go not within its reach, so it cannot harm us. Shame on the rat who gets caught. He does not deserve sympathy, for he is stupid!"

Great-great-Granddad nodded his gray head and clapped his paws approvingly.

"Spoken like the sons and daughters of a family well known," he squeaked. "You have learned well the lesson that was taught you when first you crawled out of our cozy nest in the old rat hole—'He who goes not near the fire cannot burn his paw.' Wise rats, good rats, I am proud of you! But not yet do you know it all. You have much to learn. For he must be very wise, indeed, who carries home the cheese."

Peaches Are Going To Waste In Mercer County Is Report

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 28.—Peaches that would bring in seasons of crop scarcity $5 a bushel are going to waste in this county at the present time. Market saturation accounts for the conditions. You can't sell them, say the growers, for every one who has a peach tree has a crop that they are hunting someone to give them to.

Not since before the war have peaches sold at as low a price as this year, there being plenty of nice fruit offered for $1 a bushel. The plum crop is also a record breaker and due to its quantity is not being marketed as it would otherwise have been.

WALSH FAVORS CARDINALS IN COMING SERIES

Pupil Against Former Master

CARDS FULL OF MAGPIE CHATTER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Everything goes wrong at dress rehearsals, they say, but this one today should click with commendable regularity. First off, it will feature the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals, two interesting ball clubs, in their first post-season workout in preparation for the impending World Series but one of the secondary angles of the situation may prove the more interesting, at that. I refer to the fact that the contending clubs happen to be managed respectively by Miller Huggins and Rogers Hornsby.

Seemingly, it hasn't occurred to anyone that managerial workmanship will be neatly and quickly done with an utter lack of responsibility for goods left over thirty days, by a man who once was master and another once his pupil.

Hornsby Praised

Rogers Hornsby was just a recruit when he reported to the Cardinals in 1915 and Miller Huggins was the aloof manager, honored and respected if not altogether loved just for himself alone. Today Hornsby has become the greatest man on the far bank of the Mississippi while our Mr. Huggins, meantime, was permitted to go hence without apparent regret, to seek his fortune in the great city.

Before he departed, however, he turned his attention to Hornsby and, in a moment of weakness, changed the young man's batting stance and made him possibly the greatest right hand hitter of all time.

The writer likes the Huggins versus Hornsby equation equally as well as that featuring Hornsby and exchanging intermittent base hits in the first place, Huggins and Hornsby are radical opposites, yet both won pennants with ball clubs of considerable similarity.

Huggins Pensive

Huggins is pensive where Hornsby is volatile; Huggins is caustic when he thinks he can get away with it, Hornsby whether he thinks he can or not. Usually he can and does. Huggins has been called the student. He does most of his thinking well in advance and, if this fails him, he depends largely upon his noble athletes to roll their own. Hornsby runs his club from the ball field and calls them as they come.

Although the clubs arrive at the given point through the same processes—hitting and pitching—the two teams reflect the mannerisms of their managers by their attitude on the field. The Cards form one of those magpie ball clubs, chattering and gibbering their way through nine innings. The Yanks are almost voiceless.

This outward show of ambition makes the Cards look the part of the better outfit as, indeed, the writer hopefully thinks they are he would continue to think so if the Cardinals were as silent as the palate in a tongue sandwich.

GLENNA COLLETT IS MEDALIST AT HAVERFORD

HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 28. — Glenna Collett, defending her title as national women's golf champion, led 126 contenders over the difficult Merion links yesterday with a medal-winning qualifying score of 81.

The card of the champion was one stroke better than that of Mrs. Wright D. Goss, Jr., of Short Hills, N. P., finalist in the recent metropolitan championship and stood out conspicuously in a dreary damp day which developed generally high scoring, and witnessed the failure of three outstanding challengers for her crown. They were Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, O., semi-finalist in the national event last year and winner of the North-South championship over Miss Collett earlier this season; Mrs. Dorothy Klotz Pardue of Chicago, also a victor over Miss Collett last winter, and Miss Marion Turpie of New Orleans, the 17-year-old Southern champion.

To Stage 100 Mile Auto Race At Fair

New Castle Agricultural Association To Sponsor New Sporting Event Here

Scheduled For Saturday Afternoon, Oct. 2—Local Boy To Enter Event

An 100-mile automobile race will be staged on the half-mile track of the New Castle Agricultural Association, Saturday, October 2, and it is anticipated that some of the best dirt track drivers in the country will be included in the personnel of the big field of starters.

Arrangements for the big speed spectacle were completed at a conference between the fair officials and Sidney Olcott, general manager of the International Automobile Racing Association.

Crack Drivers Coming

This veteran racing official assured the officers of the Agricultural Association that he will be able to bring to this city the well-known pilots who have fought it out for the rich purses at racing events he has handled this season and for the past few years at Butler and Washington, in this section, and at Akron and other Buckeye state cities.

McFadden To Enter

Jack McFadden, former New Castle racing driver, who is now residing in Warren, O., has been one of the drivers to appear in the racing classics at New Kensington and other places where Olcott was in charge, and he is sure that this pilot will be on hand for the 100-mile contest scheduled for Saturday, October 2. He has the promise of McFadden that he would appear in all races handled by him, and is especially anxious to appear in this city before his host of friends here.

Olcott and the fair officials have agreed that if it is necessary to hold over some of the horse races until the Saturday scheduled for the automobile race, the contest will be held on Saturday afternoon, October 9, but all are desirous of getting a good break in the weather so it will be possible to hold the 100-mile race.

Appoint Umpires For World Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — Hank O'Day and Bill Klem, veterans of the National League umpire staff, have been named by President John A. Heydler to represent the senior circuit in the World's Series between the Yankees and Cardinals.

It will be the thirteenth series for Klem, who has officiated in more title games than any other arbiter. His nearest rival in this respect is Tommy Connolly, dean of the American League staff, who will take part in his eighth series this fall.

President Heydler named Ernest Quigley and Frank Wilson to officiate in the Chicago city series.

Seventh Series For Babe Ruth

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — When Babe Ruth takes the field here Saturday in the first game of the World Series, he will set a record by appearing in his seventh post-season classic. No other player has been in seven World series.

Ruth was in the World Series of 1915, 1916 and 1918 with the Red Sox and in the Yankee series in 1921, 1922 and 1923.

Stoy To Fight Hill Tonight

PAL KANSAS TO BOX MULLIGAN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 28.—Tonight at the Rayen-Wood auditorium, Rosey Stoy, Lancaster southpaw gets his chance to battle his way back into the good graces of the fans of this section of the country.

Stoy is slated to go 12 rounds or less with Johnny Hill, Filippino featherweight. Hill is rated as the most sentational puncher now before the public. Hill deserves every word of praise that has been given him on his punching prowess as the Brown Typhoon in his only two fights in this section has scored two quick K. O.'s.

The semi wind up will feature another Filippino in action. Trip Limbaco, flyweight champion of the Orient, will take on Young Irish of Barberton, O over the six round route. Linibaco is making his debut in this country and comes here heralded as the most sensational boxer that has ever come up from the Philippines.

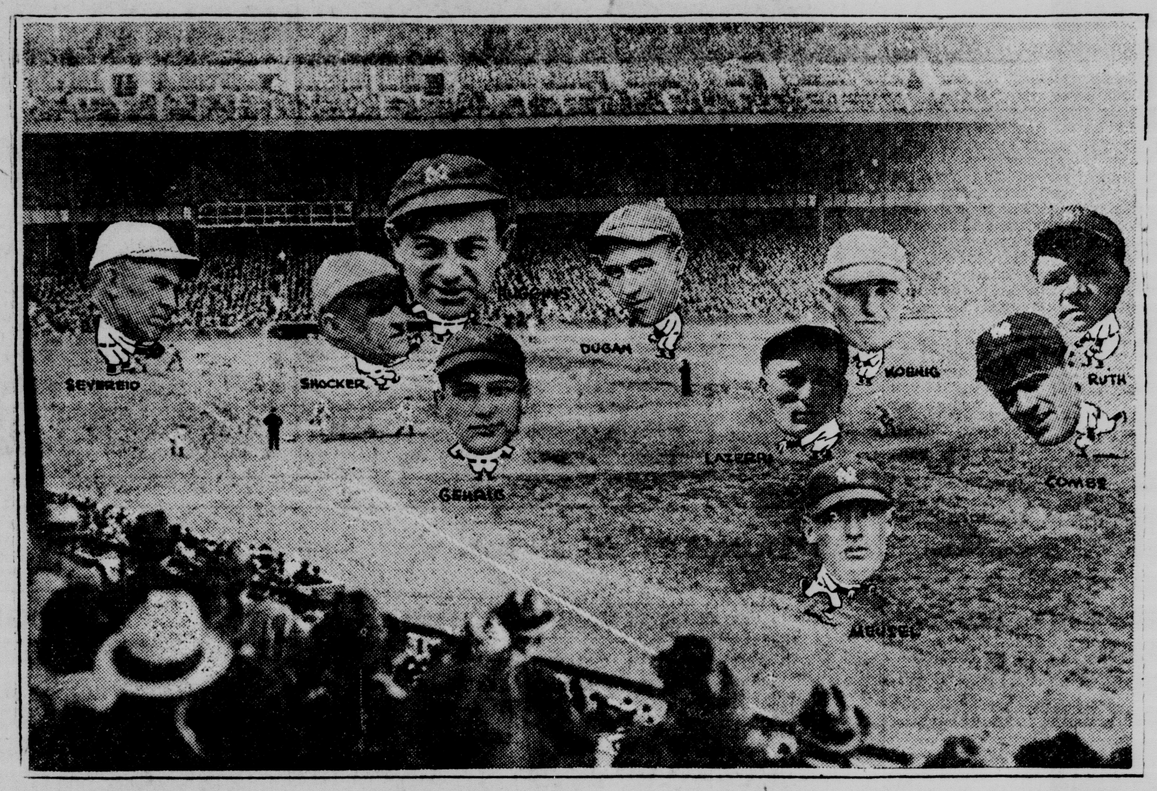
The second six rounder will feature Pal Kansas, local college boy and K. O. Mulligan of Barberton, O. Both these lads are game willing boxers and will put up a hard fight while they are in there.

The curtain raiser will show Johnny Kusic of Youngtown and Johnny Herman of Cleveland in another six rounder.

The last two named will go on promptly at 8:15 p. m.

The area of Spain is about twice that of the state of Oregon.

The Yanks Are "IN"—Bring On Your Series!



The Yankees under the management of Miller Huggins shown in the inset will open the 1926 World's Series Saturday, October 2, by meeting the St. Louis Cardinals. Urban Shocker, pitching ace of the Huggins' crew is also shown in the inset.

County Leaguers Dine And Celebrate Success Of Season Just Closed

Finis was written on the pages of the 1926 Lawrence county baseball league and also the Twilight league as upwards of 100 players, friends and guests of the league gathered in the banquet hall of the Elks club to partake of the annual "feed" on Monday evening. It goes without saying that the banquet was a success.

Rampant baseball spirit predominated the banquet room as the players gathered once more to forget any animosities that may have cropped out on the baseball field this year. Enthusiasm ran high last evening and everyone present pledged themselves to do all in their power to further the cause of the league's existence in 1927 and the zeal and zest that went with every speech showed plainly that the league is a popular one.

The banquet menu consisted of stuffed pork chops, sweet potatoes, lima beans and of course all the other trimmings that go to make up a fine meal.

Jackson Toastmaster.

With the banquet end of the program out of the way, John A. Jackson, vice president of the league, assumed the role of toastmaster, and after a short talk along the lines of baseball shot the opening gun of the elaborate entertainment program by calling on the "Pastime Quartet" composed of Steve Griffith, Jack Griffith, Arch Cubbison and Ben Ball, for a few numbers. The boys responded in a most satisfactory manner and laughter predominated the room from this time until the meeting adjourned.

Ernest Black, champion mouth-organ player of Lawrence county, was present last evening and gave several pleasing numbers on his harmonica. Mr. Black still retains his championship judging from the applause that greeted his efforts to please the ball players.

Harry Elwell, premier blackface comedian of New Castle, was another chap who gained rounds of applause for his part on the program. Harry in his best southern lingo gave a ten-minute rapid fire line of jokes that kept the boys amused, and ended his part of the program with that popular favorite "It Don't Do Nothing But Rain."

S. Plummer Emery Speaks.

Ex-Judge S. Plummer Emery, one of the strong boosters for the Lawrence county league, was called on for a short talk and responded by praising the Ellwood City team on its recent achievement and also by giving the ball players some good sound advice on playing the game squarely.

Representative Milton A. Bickett of Ellwood City was called on by Toastmaster Jackson and responded by giving the boys a short and well defined talk along the lines of baseball. Bickett, a resident of Ellwood, was naturally a strong booster for the newly crowned county champions. Bickett stated that he was a ball player some years back and that he still had a love for the national pastime.

Rev. H. D. Maxwell, pastor of the Emmanuel Reformed church of Ellwood City, had a part on the program and rendered two beautiful tenor selections, "The End of a Perfect Day" and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep". Rev. Maxwell also gave a short talk in which he congratulated the Ellwood City team on its victory and hoped that it would repeat next year.

Andrews Presents Pennant.

The following responded with short talks: Connie Wardman of the Ellwood City team, Ollie Earl of the Neshannocks, Alec Samuels of the Mahoning A. A., Robert "Bob" Robertson of Wampum, Sam Houk of Energy and "Miz" Dart for Bessemer. Tony Navarro and Albert Marshall of the Hillsville team, winner of the Twilight league, gave short talks.

William "Bill" Andrews, president of the Lawrence county league was called on to present the handsome pennant to the Hillsville team. The pennant and watch fobs for the champion Ellwood City team did not arrive in time for the banquet. Mr. Andrews also gave a short talk thanking the boys for their cooperation in making the league a success this season and promised that the league next year would be bigger and better than ever.

A hook-up with "KDKA" in a miniature form was one of the many features of the program with the Pastime quartet, Ernest Black and Harry Elwell doing their stuff before the "micraphone". Charles "Bugs" Walther, assistant sporting editor of the News, acted in the capacity of announcer for the radio program, and also gave the boys a brief talk when called upon by Toastmaster Jackson.

As said before the banquet last evening came up to the standard of other years and a mighty enjoyable time was had by all who participated. The banquet committee consisted of Chairman Eddie Connery, John A. Jackson, Alec Samuels and Charles "Bugs" Walther.

It was announced that plans will go forward immediately for the organization of a league for the season of 1927.

Resume Training At Grove City

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 28.—The Grove City college football squad resumed practice again yesterday afternoon after the close of the three weeks preliminary camp last Friday. Coach Bowser stated yesterday that the present week would be devoted to polishing off the team for the opening game next Saturday. A number of cripples must be sufficiently healed to be available for duty in the opening engagement. Capt. Cribbs, Paterlini, Johns, Lobuono and Rosenberg are all nursing minor injuries. Stephen Sholtis of North Braddock, an end, was forced to go home with badly torn ligaments in his knee. Sholtis is a lad of much promise.

The John Carroll university team of Cleveland which will open the season at Grove City next Saturday, is a much heralded outfit. In the initial contest last season the Cleveland team held the strong Quantico Marine team to a 0-0 score. This shows that Carroll team was well advanced early in the 1925 season and that we can probably conclude that it will be in mid-season form again next Saturday. Grove City will not be caught napping, however, and a real game can be expected.

Within a few hours after an automobile theft is reported every police officer in Great Britain is notified and furnished with the number and description of the car.

JACK HULME OPENS POOL

Swimming Pool At Westminster Officially Opened

GYM CLASSES ALSO UNDER WAY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Westminster College's fine swimming pool located in the gymnasium building, was officially opened for the year Tuesday morning when the first classes were held under the supervision of Jack Hulme of New Castle, swimming instructor.

The pool which is one of the largest and best equipped in the tri-state district, is in fine condition. It was first opened during the winter last year and used extensively by the students. The classes this year are filled to capacity and predictions are that the year will be very successful.

Westminster is to have a swimming team during the coming season but as yet plans are still in the formulating period.

Gymnasium classes have also been started. They are this year under the supervision of J. W. Colman, physical director, who has succeeded E. Dwight Dyer. Colman is a graduate of Arkansas University, and held the office of physical director at Akron University. He will also coach track in the spring in addition to directing intra-mural and inter-class athletics.

The first boxing classes will be held this week. Peter Garnett, better known in the pugilistic world as Pal Kansas, will instruct in the manly art of self defense. Garnett is enrolled as a Freshman at Westminster. He is a junior welterweight, fighting at 143 pounds.

Italian Bulldogs Reorganize Team

Independent Champions In 1925 Back In Field With Fast Combination

Forty Players Report To Coach Marino; Hope To Repeat Last Year's Record

The Italian Bulldogs Independent football champions for the season of 1925 have reorganized for the seventh season and will have a faster, bigger and better team this year than ever before, is the present indication.

All of last year's players are back in harness this season and 40 responded to the first call of Coach "Kiski" Marino. Marino has coached the team since its organization in 1924 and has been in a large part instrumental in winning the championship. A wealth of material for this year's team is available and indications point to another grid title for the Bulldogs.

Games will be arranged with the Croton A. C. Colored Stars, Boro Cubs, East Side Buccaneers, and South Side Bulldogs, also with any other fast eleven in the city or country.

The lineup of the Bulldog team this year will be the same as last season with Frank Marcella former Ben Franklin high star at left end, and with Cassachia or Mash alternating at right end. Joe Nocera one of the best tackles in the city will be used at left tackle, with Frankie Ross at right tackle. The guard problem is a toss-up between Ray Campolli, Daughtery, DeCarbo and Sam Campolli, fighting it out for first string berths.

Captain Fred "Sully" Marcella all independent scholastic center last season who has played with the Bulldogs for the past seven years will fill the center position. Benny Marino will bark signals again this year, with "Dutch" Ross playing fullback, Scaglione, Carmen Marino, Micco and Pascarella are fighting it out for the halfback jobs.

North St. High Resumes Work

Football Squad Resumes Training In Preparation For Coming Season

Football activity has began again at North Street Junior high school after a lay off of a week. It has been problematical whether or not North Street would put a team on the field after the breaking up of the Junior class league but some sort of a schedule is to be arranged in the near future and as a result training has commenced all over again.

The lads are training at Boyles' field under the direction of Coach Lingerman and looks pretty good to an individual along the sidelines and will give any team that they meet a good tussle.

Ralph Lingerman, the coach, is a new comer to the city. He is a graduate of Slippery Rock State Normal and for the last four years he has been the coach of Bessemer high school where he was successful in turning out several good teams, both in football and basketball.

State Receives Big "Cut" From Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—The state of Pennsylvania was enriched yesterday by exactly $86,169.26 as the result of the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight in Philadelphia last Thursday night. Tex Rickard wrote a check for the sum and turned it over to Robt. Young secretary of the Pennsylvania boxing commission.

The amount covers the 5 percent state tax on the gate tickets. The 10 per cent federal government tax was $172,338.42.

Coldstream Farm Filly Adds Another Victory To Record

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept 28.—The Futurity for 2-year-olds feature of the opening program of the trots yesterday was won by the Coldstream Farm's filly Ruth M. Chenault driven by Ben White. It was the ninth consecutive victory for the daughter of Peter Chenault, which has not lost a race this season and was one of the easiest races she has had .Starting a $50 to $18 favorite in the auctions the filly had no trouble in beating the small field, trotting the second heat in 2:04 1-4 over a heavy track.

Holly Rood Sheila, second choice, raced in front to the five-eights in the first heat and Grey Brewer did the pace making in the second but each time Ruth M. Chenault went to the front when White set her going and each time she was off by herself and breezing along at the finish.

"Dugan Gang" Is Given Extremely Heavy Sentences

Daring Young Highway Robbers Get Terms Of 5 To 25 Years In Prison

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28. — The "Dugan gang" declared by authorities to have been the most daring young highwaymen in and about Pittsburgh for nearly two years will no longer menace motorists at least for several years.

Four of the five members of the notorious "gang" today stood sentenced by Judge James H. Gray to from five to 25 years in the Western Penitentiary. They are: Thomas Mellett, 20; Bernard Harris, 18; Edward Dugan, 19, and John Jennings, 20.

The fifth man, John Poland, 21, had his sentence postponed because his attorneys have asked Judge Gray to appoint a sanity commission to examine him.

The four men sentenced pleaded guilty to charges of robbery. However, Judge Gray withheld sentence until Dr. W. T. Root, a noted psychiatrist, appointed by the court to make tests and observations had reported his findings.

WHERE EXPERIENCE COUNTS

Yankee Hurlers Have Pitched 22 Games in World's Series

By NORMAN E. BROWN

In a short series—the length of the annual melee between the winning teams of the American and National leagues, experienced pitching usually counts.

Of course there was the case of Babe Adams, a rookie, who won three games in 1909 while still finding his bearings in the big show. But he is the exception that proves the rule.

What we're getting at is the fact that the Yankees, ambling into another world's series this fall, boast of a pitching staff which has, in its entirety, hurled a total of 22 games in the various world's series.

Bob Shawkey has been in four series and has worked in five games, drew credit for winning one and losing two.

Waite Hoyt has been in three series, a total of six games and has won two and lost two games.

Sam Jones, in three series, has worked in five games and gone without a victory while losing two games.

Herb Pennock, in two series, came out of four games with two victories and no defeats opposite his name.

Dutch Ruether, in two series, broke into two games and has one victory and no losses charged to him.

Urban Shocker, toiling a lifetime with the St. Louis Browns before joining the Yanks last year, never of course, broke into a world's series. Walter Beall, Herb McQuaid, Garland Braxton and Myles Thomas have yet to cut their eye teeth in world's series games.

Pennock and Shawkey are the fall classic veterans. Both got a brief chance with the Mackmen in the ill-fated series of 1914. Pennock worked three innings in one game but wasn't charged with a victory or defeat. Shawkey worked in five innings and was charged with the loss of the game.

While Ruether was with the Cinci Reds in 1919 and the Washington Senators last season, he appears only in the records of the 1919 event. He broke into two games, pitched a total of 14 innings and is credited with winning one game.

The failure of Manager Harris of the Senators to inject Ruether into the final game of the series when Johnson appeared unable to find himself drew much criticism at the time.

High Team Has Light Workout

Coach Bridenbaugh Lenient With High Gridders Monday Afternoon

Coach Phil. H. Bridenbaugh was very lenient with the New Castle High gridders on Monday afternoon, and after an hour of signal drill excused the squad until Tuesday afternoon. It is planned to stage a much more intensive workout today, with a possibility that scrimmage will exist.

The coach was rather well pleased with the victory obtained over Crafton High last Saturday and for that reason declined to put the boys through more than warming up traces.

The New Castle High team came through the Crafton encounter without any signs of further injuries. Three men were hurt in the opening game with Mars High.

According to those who watched the East High, Youngstown team in their game with Struthers High last Saturday, the Red and Black team will be outweighed by the visitors from over the Ohio line. The East High team while only in its infancy is rated as one of the strongest in Youngstown and they intend to take back a victory Saturday.

Hartman Will Have Good Team

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 28.—Coach Joe Hartman can feel confident that he has the start of a good football team in his high school eleven as demonstrated by the Saturday game with New Wilmington high that was played under the most trying weather conditions imaginable and prevented either team from showing their stuff.

Fumbles alone at critical moments kept the white and gold team from scoring. The forwards of the Hartman coached organization have plenty of power and drive. Seasoning of the backfield to such a degree that it will gain the yardage necessary in the big contests of the season is the task that Hartman will give instant attention to.

New Bethlehem will be played next Saturday and New Castle October 9. Both games are away. On October 15 Sharpsville is the attraction on the local field.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

"CARDS" WIN FLAG

Every dog has its day. So, too, it seems, does every major league city have its pennant. Now that the Cardinals have rewarded St. Louis' patience, the town of Hornsby has at last cast aside that none too pleasant distinction of being the only one of the present-day 11 big baseball cities never to have had an American or National champion, Writes Sam Otis.

Until 1919 there were four cities outside the select circle. Then Cincinnati came through. Next year Cleveland entered the charmed group, while in 1924 Washington made its debut. But St. Louis, with clubs in both leagues, couldn't make the grade until now.

Every member of the National circuit as now made up has landed at the top of the heap at least once. All but the St. Louis Browns have flown a pennant in the American. There remains just one link to be added to the victory chain, but the day when the Browns will be able to fit in does not appear close at hand.

HULK; NOT SHELL

The outstanding reason for Dempsey's defeat, aside from Tunney's real ability, which was the real determining factor, was the rustiness which Dempsey had acquired through three years of idleness. Lack of his old co-ordination rendered Dempsey incapable of even making a good fight of it. He couldn't get in step with his agile adversary and looked like a $50 preliminary fighter in comparison with the class exhibited by the man who defeated him, Harry Keck says. He knew what he wanted to do, but always was a fraction of a second late getting started to do it. And that fraction of a second represented the difference between greatness and mediocrity. It took the edge off his punch, for one thing, ruined his judgment of distance in attacking against a speedily moving object for another, and enabled his opponent to keep just one jump ahead of him all the time. And after a round or two of failure to measure up, Dempsey's morale slipped and he knew that he was headed for defeat, although he continued to show his old fighting heart. After the bout he was dubbed only a shell of his old self. That term was incorrect. He wasn't a shell, for physically he still was strong, far from dissipated and weakened. But he was dull, lethargic, lumbering. He was a hulk, not a shell.

YANKS ARE FAVORED

The National League pennant triumph of the St. Louis Cardinals has stimulated betting on the world's series in Wall street. The largest wager, placed on the assumption that the Yankees would win the American League flag, established the New York team as a 13 to 10 favorite, $13,000 being placed against $10,000. The short end was taken by a group of St. Louis enthusiasts, according to a New York dispatch.

Among a number of freak bets reported was one of $6,500 to $500 or 13 to 1, that the Yankees do not win the first four games, and another of $7,000 to $500, or 14 to 1, that the Cardinals don't capture four in a row.

WATCH MANUSH

Harry Heilmann of the Tigers won't repeat his 1925 feat of leading the American League in batting but in Heinie Manush Detroit is pretty certain of boasting the leader again this season.

Manush has been hitting hard and often ever since he broke into the line-up several months ago in place of the veteran Cobb. Manush always could smash the leather, but this year he's showing to better advantage than ever. He should finish the chase around the .380 mark, which, by the way, is pretty nifty batting, considering the toning down of the ball.

Manush came to the Tigers in 1923. Previous to that he put in two years of pro ball, one with Edmonton in the Western Canada League and the other with Omaha in the Western. It was while with the latter Manush attracted the attention of the big league scouts.

With Omaha in 1922 Manush combed out 245 hits in 167 games for an average of .376. He made 148 runs and stole 19 bases. In his first year with Detroit the big fellow hit .334 in 109 tilts. Two years ago he fell to .289 but came back last year to bat .303.

Manush takes a terrific cut at the ball and when he connects it goes. He's hit 14 homers thus far this season and has pushed out many triples and two-baggers. Keep your optics on Heinie Manush, says a syndicate scribe.

LOSES HIS "B. R."

Henry Belmar, former actor, and known to "the boys", lost an envelope containing $33 in Chip's billiard palace or on the street nearby. The "old boy" can ill afford to lose those thirty-three simoleons. Doubtless someone who has found the money has failed to locate Belmar. He can be reached at the Henry hotel. Here's the way he identifies the money: one ten spot; two five spots and 13 one-dollar bills. The envelope also contained a membership in the Authors' League of America and tax receipts.

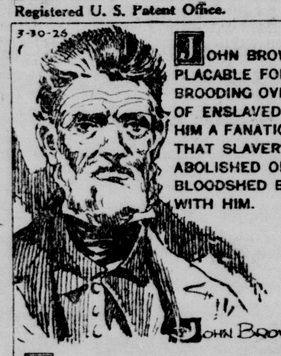
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

John Brown, Militant Abolitionist.



JOHN BROWN WAS AN IMPLACABLE FOE OF SLAVERY. BROODING OVER THE WRONGS OF ENSLAVED NEGROES MADE HIM A FANATIC AND THE BELIEF THAT SLAVERY COULD BE ABOLISHED ONLY THROUGH BLOODSHED BECAME A MANIA WITH HIM.

BORN IN CONNECTICUT, HE MIGRATED TO KANSAS TO TAKE PART IN THE STRUGGLE TO MAKE THAT TERRITORY FREE SOIL. IN 1856 HE KILLED FIVE PRO-SLAVERY MEN ON POTTAWATAMIE CREEK, ESCAPED PUNISHMENT, AND LATER PLANNED FURTHER ATTACKS ON THE SLAVEHOLDERS.

IN 1858, BROWN TOLD CERTAIN ABOLITIONISTS OF A DESPERATE STROKE HE HAD PLANNED TO MAKE SLAVERY INSECURE IN THE SOUTH. THIS WAS TO FORTIFY A HIDING-PLACE IN THE MOUNTAINS OF VIRGINIA AND FROM IT MAKE RAIDS INTO THE AGRICULTURAL DISTRICTS TO FREE SLAVES BY FORCE OF ARMS.

SOME OF BROWN'S HEARERS, ZEALOUS TO RID THE COUNTRY OF SLAVERY BY ANY MEANS, APPROVED THE PLAN AND DISREGARDED THE FACT THAT IT WAS NOTHING SHORT OF SEDITION AND MURDER. HOWEVER, ANTI-SLAVERY LEADERS WHO LEARNED OF BROWN'S PROJECT CONDEMNED HIS METHODS AND REFUSED TO AID SUCH AN ENTERPRISE.

TO DIVERT SUSPICION FROM HIS VIRGINIA PROJECT, BROWN WENT TO KANSAS. WHILE THERE HE MADE A DARING RAID INTO THE SLAVE STATE OF MISSOURI, LIBERATED ELEVEN NEGROES, AND ESCAPED WITH THEM ACROSS FIVE STATES TO CANADA.

Gamble—McFarlane certainly is the most optimistic chap I ever met.

Ramble—How come?

Gamble—He gave his wife a $20 bill this morning, out of which to buy a $5 hat for herself.

It was in a small town, but two fashionable weddings were going to take place there. One of the brides went into the postoffice with a feeling that the postal clerks would be thrilled at her order—if they could fill it.

"I'd like 1,000 stamps," she said "if you have them."

"Sure," said the postal clerk. "I can give you more if you want them. The other bride was in yesterday and she took 2,000."

It's nice to think people are better than you know they are.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Unsettlement in the industrial stocks continued in the early trading today as professionals promptly resumed selling of the outstanding speculative leaders. An improvement in the credit situation, with brokers' loans down $58,000,000 and call rates fractionally lower was without significance in view of the over-powering strength of the bearish contingent working for lower prices.

Further weakness in the oil stocks followed announcement of a general price cutting in California gasoline. Mid-Continent price basis was reported to be more unstable than it was a few weeks ago, with gasoline consumption having been cut down in the middle west, due to bad weather. Disappointment in the market behavior of the oils has resulted in heavy liquidation by outside traders.

The railroad stocks were inclined slightly higher, in response to the favorable August earnings statements. Rock Island was well bought around non reports that the stock would go on a 5 percent dividend basis this year. Atchison and New York Central made fractional gains in uneven trading. Equipment stocks were dull and slightly reactionary.

The market leaders in the steel, motor, copper and specialty groups were unable to make any progress. Loew's was again the feature of the amusement stocks with a rise to a new high at 48. Brooklyn Union Gas and Consolidated Gas moved up in company on rumors of a possible merger next year or some time. Selling pressure lifted in the second hour, but buying power was also limited, and stocks drifted around without apparent destination, but gradually settling to lower price levels.

Buxom African Girls Fetch Highest Prices

Angolan Parents Fatten Them In Pens For Husbands, Says Missionary

Girls, if you are fat, go to Angola the Portuguese name for Portuguese West Africa, W. H. Anderson Seventh Day Adventist missionary from the heart of Africa says that the fatter a maiden is the more beautiful she is considered by the natives.

"When a girl gets to the marriageable age 17, she is put in a pen and fattened," Mr. Anderson said. "She may be kept penned up and stuffed with food for nine to 18 months. The fatter she is the better price she brings to her father when she is sold. For a beauty who has been fattened so she can hardly waddle when released from the pen one must pay 20 head of cattle but if the maiden refuses to achieve obesity she commands the paltry sum of ten head."

"It's a great disgrace not to marry, so if a girl stays skinny in spite of all efforts you may purchase her at a bargain. The greatest disgrace is not to have children and childlessness is grounds for divorce in Angola.

"I found among these native tribes a remarkable code of justice" Mr. Anderson said. "They were practicing Mosaic law which had somehow been carried into Africa long centuries before white men ever penetrated the Dark continent.. —Milwaukee Journal.

Merton Takes Stand In Daugherty Trial

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Richard Merton, German financier and one of the principal witnesses in the graft conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, was recalled to the stand today in federal district court.

Merton, who came here as a government witness, previously had testified as to the manner in which he brought about the government approval in 1921 of the $7,000,000 claim of the American Metals Company for property seized during the war.

He was recalled so as to enable the defense to cross-examine him and permit him to sail for Germany as soon as possible.

Prince and Princess Eitel Friedrich.

Alleging humiliation to himself and to his noble relatives as but one result of his wife's constant endeavors to break into the movies, Prince Eitel Friedrich, son of the ex-Kaiser of Germany, has instituted divorce proceedings against the Princess. "The Slick Guy"

Nearly every one of us has seen the checkered-suit person with the velvet tongue. How smoothly he once told of the merits of this product or that—and raked in perfectly good coin for purchases that were often worthless.

The "slick guy" is seldom seen today. When the wise person goes to buy, he knows what is good in value and fair in price.

Simply by glancing over the advertisements in your paper, you can see where to go for the best buys. You can compare values and check up prices without even stirring from your easy chair. You know in advance just what you are going to get and how much it will cost. And you can have the satisfaction that comes from knowing your money is wisely and safely spent.

Nowadays, no one need be at the mercy of the "slick guy." There are still a few people who fail to read the advertisements—and "take a chance." Don't be one of them.

Advertised products are safe buys.

Eight Rules To Observe

Chief Of State Tuberculosis Clinic Gives Precautionary Rules

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—Eight rules for the guidance of the average citizen in the fight against tuberculosis were laid down by Dr. Edgar T. Shields, chief of the tuberculosis clinics, in the weekly health talk issued today by the State Department of Health.

Following of these rules, Dr. Shields asserted, will not only protect the health of the individual, but will remove the menace of infection of those with whom he may come in contact.

Despite the state's fight and the sanatorium and clinic facilities which it has provided the co-operation of the citizen is needed to further reduce the toll of the white plague, Dr. Shields maintained.

The rules which Dr. Shields suggested follow:

Go to your own doctor and have at least one thorough physical examination each year and an extra one after each acute illness. This is the best kind of health insurance.

See that all physical defects are corrected, especially those of the teeth, nose and throat. Doing this will remove many of the obstructions on the road to good health and a long life.

Cultivate the proper habits of eating, sleeping and exercise. Once formed, they work automatically and continuously for your benefit.

Avoid all over-fatigue and undue exposure to cold and wet. Chilling and fatigue of body prepare a fertile soil for the prolonged growth of disease germs.

Allow children to drink properly pasteurized milk or that from non-tuberculosis cattle. No other kinds are safe enough for the little ones.

Stay in the sunshine and open air as much as possible. Tuberculosis loves darkness but hates the light.

Protect all your children from contact with any sick persons who cough and spit. Serious infection now and future breakdown often result when young children live with those who have tuberculosis.

File Suit For $35,000 Against Jack Dempsey

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—A $35,000 damage suit was on file in common pleas court No. 3 today as an outgrowth of the recent Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship contest here.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Mabel B. Laroche and her husband, M. J. Laroche, against William H. (Jack) Dempsey. The suit is based on the allegations that the ex-champion jostled against Mrs. Laroche as she left the ring at the sesqui stadium here last Thursday night and caused her to fall and receive injuries for which she asks to be compensated.

Judge William E. Ferguson has issued a capias for the arrest of Dempsey and fixed bail at $1,000.

KAMPUS KAR FADES AWAY

Rule Against Flivvers At Westminster Now In Effect

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—The rule passed recently by the faculty of Westminster College forbidding the ownership and operation of motor cars by students in residence, went into effect Monday.

Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president of the college, took occasion at the chapel service Monday, to fully explain the workings of the rule.

It is possible for a student living outside of New Wilmington to commute to school as usual, excepting that permission must be received from the Dean of Men. A special parking grounds for the cars has been assigned. The cars are not to be used for pleasure driving about the village.

The action on the part of the faculty, has seemed very drastic to many students who were in the custom of keeping motor cars at their place of residence. With this facility for locomotion, trips out of New Wilmington were numerous while they were continually guilty of reckless driving about town.

This marks the passing of the "Kampus Kar" at Westminster which has been very popular the last few years. The faculty ruling is in keeping with steps taken by practically all the large schools throughout the country.

FEELING LOTS BETTER NOW

Writes Ethel May Snider Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Hartford City, Ind.—Doing housework and taking care of a sick woman proved to be too much for Ethel May Snider, R. R. 1 of Hartford City, until she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overwork had so undermined her health that she had to give up all outside work, and when she saw this medicine advertised in the "Star" and other papers, she went to a druggist and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She took it regularly, was greatly benefited and now feels very much better.

Ethel May Snider's experience is similar to that of thousands of other women in all walks of life, who have sent testimonials to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass.

From Maine to California, from Wisconsin to Texas, and from Nebraska to Florida letters are received every day from grateful women who say the Vegetable Compound has helped to restore their health.

Covert Rides In Wheelbarrow As Miller Pays Fight Bet

The Dempsey vs. Tunney fight is over as far as the fighting is concerned and it is over as far as Jess Miller is concerned and it is doubtful if he will ever again be as concerned with a fight as he was with this one.

Clarence "Billy" Covert was the winner and to him goes the spoils of victory. During the days before the fight many of the boys had the winner picked and of course when one picks a hampion it is only right that he support him and to defend him in all ways when some one comes along with a champ that is altogether different in his views a little bet is invariably the ultimate outcome.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Covert are men of greatly differing opinions and as each one had a sure winner picked they decided to show each other just who knew his business when it came to picking the man to come out on the top.

The loser was to push the winner through the downtown district in a wheelbarrow. Mr. Miller chose Dempsey as his champion and everyone knows just what happened to Mr. Dempsey but only Mr. Miller can tell how hard it is to pay a bet of this nature.

A good sized crowd of fans was on hand to watch the excitement and a great yell went up as the wheelbarrow was produced together with several big signs, one having inscribed on it the words "I bet on Dempsey' and on the other "I bet on Tunney." The contestants were started on their way down through town.

Only one stop in each block was allowed but the traffic signals could not be run through and this proved to be the loophole. Down Washington street to the diamond and back up again to County Line street and from there to Zach Allerton's barber shop was the course that Miller was obliged to take and there has been nothing in town for a coon's age that has caused so much laughter as did this unusual spectacle.

Well the whole thing was al done in the right way and Mr. Covert and Mr. Miller are the best friends ever. After the fuss was over each of the principals left the battle ground with a smiling countenance and a big two bit cigar sticking out of the corner of his mouth.

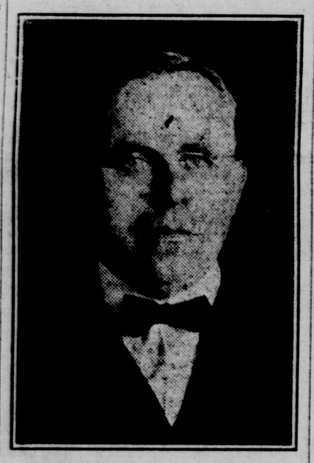
Epworth Presents Auto To Rev. Davis As Farewell Gift

Retiring Pastor Of Epworth Congregation Is Honored By Church Members

FAREWELL RECEPTION ON MONDAY EVENING

Tribute Is Paid To Worth Of All Members Of Ministers' Family At Event



REV. HOMER B. DAVIS

As a fitting climax to the four years of faithful and efficient service during his ministry with the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church of this city, Rev. Homer B. Davis and family who are leaving Thursday for Fredonia, N. Y. where Rev. Davis will begin his new pastorate with the Methodist church of that city, were honored at a reception and dinner in the church Monday evening.

Three Hundred Attend

Dinner was served at 6:30 in the church dining room at attractively arranged tables with covers arranged for three hundred in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Following the dinner a musical program was carried out in the auditorium with Norman E. Clark, superintendent of the Bible School, presiding. A violin and cello duet was beautifully played by Lucile and Edwin Davis. A piano solo by Virginia Knox and a vocal duet was given by Helen Allen and Mrs. Bornman. Mrs. Homer B. Davis and daughter, Lucile gave a piano duet; and readings were given by James Smith and Louetta Nicholson.

The program closed by a solo number by Rev. Davis, who sang the song that is loved by every one, "The End of a Perfect Day," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Rev. Davis was accompanied by Mrs. Davis on the piano, his daughter, Lucile on the violin and son, Edwin on the cello. It was quite a touching moment and seemed very appropriate for the occasion.

A guard of honor was appointed composed of Hon. George T. Weinhartner, Charles H. Andrews, Mrs. George Forest and Mrs. D. T. McConahy, who escorted Rev. Davis and family from the church to the lawn, the congregation singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," led by Chester F. Reynolds.

Presented With Car

On the lawn a handsome Buick touring car, equipped with a winter top, was standing which was presented to Rev. Davis as an appreciation from the congregation for the splendid work accomplished during his pastorate with them.

The presentation was made by George G. Stitzinger who gave a brief outline of the work done in the Epworth church and throughout the city by the Davis family. He spoke of the pleasant relations existing between pastor and people and wished Rev. Davis and family

Start Probe In Train Disaster At Bethlehem

Engineer Schmidt Of Scranton Flyer Issues Statement

Lehigh Valley Officials Intimate Blame For Wreck Lies With Central System

(International News Service)
BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 28.—An investigation of the causes and an effort to fix responsibility for the collision of the Scranton flyer of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Lehigh Limited almost under the sheds of the union station here, in which eight persons were killed and 40 injured, was scheduled to open today.

The Jersey Central train ploughed through the Lehigh train at an intersection of the two roads here yesterday, in clear weather and after the trains had been in full view of each other for some minutes. The Lehigh Valley railroad issued a statement implying that the blame rested with the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Engineer Issues Statement.

Henry Schmidt, engineer of the Scranton flyer, who is in St. Luke's hospital suffering slight injuries, said:

"I thing something was wrong with the signals I threw my brakes and blew my whistle. I was too close and could not stop. If the Lehigh Limited had been moving fast the accident would not have happened."

The investigation is expected to determine if the signal was set against Schmidt. Both trains were said to have been moving at about 15 miles an hour, and the Lehigh Valley railroad admitted that the limited was slightly ahead of time. It is said the Scranton flyer was running ahead of schedule.

A revised list of the dead follows:

Harold W. Bigel, Lehighton, Pa.
David Baum, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Hugh McGee, Lehigh Valley baggageman, Allentown, Pa.
Charles C. Gales, New York City.
George McGovern, Mauch Chunk, Pa.
H. J. Ott, Allentown, Pa.
A. J. Shovlin, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Unidentified man, believed to be a negro.

Most of the injured were suffering from body bruises and shock.

N. Y. Republicans Openly Divided On Prohibition

Platform Adopted By Republicans Leans Toward Dry Side; Candidates Are Wet

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept 28--The Republicans of New York marched out in the middle of the road today on the controversial issue of prohibition—and thereby averted what promised to be the most disastrous split in the history of the party.

The platform leans to the dry side; the candidates to the wet.

Having adopted a plank pledging the party to strict law enforcement, the state convention today proceeded to the serious business of nominating at the head of the state ticket two men who are as well known for their wet views almost as Gov. Al Smith. These are Senator James W. Wadsworth and Rep. Ogden L. Mills. To the latter falls the task of opposing "Al's" thrust for a fourth term at Albany next November.

Relieve Strain

Thus the wets and drys emerged from an embarrassing situation with at least a semblance of victory. The extreme-right drys from upstate are dissatisfied, but no less so than the extreme-left wets from down state. There was a lot of muttering today in the wake of the platform's adoption, but the vast majority of the 1316 convention delegates are content, and consider themselves well out of a situation that had the party leaders frantic with worry and trepidation.

So relieved were the rank and file that the platform went through the convention late last night without a voice being raised against it on the floor. Both sides were afraid to start anything.

It was considered not improbable today that the slate of candidates

Five Carloads Of Seats For Cathedral Auditorium; Installation Is Started

Rapid progress is now being made on the completion of the Scottish Rite cathedral on Lincoln avenue, which has been in the course of construction for two years.

Representatives of the American Seating company are now here and have started the installation of the seats of the auditorium. There are more than 3,000 seats to be put in place and it will take some time to complete this work.

Three carloads of the seats have been received here and two more carloads have been shipped and are expected here in a few days. The fact that it required five railroad box cars to hold the seats of the auditorium will give some idea of the immensity of the place.

Chairs for Dining Room.

The 2500 folding chairs to be used in the dining room of the cathedral have also arrived and have been placed in the dining room but have not yet been unpacked. This will be done in a few days.

These chairs are of steel construction and are decorated at the back with the double eagle of the Scottish Riet.

Friday evening there will be a meeting in the cathedral for members and friends of the New Castle Consistory, as well as representatives of the general public, at which time some idea of what has been done and what is contemplated in the use of the cathedral as a community enterprise will be outlined.

It is proposed that the immense building, which is one of the outstanding places of western Pennsylvania, will become the center of community and county-wide activities that will increase the prestige of the city and surrounding district.

Annual Exhibition Opens With Indications Of Notable Success

Midway Has Many Entertainment Features With Appeal

Country folk and city dwellers today joined hands to make the New Castle Fair the biggest and best that has ever been arranged for New Castle and attendance figures at noon augur well for a record fair.

Automobiles and carriages could be seen pouring their human cargo into the spacious ground, located along the Harlansburg highway, all during the morning.

And no wonder, for at the grounds are all kind of blooded livestock, various exhibits by Granges, merchants and boys and girls' clubs; fast race horses and a midway dotted with attractions that surpass those of past fairs.

Automobiles which streamed through the lane connecting with the grounds were directed swiftly but safely by traffic officers, and after passing into the grounds proper were directed to a spacious parking plot.

As soon as one stepped from the parking space they found themselves surrounded by a maze of exhibits or attractions. Automobiles, farm implements of all kinds, restaurants, shows—in fact, everything that has an appeal to catch the eye.

For instance, beneath the grandstand there are a half dozen concessions. Some are soft drink emporiums, others are miniature res-

Men At Work Fail To Corroborate Reports Tappings Are Heard

By HOWARD C. MAYER

IRONWOOD, Mich., Sept. 28.—Insanity, cold, starvation.

These three grim perils stalk side by side, blazing the way of death 727 feet below the surface of the ground, where 43 miners have been imprisoned in the G. Pabst mine here since Friday at noon.

Shortly after dawn today your correspondent was the first newspaperman to descend the wrecked G. shaft to the lowest level where a crew of 10 men, working on a suspended platform, are relining the opening with steel, concrete and timber.

This rescue party is working 280 feet below the level of the ground and a survey of the black workshop, dimly illuminated by carbide lamps, reveals that if the entombed men are to be saved it will not be through this method of rescue.

In the F. Aurora mine, however, reports come to the surface of fast progress on the 300-foot bore being made from the thirteenth level of that mine to the eighth of the G. Pabst, where at least 40 of the victims of the slide are trapped.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

Town Talk

One of the most unusual sights witnessed in this city for some time was seen on South Mill street Monday afternoon, when two funeral processions, going in opposite directions, passed each other near the intersection of Phillips street. Both processions were long, making the sight more impressive. Traffic was suspended as the funeral processions passed.

Overcoats have the call today.

City employes are still busily engaged in making improvements in rounding off corners at street intersections, on main thoroughfares. One of the latest to be completed is at Lincoln and Highland avenues. These rounded corners are proving a great aid to traffic in the city, especially where the streets intersect at an acute angle.

N. Y. REPUBLICANS OPENLY DIVIDED ON PROHIBITION

will go through the same way and for the same reason. Nomination of Wadsworth and Mills will come late this afternoon.

Prohibition Plank

The prohibition plank that the convention greedily swallowed said:

"The manufacture, transportation or sale of intoxticating beverages is forbidden by the Federal Constitution. So long as this provision is in the Constitution it should be enforced. The Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act are the law of the land. As a party which has always upheld the cause of law and order, we pledge our public officials, whether national or state, to do all in their power to see that they are obeyed.

"The people of the state are rightly alarmed by the lack of observance and enforcement of the Federal law relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors. From this has resulted the ending referendum to obtain the opinion of the people upon the question of modification of that law. The referendum gives all the opportunity to express themselves. We urge a full expression at the polls on this matter."

There they left it.

Favors Repeal

In his keynote speech, Rep. Mills argued for committing the party to the results of the referendum, irrespective of which way the cat jumps in November. Senator Wadsworth would have gone even further. He favors the outright repeal of the Amendment and the institution of the Quebec plan of Governmental control and supervision of liquor selling.

The convention would have none of them, nor would it listen to Rep. Hamilton Fish, who insisted upon a plank denouncing the coming referendum as "a Democratic trick."

The balance of the platform was outlined by Mills—a scathing attack on the fiscal policies of Al Smith at Albany and a pledge to install "Coolidge Economy" there.

First round matches were played in a cold rain, a number of the contestants wearing all rubber suits of various colors. It was one of the worst days in many years for championship golf but the course was in condition to play and the officials could do nothing but start the matches on scheduled time.

NEW CASTLE FAIR DRAWS GOOD CROWD ON OPENING DAY

taurants where the wall-known "hawt dawg" and "hamburger" with lemonade or coffee can be had.

To the north stretch a line of tents which house many and varied attractions. Spielers were busy shouting their wares, and before several of the tents were platforms upon which performers gave ballyhoos.

Blooded Stock

Farther to the north were the barns where the cows, stallions, sheep, bulls, pigs—almost every kind of stock is housed in clean barns. Long lines of people visited these barns to gaze at the blooded and highly prized stock.

The speed barns also proved a source of interest. All afternoon men, women and children visited the barns where the horses which will race, beginning Wednesday, are given every attention.

In another section is the motordome, a place where motorcycles dash around walls built straight up and down and where a miscue on the part of a rider would result in his injury or death.

Along other plots were concessions with blankets, fancy baby dolls, clocks; in fact, every kind of an article that would appeal to man, woman and child.

And these are only a small part of the concessions at the fair, which will operate day and night, and if the attendance today augurs well, a record will be broken this season.

According to officials, no blemished animals can be, or are being, exhibited. There are stallions, mares, weanling colts. They include Belgian, Shire and Clydesdale, heavy draft geldings and mares and ponies for the display children's day.

There are all kinds of bulls—Jerseys, Guernseys, Holsteins, Shorthorns, Herefords and Angus. Sheep, such as Delaine, Shropshire, Oxford, Southdown, Hampshire, Leicester, Dorset and Cheviot are displayed.

In the exhibit of swine there are Berkshires, Chester Whites, Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Hampshires.

Judging Contest

At one o'clock the Lawrence County Farm Bureau held judging contests on different classes of livestock raised by the Farm Bureau's boys and girls club and the awards will be announced later.

The poultry department, superintended by McClure Hartsell, contains all kinds of fowls, and in another department is the display of farm products such as seed corn, potatoes, beets, carrots, cabbage, cucumbers, onions, tomatoes, musk melons, watermelons, pumpkins, squash, corn, mangel wurtzels and fruits.

The Grange also has a household art display. Artistic arrangement and general appearance, quality of products, number of products and labeling call for points to be considered in the awards.

In another department there will be household science, such as canned goods, also cakes, frostings, cookies and household art, such as embroidery, satin stitch in white, eyelets in white, in colors, piano scarfs, hardanger, cross-stitch and hemstitching, Irish crochet, filet crochet, cotton crochet, in wool, knitting, tatting, towels, quilts, spreads, lace and insertion.

There is also an apiary exhibit, and in fact there is something for man, woman and child to see and enjoy at the fair this week.

the greatest success on their new field of labor.

Rev. Davis was deeply moved at this token of friendship and regard and stated that this occasion had been the brightest mile post in all the years of his ministry. He thanked the congregation for their kindness and courtesy during their stay with them. He said the Epworth people were a big hearted people who did big things with little fuss and he would always cherish the memory of the pleasant four years with them.

The event is considered to be one of the most pleasant farewell gatherings ever held in the history of the church and will long be remembered by all those who were present.

Will Be Missed

Not only will the congregation of the Epworth church regret to have Rev. Davis and his family leave the city, but countless friends throughout New Castle and community, as well.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis have always been ready to minister to the sick or any one in distress whenever they were called upon. During their stay here, Mrs. Davis has given much of her time to charitable work. She has always taken an active part in the societies of the church and Bible school and with her gifted musical talent has taken part in many concerts given in this city.

Miss Lucile Davis has been a tireless worker in the Young People's Sunday School Council of the New Castle District. Her work and influence will be much missed by the young people with whom she associated while here.

Telephone Rates Change Friday

No Protest Filed To Application Asking For Right To Make Changes

ANNUAL RECEIPTS WILL BE REDUCED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania today was making plans to put into effect Friday a new rate schedule. The new schedule of tariff for long distance service was approved by the public service commission. No protest was filed to the petition.

The new rates will bring about a decrease in the cost of calls to points 150 miles or more distant, while there will be a slight increase in tolls for points from 24 to 110 miles distant. Discontinuance of the midnight discount, changes in station to station rates and the period for night calls are included in the new schedule.

Estimates made by the Bell company show that gross annual receipts will be reduced $95,000 by the changes.

REPORT PROGRESS IN ONE EFFORT TO REACH MINERS

lieve they are less than 60 feet from the victims. If such is the case, it is believed that the men on the eighth level will be found alive.

A mine captain returning from the 21st level reported that his crew was making excellent progress there. He said he believed he could get to the 20th level by tomorrow. If the main shaft is not blocked at that point he will be able to ascend directly to the imprisoned men.

The diamond drill, for the emplacement of which it was necessary to blast through granite to the second level on the G. shaft, has required constant repair and little faith is pinned on it as a means of reaching the men.

Hear No Tappings

Although the officials of the Oliver Iron Mining Company have been sending out reports of tappings heard in the main shaft since last night, workers on the job discredit these announcements. Because of the apprehension held by relatives and friends of the men below, they serve to placate the townspeople here, although mumblings of dissatisfaction are to be heard on all sides.

A telegraph operator who descended the G. shaft to the emergency platform today came to the surface with the report that he could hear nothing which might be Morse code signals.

When your correspondent descended to this level a miner called his attention to what are called tappings. The sounds emanate from the black chasm below and might well be echoes of the sledge hammers pounding in the shaft above.

Despite the fact that a trained ear might be able to differentiate between echoes and original sounds, no miner in the shaft has been found by your correspondent who will admit that he believes them to be tappings as announced early this morning by company officials.

"There may be tappings, but I have not heard them", one veteran mine captain said after he had come up from an all-night vigil in the shaft. "I cannot believe that tappings could be heard because of the fact that earth and rock lie between us and the men and my experience in the mines has taught me that sounds will not come up above an obstruction of this kind".

However, company officials were not discouraged and promised a new gesture later today, when they planned to send a man into the shaft with a stethescope in an attempt to catch any sounds that may be coming up the slate walls of the opening.

Many Citizens Are Unprepared For Cold Snap

Sudden Drop In Temperature Keeps Coal Men And Heater Men On The Jump

Coming like a bolt out of the blue, the present cold snap has found many people unprepared.

Few had coal in their bins, and many who had taken this precaution, had neglected to have needed repairs made on their heaters. As a result there has been considerable suffering, and not a few are hurling imprecations at the weather man.

Now the coal men and the heater men are both on the jump. Everybody wants coal or heater repairs made at once. It is not so hard to get coal, but heater repairmen find it impossible to respond to all the calls at once.

One of the common annoyances of those who have furnaces in their homes is to find that the smoke stacks are full of little holes. They sweat and oxidize during the hot months, and often the damage is not discovered until it is time to make on a fire. There is a fortune in store for some one who can invent a smoke pipe, leading from the heater to the chimney, which will not oxidize. About the only way it can be prevented with the present smoke pipes, is to take them down and store them in some warm place during the summer.

While the weather has been extremely cold during the past few days, for this season of the year, the weather man is promising a rising temperature, and it looks as though his guess would be right, for it is considerably warmer today.

Accident Occurs On Wilmington Ave.

Cars Collide at Moody Avenue Intersection —College Boys In One Car

When the car driven by William Kaglik, 1803 Hanna street, this city (home address Hadley, Pa.) and that of R. T. Galbraith of 206 Leasure avenue came together last midnight at the intersection of Wilmington and Moody avenues, two persons sustained minor injuries and both cars were badly damaged.

Kaglik sustained several cuts while a boy named Millison, who was riding with him, sustained a cut on the head that necessitated the attention of a physician.

The police were notified that there had been a serious accident at Wilmington and Moody avenues and Officers Steiner and Samuels were detailed on the call.

They found that Kaglik was driving north on Wilmington avenue and that R. T. Galbraith was making a left hand turn when the accident occurred. According to the report of Kaglik, Galbraith did not make the regulation main thoroughfare stop on turning from Moody onto Wilmington avenue, while Mr. Galbraith reports that he stopped and seeing no car and believing that everything was all right, made the turn.

Kaglik had picked up three New Wilmington boys at Wallace avenue and was taking them to the college town. They were Millison, the man injured, J. G. Mark and J. D. Eagleson. The Kaglik machine was wrecked.

The officers found that Kaglik did not have a driver's license and this morning he was charged before Alderman O. H. P. Green by Chief of Police Henry Dysart with operating a car without a driver's license and paid a fine and costs.

Other Accidents.

As W. A. Stone of 317 Boyles avenue and his son Joseph were crossing Shenango street from the P. & L. E. station to the Dewberry gasoline station this morning, on foot, a car bearing Pennsylvania license 96-585 turning north on Shenango street from Washington street, ran into and hit the former. He was apparently not seriously hurt.

H. W. Craven reported this morning that while driving south on Moravia street in front of the New Castle Feed company place of business, a coal truck collided with and damaged his machine.

N. Allison, 411 Neshannock avenue, reported to the police Monday that while driving west on East North street his machine collided with another machine going in the same direction. Some damage was done.

G. Allshouse, 232 Stanton avenue Greensburg, Pa., reported today that while driving at South and Mill streets his car was in a collision with a car driven by Mrs. Mary Nader of 17 North Mill street.

As it started to go over the engineer, R. M. Thompson jumped and landed safely but with such force as to sustain some injuries to his feet and legs which however were not of a serious character.

The fireman Mark Hanna, was unable to get out before the engine landed on its side and he was burned by escaping steam before he was removed from the overturned engine. He was removed at once to the Shenango Valley hospital where he is reported to be doing as well as could be expected. The engine was not greatly damaged.

"Bootleg" Vinegar Sold In Kittanning

KITTANNING, Pa., Sept. 28.—A country-wide crusade against the sale of "bootleg" is being prosecuted here by agents of the Pennsylvania department of agriculture. Stores where vinegar is offered for sale are being visited and samples taken for analysis. As a result of the inquiry J. M.. Nichol of Indiana, special agent from Harrisburg, has lodged information against 14 dealers before Justice of the Peace Frank J. Atkins of Kittanning. They are charged with the violation of the act of the assembly regulating the sale of vinegar.

It is alleged that tests made by state chemists disclosed that vinegar sold in various places as "pure cider vinegar" was in fact distilled vinegar containing coloring matter.

HILARIOUS COMEDY FEATURE AT PENN ALSO STYLE SHOW

Those people who want a good laugh with their entertainment, and that includes almost everyone, can get a million laughs or more at "Kid Boots" which is at the Penn Theatre the first half of this week. With Eddie Cantor, the famous Broadway comedian in the leading role supported by that little imp Clara Bow, and the beautiful Billie Dove and Lawrence Gray, fight fans expect something out of the ordinary and they get it. "Kid Boots" is patterned after the famous stage comedy of the same name and it is funnier on the screen than on the stage. A part of the scenes are enacted on a golf course, and the way Cantor plays horse with the ancient and honorable game would give a real devotee of the game the shivers. But it is not all golf for their is two romances in "Kid Boots" and they keep you thinking to know what to expect next. It is a hilarious play and one that will linger long in the memory after it has gone.

The Jiles Shoppe presents an additional feature on the stage with a fall fashion revue that will stand out as a premier effort at displaying the newest in feminine apparel. New York models display all the dresses and they do their work well. The arrangement and the method of display is different than anything of the kind ever attempted here and it is a real feature.

To add additional spice to the program Neal Burns as the Daffy Dill is a real fun maker and the Kinograms is there with the latest in world news in pictures.

The Penn orchestra plays and gives appropriate music throughout the evening.

BARRING STUDENTS FROM COLLEGE

THERE were 4000 applicants to enter the freshman class at the University of Pennsylvania says a report from Philadelphia. It was the largest number on record at that institution. But only 1500 of the applicants were permitted to enter the University. This refers, of course, to the undergraduate or college department.

These figures are interesting for two reasons. First, because they show the enormous and ever-growing demand for a college education. And, second, because they indicate that colleges and universities are no longer striving to get students. Nearly all of them now have more students than they desire. That is a complete change from conditions only a few years ago.

Once mere size of a college was held up as the measure of its worth. The bigger the better was a popular belief. That theory has been proved woefully wrong. Given a certain equipment in buildings and endowments, a college can properly look after the welfare of a given number of students. All students beyond that must mean a decrease in that degree of personal contact which is of the highest value in education.

So it is no longer a case of the biggest being the best. Colleges are measured correctly only when their facilities per student are measured. Other standards fall before that vital one and college authorities now very generally admit it.

Pennsylvania is only one of many institutions which now turn away students. Are these boys and girls who are denied admission to lose their chance of a higher education? And how do colleges sift the wheat from chaff in making their selections? If by a scholarship test alone, then it must happen that in thousands of cases the most potential talent is cast aside. Often the one who would reap most by a college education knocks at the door illy prepared in scholarship, due to financial inability to pay for a better schooling.

A new problem has arisen in things educational that is going to be a difficult one to solve, it seems.

WE CANNY AMERICANS

WHATEVER else those who do not like us may say they never come to the point of calling us goofs or gumps. Non-Americans today think of us as most Americans thought of the good citizenry of Connecticut a generation ago. Out repute for being canny, astute, sagacious, even sly, is monumental, perhaps indestructible. Even what happened at Philadelphia Thursday cannot deprive us of our national renown.

Yet we are interested not so much in what happened Thursday as in what was observed immediately after Thursday. Some hundreds of male Americans were noted walking the streets of Philadelphia headed nowhither in particular because they had no place to go. They had come to see the prize fight, and, finding a chance to bet on the champion, blithely wagered all they had, including the price of return railroad tickets. Friday the Philadelphia charities were swamped with requests for aid, and telegraph offices were overwhelmed with pleas to send collect messages to folks back home beseeching funds. Perhaps the blind baggage was popular, but reports of this are not at hand. Anyway, not one of the stranded hundreds wished to stay in Philadelphia permanently.

Now of all large exhibitions of lack of sagacity this wins the blue ribbon asserts the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Philadelphia is doing its best to get rid of its non-paying guests by advancing money to such as are "worthy," whatever that means. Judged by standards of good horse sense the "worthy" in such a batch would be hard to identify.

Let Europe, deeming us all so wise and cautious and Caledonian, take a look at the Philadelphia flotsam. And if Philadelphia is too far away let Europe look at the 2,000 Americans who are hungry in Paris because they came to Europe and spent all they had and can't get home.

SIMPLE THINGS

I like to fling the doorway wide
and bid a friend come in,
I like to have a blazing fire in which
my dreams to spin,
I like an easy chair at times and
books to read at night,
A little garden space outside with
blossoms red and white,
A bowl of soup and home-made
bread, a yellow bird that sings,
For happiness, it seems to me, is
born of simple things.

Oh, I could write a thousand charms
I've seen along the way.
A red geranium in a pot, a little child at play,
A maple tree in scarlet dressed, a
patch of summer sky,
The blush upon a maiden's cheek,
the twinkle in her eye,
All these have set my blood aglow
and never lost their fire,
For life is filled with countless joys
of which we never tire.

We weary of the fame we win and
sicken of our gold,
The joy which once we thought they had they do not seem to hold,
But man can sit with friends tonight and watch the faggots
burn
And want them all to come again
and wait for their return,
And when October tints once more
an old familiar tree
There's none so bored by beauty
but will turn his eyes to see.

No man grows weary of his fire, his
books and easy chair,
The roses he has brought to bloom
to him are always fair,
The more familiar joys become the
deeper grows his love.
Who wearies of a lovely moon and all the stars above?
So mindful of the thrill of power
and all that money brings
It seems to me the lasting joys are born of simple things.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:48. Sun rises tomorrow 5:54.

Hundreds of people were stranded in Philadelphia after the prize fight and had to be fed and their transportation paid home by some one. It's not all a pudding it seems.

Reading a whole lot don't seem to make a bit of improvement on a lot of people. A club would help a lot more.

It is now claimed that Dempsey may never fight Tunney again. If Dempsey keeps up his past reputation it will be some time at least before he will allow himself to be forced into a scrap.

We like cold weather better than hot weather. Some folks would be mean enough to say we prefer it because we are fat, which we are not. We sure got some good sweats this summer and we did not have to go to a Turkish bath for 'em either. Of course we cannot have a garden in cold weather so will tolerate the hot stuff.

Yet even an efficiency expert may squeeze a tube of tooth paste in the middle instead of at the end.

A big mail order house man in Chicago declares that prohibition is making this country prosperous. His house does not handle hootch and no doubt is getting a lot more business than formerly from those who should be patronizing the merchants in their home cities.

It is not the woman with the most gold in her teeth who has the dearest smile.

A quarantine is to be placed on several kinds of nuts now being imported to this country from Europe. The quarantine, however, is to be confined to the kind of nuts that grow on trees and not the humans who can readily be named such.

The operators in 2,000 beauty shops in Chicago are going on a strike for more money, less hours and less work. Beauty shops are more important now than saloons were so it will be a great calamity if peace is not soon declared.

Why does a man always prefer to see some other fellow's sister pictured in her gymnasium costume? Who can say?

South Dakota has a cigarette law which brings that state a fine revenue. Last year $380 was collected on it. A tax like that in Pennsylvania would pave all the secondary and by-way roads in the state in a few years.

The girl who boasts that she can dress in ten minutes frequently looks as if she had thrown herself together in five. Maybe less than that.

When a man's wife asks him to go with her to the fruit cellar and see what she has put into cans for the winter, he should go at once and admire her work enthusiastically. He can leave his rough comment until the time comes to eat it and his wife will not be tired and proud of her work by that time It's best not to make any rough comment even then.

The "High Life Party" of Illinois will support candidates for all public offices on a platform of "Give the people all they want to eat and drink—especially drink, and let joy be unconfined." This party also wants the president of the United States elected by the direct vote of the people. We are betting some of the birds in that party do not know how presidents are elected now. It will be fine when that party gets what it thinks it wants.

A woman has really accomplished something when she can bake pancakes her husband will compliment.

A lot of airplanes were wrecked last week while carrying pictures of the fight in Philadelphia to other cities. Perhaps Providence was taking a hand.

Why is a woman happy when her husband has to sit beside the oldest lady in the dinner party?

An old man, traveling a lone highway,
Came at the evening cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim
For the sullen stream held no fears for him,
But he turned when he reached the other side
And builded a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," cried a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here:
Your journey will end with the ending day
And you never again will pass this way.
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"

And the builder raised his old gray head.
"Good friend, on the path I have come," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet will pass this way.
This stream, which has been as naught to me,
To that fair-haired boy may a pitfall be.
He too must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

Then there is the patriot who raises dahlias for the pleasure there is in it. And what wonderful blooms they can produce. A few days ago we had presented to us a bouquet of more than a dozen different varieties of dahlias by Mrs. A. L. Thayer of Lincoln avenue. It was hard to tell which one was the prettiest. It gave us a great deal of pleasure.

It is said that kissing was popular as a form of love and caress centuries ago. We are glad that it is even more popular now and we sincerely hope it will conintue to grow in popularity as long as we are here.

At a convention of the trade in Montreal, plasterers were ranked as among the greatest artists in the world. And indeed they are. The way they have been able to get it the past years since the war shows a development that is the very finesse of artistic endeavor.

A college in the west reports that it has sold every ticket for every game to be played at home this season. It is only at the end of the football year that we hear the college presidents gravely discussing the abolition of football.

Visitors from the old country claim to find numerous people in Ireland who live to be 100 years old and over. Fighting and whisky together is a great combination to keep people alive and kicking.

If the Sesqui Centennial could stage a fight every week it wouldn't need to keep open on Sunday for the revenue that's in it.

Beauty shop employes in Chicago demand $35 a week wages or they will strike. It takes a lot of money to make people in Chicago beautiful and perhaps a lot of work.

Donora, Pa., comes to the front with the boast that they have not had a fire there for 52 days. We could say the same thing too until Saturday night when there were about 10,000 fires started in New Castle.

Helping the southern storm sufferers is the finest kind of home missionary work and the Red Cross is asking aid. If New Castle was to be afflicted outside aid would be given, so let us all be generous and help Florida now.

We begin to see why the European nations fight so many wars. It is the easiest way they have of opening a charge account.

There are millions of plums in Lawrence county this year and a number of different varieties are on display at the New Castle fair but there isn't a political plum in the whole lot.

Caste means little in this country. Many lowly men are fathers of youths who are the greatest football stars.

The question now is where will there be a run-off between Dempsey and Tunney?

There seems to be a grave question which is greatest help to channel swimmers, tugs or children.

The biggest objection to forgiving the European nations their war debts, is that the American citizen, and many of them in very humble circumstances would be assuming the debt. A good part of the money owing to the United States is being carried by individuals in Liberty Loan bonds, and the only way these could be met would be through increased taxation, and we all know how much time and trouble Congress has been put to to get some reductions in taxes the past several years.

Ford's Five Day Week.
Wages and Hours.
Business, Not Sentiment.
Slaves For All of Us.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1926, by N. Y. American, Inc.

Henry Ford announces five-day week for working people in all his plants, and that means about 50 industries, coal mines, iron mines, lumber camps, factories, machine shops, etc.

Some years ago, when the average man was "well paid" with $2.50 a day for 10 hours, Ford announced $5 as the minimum for an eight-hour day. Next he made the minimum $6. Now he reduces the working week to five days, and intends that every good man shall earn in five days as much as he has earned hitherto in six days.

As practical as his own machines, disclaiming any philanthropic motive, Mr. Ford shows that national prosperity demands high wages and short hours.

"The industry of this country could not long exist if factories generally went back to the 10-hour day, because the people would not have the leisure, the desire or the means to consume the goods produced. A workman would have little use for an automobile if he had to be in the shop from dawn until dusk."

The eight-hour day opened the way to prosperity in America, says Ford, "and so the five-day week will open our way to a still greater prosperity."

Ford sees the humanitarian side of his plan, and values that, just as he values his own work day of about 14 hours.

"There is a humanitarian side to the shorter day, and shorter week, but dwelling on that side is likely to get one in trouble, for then leisure may be put before work instead of after work—where it belongs."

Things must be done gradually, according to Ford and others that know. "Twenty years ago," says he, "introducing the eight hour day generally would have made for poverty and not for wealth."

Five years ago, introducing the five day week would have had the same result.

Ford's industrial genius reveals itself brilliantly in his brief statement. "Make your machines work as long and as hard as they can be made to work profitably. At least 18 hours a day, for machinery and as many days in the year as possible. Work your men not more than eight hours a day and as few days as possible."

* * *

The example set by Ford and other intelligent, not sentimental, employers could start a better era in our industrial feudalism. If powerful men would interest themselves in their men as they do in their expensive machinery and their dividends, the day of strikes and sabotage would soon be ended.

Laboring men only ask for a decent human life, fair play, education and opportunity for their children, and reasonable leisure to enjoy the earnings of their hard work.

The marvel is that men have worked so patiently through the ages, content with just enough to keep alive and go on breeding for the next generation of exploiters.

The five-day week will come, and the day shorter than eight hours, as better machinery and better organization make long hours unnecessary.

Prosperity will increase for big and little men. Once a man was rich and happy when he had many human slaves working for him. Industrial intelligence will make it possible for all men to enjoy sufficient wealth, leisure and real happiness when all have machinery, slaves of steel, working for them.

WE ALWAYS FIND TIME—

To do the thing we want to do if we want to badly enough.
For pleasures easier than we find time for duties.
Dies hard for the man who has to loaf to kill it.
To listen to the man who has a compliment for us.
To get our boys out of jail even if we did not have time to chum with them.
To knock an administration even when we don't have time to vote.
To do the regretting after we neglect a friendship for lack of time.

Commander Harold T. Bartlett, who has been chosen to succeed the late Commander John Rodgers in the field of long range scouting by aircraft, is one of the veterans of the United States naval aviation service. He took up aviation in 1914, three years after his graduation from Annapolis, and his service since that time has included duty at sea on various battleships as a pilot of planes and on catapulting planes from on board naval vessels. During the World war he served with the British and French air forces abroad. In 1918 he commanded the naval aviation training school at Montchic, France. Commander Bartlett holds a pilot's license for seaplanes and the expert pilot's license issued by the National Aeronautical Association.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

TOO YOUNG TO KNOW

Herbert Hoover is a strange sort of politician.

When he makes a speech he usually says something worth thinking about.

In a late utterance he pointed out that the aim of education should be to produce normal children, but that as yet no one knows what a normal child is.

The child a prize fighter would pick as normal and the one a poet would choose would be entirely different in character.

The standard in normalcy depends upon the individual who does the picking.

"In our image" is the usual guiding motto.

Beyond a few fundamentals — such as good health and an active mind—men run into disagreement.

The reason we do not know what a normal child is like is because we do not know what a normal man is like, because behind it all we do not know what we are here for.

What was man put on this whirling globe in space for, anyway?

What is his biggest job here?

He is placed here without definite instructions. He finds himself groping around trying to understand what he is to do, what he is to be, what he is here for?

On such questions we get an infinite variety of personal opinions, but no proved answers—a multitude of sparks, but no steady flame.

We do not know absolutely whether Jack Dempsey, Sergeant York, Eugene V. Debs, or Percy Bysshe Shelley comes nearest to living the kind of life men are intended to live on our earth.

We can only watch, think, and come to our own conclusions.

In terms of planets, our earth is young. Man is still younger. Civilization and thought are younger yet. Humanity is nearer its source than its ending.

The earth will go spinning through space—a great laboratory wherein men will work out their experiments and their destiny, if we accept the word of scientists—for some billions of years.

In that time the answers to the great questions: What am I? Why was I put here? What am I supposed to become? may be found.

We do not know them now. Perhaps because we are too young to know.

Bible Thought For Today

PRAYER FOR WISDOM:—So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. Psalm 90:12.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

OFTEN AT CROSS-PURPOSES

The language of the United States of America, and of Great Britain is supposed to be the same English language, but it is not. Let any American visit England for the first time, and the difference will immediately become very apparent. The American will frequently misunderstand the Englishman, and vice versa. The American will find that both he and the Englishman use the same words. These words will be found in the dictionaries of London and New York, with perhaps the exception of some of the slang used by each. Any profanity used by the other will be easily understood, but the ordinary words of conversation, words that are perfectly good English, will be given entirely different values, depending upon the viewpoint of the Englishman, and the viewpoint of the American.

The English word for "Elevator" is pretty well known in the United States; he calls it a "Lift". But take the word "Truck". The Englishman applies it to a freight car on a railway, a use utterly foreign to the American viewpoint. When the American speaks of a "Truck" he is talking about a motor vehicle upon the highway. The Englishman calls that a "Lorry" The Englishman has another use for the word "Truck"; he speaks of the "Truck Acts" of Parliament which were passed to end the system of company stores, which has always been a cause of labor disturbances in both England and the United States. "Truck" in that connection referred to the charging up the workman, against his wages, with his purchases at the company's store. The Truck Acts of Great Britain forbid any deduction from wages for articles supplied by the employer.

When the American speaks of an "Apartment" in a hotel, he is referring to a high priced series of living rooms, housed in company with other similar series, under a single roof. To the Englishman the word "Apartment" conveys the idea of shabby, genteel lodgings. When he wishes to refer to ultra fashionable quarters of the sort to which the American might refer, he speaks of a "Flat". To the American "Flat" is anything but that of which he might be proud.

The Englishman will never speak of a man broken in fortunes, as "Flat Broke". He might use the word "Flat" in the same sense that the American does, and say that a certain drink is "flat", meaning that it has lost its taste and is stale. He may say that business is "flat", meaning that it is not particularly good, nobody buying except what he absolutely needed, and the American can understand that.

In this connection, and this is the thing that I wish the Americans would take home to themselves, I would emphasize the fact that when English newspapers talk about things American, the American is apt to take offense too easily, because he thinks he knows always exactly what the editorial writer means. Vice versa, the Englishman does not know how to discount the exaggerated statements made by American writers, who use a language that has to be interpreted to an Englishman before he does understand it.

If this is true about two people speaking the same language, some allowance should be made the French people for their misinterpretation of the American language, and American ideas, and the French should be a little more considerate in interpreting words of Americans.

POEMS HOVE

By CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"Sanctuary," By Aline Kilmer

Mrs. Kilmer is the widow of Joyce Wilmer, who wrote "Trees." She is a genuine poet, and has moments of inspiration. This is the result of such a mood, I think.

God has builded a House with a low lintel,
And in it He has put all manner of things.
Follow the clue through the mazes that lead to His door,
Look in! Look in! See what is there for our finding.
Peace is there like a pearl, and rest and the end of seeking;
Light is there and refreshment.
But there shall be more:
There we shall find for our use wide, beautiful wings,
Ecstasy, solitude, space; and for those who have been too lonely,
The love of friends, the warmth of a homely fire.
Oh, never grieve again for the piteous ending
Of loveliness that could not be made to last:
There all bright passing beauty is held forever
Free from the sense of tears—to be loved without regret.
There we shall find at their source music and love and laughter,
Color and subtle fragrance and soft incredible textures.
Be sure we shall find what our weary hearts desire.
If we are tired of light, there shall be velvet darkness,
Falling over long fields, with stars, and a low voice calling,
Calling at last the word we thought would never be spoken.

But we, being hard and foolish and proud and mortal,
Are slow to bend and enter that humble portal.

Religious Tide Seen Growing In U. S. Army

Church Attendance Is On Increase Among Soldiers, Chaplain's Report

Big Increase In Chapel Service In Past Year Is Shown By Figures

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—While a crime wave is abounding through the country a religious tide is enveloping Uncle Sam's fighting men.

Church attendance is increasing remarkably and an era of chapel building is now under way in the army, says Chief Chaplain J. T. Axton. Navy chaplains report the same experience.

The trend is regarded as a legacy of the World war and is not checked by the widespread activity for a greater national defense, Axton declared. Army leaders are planning to cite church attendance figures to support their contention that the teaching of preparedness does not create a militaristic class bent on forcing the nation into war.

Search For Cause.

In searching out the cause of the 25 per cent boost in attendance at army chapel services last year, Chaplain Axton went back to Civil war days. He found that immediately after that war there was a lull in things religious in the army and a few years later chapels were being built at army posts all over the country.

"The percentage of officers, their wives and soldiers attending church in the army posts is undoubtedly much larger than in cities, larger than 20,000," said Chaplain Axton, "and it probably equals the attendance in smaller communities."

Work has started or plans are well under way for building $100,000 chapels at Fort Smelling Minn., Plattsburgh Barracks, N. Y., and Fort Bragg, N. C., funds being raised by popular subscription within and without the army. Chapels recently were dedicated at San Juan, Porto Rico and Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Church Attendance.

Church attendance in the army last year was listed at nearly 2,500,000, an increase of more than 500,000 over the previous year, and final reports for the fiscal year ending July 1 will show a still further increase, Chaplain Axton said.

So rapid has been the rise of interest in religious affairs in the army that the chief chaplain is urging the budget director to make provision for 25 more in the next fiscal year.

TIMELY VIEWS on WORLD TOPICS

PROHIBITION HAS REDUCED DRINKING NINETY PER CENT

By IRVING FISHER,
Professor Of Economics At Yale University In His New Book, "Prohibition At Its Worst"

Emory R. Buckner, United States District Attorney in New York, presented estimates at the subcommittee hearings in Washington, purporting to show that the diversion of industrial alcohol probably reached 60,000,000 gallons a year. This was unexpected, and, of course, was good "news" for the press.

PROF. FISHER

Dr. J. M. Doren, Chief Chemist of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and in charge of the department dealing with this phase of the situation, presented a most excellent and elaborate analysis of Buckner's erroneous reasoning, and also a study showing the diversion of industrial alcohol for beverage purposes to be between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 gallons a year, and probably between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000, or only 8 to 9 per cent of the prewar consumption of beverage alcohol.

It must also be remembered that not all of the alcohol diverted is consumed. Between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 gallons have been recaptured and confiscated. Leakage, breakage and evaporation will account for almost as much more. The result is that probably illegal consumption of alcohol from diverted industrial alcohol is less than 8 per cent of pre-prohibition legal consumption, and, therefore, still less than 8 per cent of the total pre-prohibition consumption, legal and illegal.

To this must, of course, be added the alcohol smuggled into the country and distilled or brewed absolutely; but all experts agree that all put together, they constitute a minor part of illegal liquor far less than that from diversion of industrial alcohol—that is, far less than 8 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

After an examination of all the data, I have estimated that the flow of alcohol down human throats in the United States is at present certainly less than 16 per cent, probably less than 10 per cent and possibly less than 5 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

An entirely independent estimate has been made by Robert A. Corradini, statistician of the World League Against Alcoholism. This is based on the assumption that the samples seized by the Treasury Department represent a true cross-section of the liquor on the market, of which the legal portion is known. This calculation has not yet been published; but all experts who have seen it can find no serious flaw in it, except the possibility that the samples seized are not representative. Carradini's result indicates that the total consumption is less than 3 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

It seems safe to conclude that the total consumption today is probably not over one-tenth of pre-prohibition consumption.

IRELAND HAPPY AND PROSPERING UNDER NEW REGIME

By TIMOTHY SMIDDY,
Irish Free State Minister To The U. S., In An Interview

Ireland is making good. She has laid the foundation for a sound industrial and agricultural development and is going about it with high spirit and with splendid hope.

It is wrong to think or speak of Ireland as poor. She does not need capital; what she needs most of all is industrial leadership. Ireland as a country is rich. Her people have deposits in foreign lands alone which draw annual interest of $55,000,000. Her national debt, which is only approximately $75,000,000, is lower relatively, I believe, than that of any other country. Her budget balances and she is coping with her farm problem by means of sane legislation.

It is wrong to think of the Ireland of today as the sad land of two decades ago. She is no longer a sad country, but a happy country—as happy and contented as any country in Europe.

U. S. MUST REVISE HER DEBT CLAIMS AGAINST EUROPE

By RAYMOND FOSDICK,
Noted Lawyer, In An Interview.

The bitterness all Europeans feel toward us as a nation proves that what we shall be able to get out of Europe in the way of debt payments will not be worth the price.

They believe America has been a little stupid in the matter and their political leaders make them believe that it has been handled much more badly than is really the case. The result is that the entire populations resent our attitude.

It is disillusioning for an American to go abroad and see how things have changed. When I was over there with the soldiers I wasn't allowed to pay for anything. People insisted that because I was an American I take things for nothing. Now the reverse is true.

Whenever a U. S. senator says something against Europe in connection with the debts, the people over there never stop to think that it is an individual speaking. They take it as the feeling of the entire senate.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

J. V. STALIN.

Behind the kaleidoscope of Soviet politics, which recently has sent some well-known figures tumbling, stands a new power in the person of Stalin, the name he took, which means the "Man of Steel." He is the Russian counterpart of an American political boss, the head of the machine, the power behind the principal actors of the Soviet drama today, according to report reaching England.

M. STALIN

He sent Trotzky into exile and called him back again. He directed Djerjinsky, the head of the ferocious Cheka, the secret police, who recently died under mysterious circumstances. He sent Zinovieff down from power and was behind the dismissal of Kameneff from his place as chief of the commissariat of trade. His name is Josef Djugashvili.

He is a big man and dour. He is a blusfering, rough and impetuous leader, who wins through discipline or cajolery. Lenin was his first idol and still is his example. But Stalin is a practical man of politics, who does not let fine theories stand in his way.

In his hands Soviet Russia probably is on the edge of many changes which will make it fit more smoothly into the society of other nations, for Stalin is neither a bigot nor a fanatic.

He has made himself deliberately a man of greatest mystery. For years he boasted that he had never given out an interview.

He has been a revolutionist since 1905, when he took active part in bloody fighting in the Caucasus, for which he was arrested by the czar's police and exiled to Siberia. But he came back and worked several years, quietly and smoothly with Lenin.

It was his task, when the Soviet union was formed, to placate the so-called "outer nationalities," the states surrounding the fringes of Central Russia which were declared free and independent by the Soviets, but which had, above all else, to be kept within the Soviet circle.

Then Stalin was promoted to become secretary of the Communist party, which controls the Soviet government, and there again his diplomacy, judgment and political sense won for him a conspicuous success.

He is gathering the fruits of it now, for his secretaryship gave him control of the Soviet political machine, the "steam roller," which he now steers over the earlier officers.

Joseph Trax Returns Home

FIRES SALUTE DURING PARADE

Comrade Joseph Trax of West Washington street, member of the Second Cavalry during Civil War days, and who has been one of the outstanding figures of each national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for many years, returned home Saturday night from Des Moines, Ia., where he attended the most recent national encampment, accompanied by his faithful Custer cannon, with which he fired a salute during the encampment parade.

Tired but happy, and perhaps a little the worse for wear on account of his physical condition, Comrade Trax stated this morning that it was the most delightful national encampment that he ever participated in.

He was especially extravagant in his praise of the Sons of Veterans of the convention city, because as he says, they left nothing undone to make the old soldiers comfortable. They saw to it that cars were provided to take them to their hotels and also to points of interest. They also saw to it that their hotel bills were paid.

En route from Chicago to Des Moines the special on which he was traveling and to which were attached the cars of the Maryland Division headquarters, of which he is an official member, a flood was encountered and it was found necessary to make a detour of 100 miles.

It rained on the day of the encampment parade, but a truck was provided for him and the Daughters of Veterans, who were to pull his cannon, and he fired a salute from the truck.

In a collection given him for powder he found a $10 gold piece, which he advertised, but no owner appeared. The collection amounted to $23.

One of the outstanding pleasures of the encampment for Comrade Trax was the fact that he was permitted to issue commands to 1,200 mounted cavalrymen of the United States army and did so with credit to himself.

One of the things brought back was the encampment badge given out at the Pennsylvania headquarters, and a part of which is a replica of the Liberty Bell. Special badges were issued to the men from each state and each had some object emblematic of some historical event in the state attached to it. His picture and that of his cannon were carried in the papers of Des Moines.

Reports Apple Tree Again In Blossom

Backward season reported quite generally throughout this district does not appear to have prevailed, as far as a Ohio Nonpareil apple tree on the Dr. G. A. Smith property at New Wilmington, Pa., is concerned.

The tree not only has a large crop of perfect fruit on it at the present time, but is now giving forth its second series of blooms for the present year. The new blossoms and the ripe fruit are on the tree in abundance at the present time.

It is attracting widespread interest in the New Wilmington district and is the first occurence of the kind to be reported this season. Four fine apples from the tree, as well as some of the blossoms, were presented to The News.

The meeting was well attended, as more than 200 people were present.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

St. Petersburg, Fla.,
September 24, 1926.

Mr. Fred Rentz, Editor
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

My dear Mr. Rentz:

The thought occurred to my brother-in-law, Oliver Moore, formerly of New Castle, Pa., now associated with us here in St. Petersburg, that perhaps some of our many friends in New Castle would like to get some real, truthful information about the hurricane which recently swept Miami, Ft. Lauderdale and other portions of Florida.

The death list was greatly exaggerated. The latest figures compiled by officials and thoroughly reliable and accurate information, states that the total death list of the whole storm swept area was only 238 as against reports that went out of more than 1,500 perished. There was approximately 11,000 injured. The following list of deaths was published in today's St. Petersburg Times:

Moore Haven, 126.
Miami and immediate vicinity, 109.
Hollywood and immediate vicinity, 54.
Fort Lauderdale, 19.
Hialeah, 22.
Dania, 11.
Fulford, 8.
Seaboard Park, 7.
Ingleside, 3.
Hallandale, 2.
Homestead, 2.
Pompano, 2.

This report states than an accurate check of the dead at Clewiston and Progresso still remain to be made.

Property loss was given as follows:

Greater Miami district, including Miami Beach, Coral Gables and Cocoanut Grove, $100,000,000, estimated by Miami's Chamber of Commerce.

Hialeah, $15,000,000, estimated by Mayor Grethen.

Hollywood and Dania, $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 estimated by J. W. Young, developer of Hollywood.

Fort Lauderdale, $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 estimated by city officials.

The total damage from Miami to Pensacola and Mobile is estimated at $165,000,000.

There was only one life lost in St. Petersburg which was caused by a live wire electrocuting a child 18 months old, after the storm. The property damage in St. Petersburg would not amount to more than $100,000, and this consists largely in damage caused by water from leaking roofs. St. Petersburg has been doing business as usual since the storm with the exception that we are out of telephones on account of a fire in the telephone exchange building. This will be remedied within a few days.

There are many people in New Castle who are interested in St. Petersburg and will be glad to know that St. Petersburg was so fortunate. Miami is getting back to normal very rapidly and the whole state is sending food supplies and money to the storm stricken area on the East Coast. The whole West Coast of Florida and Central Florida was fortunate indeed.

Many of your readers are interested in Gainsville, Florida and we wish to state that Gainsville was untouched by the storm. The same is true about Perry, Fla.

We trust you will publish this letter for it is accurate information and will be of interest to many of your readers who invested money in Florida. Miami, Hollywood, Coral Gables and Fort Lauderdale which were badly hit by the storm, will rebuild bigger, better and stronger than ever. The damage in other places in Florida was greatly exaggerated.

With kind personal regards, I remain

Yours Sincerely,
W. McKEE KELLEY.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

George Clarke, a celebrated negro minstrel, on one occasion when being examined as a witness was interrogated severely by a lawyer.

"You are in the minstrel business, I believe?" inquired the lawyer.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Is that not rather a low calling?"

"I don't know but what it is, sir," replied the minstrel, "but it is so much better than my father's that I am proud of it."

The lawyer fell into the trap.

"What was your father's calling?" he inquired.

"He was a lawyer," replied Clarke.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28. — New Castle is one of the few cities and large boroughs of the state to show increases in the amount of building for this year over 1925. Figures compiled by the Department of Labor and Industry show an increase of about $150,000 in construction for the city for the first eight months of this year as compared with last.

During August New Castle showed an increase of 112 per cent over the same month of 1925. During last month 62 permits were issued for work estimated to cost $324,065 as compared with 89 permits last year for work costing $152,570.

Since the frist of the year city officials have issued 588 permits for work to cost $1,829,255 while last year for the same period 845 permits were granted at an estimated cost of $1,676, 405.

FASHION REVUE PLEASES THRONG

Jiles Shoppe Presents Style Show In Penn Theatre Monday Evening

Monday evening the Elite of New Castle turned out "en masse" to witness the Fashion Revue at the Penn Theatre conducted by the Jiles Shoppe of this city and displayed by professional mannequins.

The affair was a huge success as evidenced by the large audience, and a triumph for the Jiles Shoppe for the brilliance of the costumes shown.

Feminine New Castle has never witnessed anything quite so elaborate, reaching a climax that drew forth audible whispers and enthusiasm, when the final scene ushered in the evening gown number. All of them being importations, it was truly a scene that deserved exclamations of delight, the gowns being of such rare beauty.

The card announcements made by two little children, Lorena Jean and Baby McGregor, children of Dr. McGregor, of Butler, Pa., made a decided hit with the audience by their adorable appearance.

The stage was beautifully arranged by some rare art fitments that will remain at the Penn Theatre until Wednesday evening.

Squire Gilmore Awards Claim

Squire A. H. Gilmore, dean of the Neshannock township legal forces, heard the famous oatfield case this morning in his court on the Wilmington road. The plaintiff in the case, Henry Price, claimed $50 damages from the Perrysville Development company and after weighing the testimony, Squire Gilmore awarded judgment to the plaintiff in the amount asked. The defendant will appeal.

The case grew out of the alleged actions of the Perrysville Development company in laying out streets and avenues through an oats field some five acres in size, planted by Mr. Price. When the reaper went to harvest the crop he found stakes up so high that he could not cut it.

Rubber Company Legality Case Again In Court

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Sept. 28.—The legality of the $100,000,000 refinancing plan of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company, which was attacked four years ago, again goes into the courts here today.

An action requesting that the litigation be reopened was begun by Frank C. Tomlinson, a stockholder, seeking review in the courts of a "settlement" of six stockholders' suits here in 1923 on the grounds that it was reached without any evidence or arguments being heard by the court.

While no confirmation has been obtained it is common gossip here that interests favorable to the former management of the company are backing Tomlinson's case in order to wrest control from the banking group headed by Dillon, Reid & Co.

The principal point of attack is the 10,000 shares of management stock, held in trust by Clarence Dillon and Woen Young, New York, and John Sherwin, Cleveland, by virtue of which the bankers control the company.

Suits already are pending in the Ohio supreme court alleging that the management stock is illegal.

Queen Cleans House As King Goes Hunting

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Queen Mary always the thrifty housewife, has just been enjoying her annual house-cleaning. While King George has been shooting record bags of grouse, she has taken advantage of his absence to give Buckingham Palace a real "turn-out."

There are no half measures about it. Not only is every room thoroughly cleaned, but every piece of furniture is moved and any accumulated dust removed. The cupboards are the Queen's only province. Dressed in real workaday clothes, armed with a duster and feather brush, she personally removed every article of china, dusted it and carefully replaced it. Some pieces were left out, to be sent to other royal palaces that might accommodate them better. They have been replaced by other pieces bought by the Queen at the antique shops she so delights in visiting.

After this, the store rooms. Here the Queen carefully checks off the list of articles and inspects all the linen. Some of it is put aside to be given away. In its place the Queen makes a careful list of renewels required.

Buchingham Palace finished, the Queen went on to Sandringham, with a housewifely glint in her eye. Sandringham was in a somewhat worse condition because it has been a trifle neglected since the death of Queen Alexandra.

But with the joy of a young wife entering a new home, Queen Mary attacked those dusty ornaments and pictures. She did not worry to go back to York Cottage for luncheon. She just had a little cold food sent over from York Cottage and after ten minutes returned to the fray with renewed zest.

By the time the day's work was finished she returned to York Cottage thoroughly begrimed.

Kennedy was given from one to six years and Weimer from two to seven years in the Western penitentiary. They pleaded guilty to eight indictments, and it is said could have been sent up for about 35 years if the full limit had been given.

Kennedy and Weimer were engaged in the most extensive hen roost robbing ever known in that section of the county. The chickens stolen are said to have been sold in Ellwood City and other places.

Those who made charges, together with the number of chickens stolen from each and the value, as shown by the indictments, were as follows.

R. H. Nye, 40 chickens, value $60.

R. E. Weller, 12 chickens, value $18.

Roy Cleland, 15 chickens, value $22.50.

John Brenneman, 30 chickens, value $25.

R. E. Weller, 14 chickens, value $21.

George Magee, 40 chickens, value $30.

William McCartney, 60 chickens, value $45.

William Thomas, 35 chickens, value $43.75.

Farmers in that section of the county will be very much relieved to know that the wholesale chicken stealing, which has been going on for some time will be stopped

Can't Eat, Can't Sleep, Man Wins Victory

"I had gas on the stomach so bad that I couldn't keep food down and used to toss in bed all night. After taking one bottle of Adlerika, I eat anything and sleep like a log".—R. C. Miller.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria".

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results".

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika".

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system".

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose".

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In New Castle at Love & Megown's.

COLON POISONING BRINGS OLD AGE

DESTROYS HEALTH AND CAUSES THE PREMATURE DEGENERATION OF ALL VITAL ORGANS

You are a wise man or woman if you understand your colon and keep it in perfect, working order. Health, happiness, vigor and long life are the gifts which an active colon give you—and lazy colon takes away.

Your colon is the last five feet of your digestive canal. It is your sewerage system your garbage can, so to speak. Keep it clean and you are well and happy; let it stagnate and it will distill the poisons of decay, fermentation (gas) and putrefaction into your blood, poisoning your brain and nerves so that you are restless, irritable and blue; poisoning your heart so that you are weak, listless and lazy; poisoning your lungs so that your breath is heavy or foul; poisoning your stomach and digestive organs so that you are bloated, belching and uncomfortable; poisoning your and uncomfortable with gas pains; poisoning your blood so that your skin looks yellow, sallow, unhealthy; poisoning every part and organ of your body through your blood, making you look old and ugly long before your time; making your joints and back stiff and rheumatic; your eyes dull and your brain sluggish.

By the perfect law of nature, your colon should empty itself three times a day—within an hour after eating. Does your colon work that well? If not, it has lost its tone. What do you mean by tone? Your colon is a hollow muscle. Its walls are made up of long, muscle-fibres or muscle cells, which by their contraction, empty the colon just as you squeeze a rubber hose pipe. These muscle fibres should contract three times a day—within an hour after each meal. If they do not contract they have lost their power to contract.

But there is a practically perfect remedy for lazy, flabby colons. This remedy quickly restores the tone, is absolutely harmless and decidedly pleasant to take. Clip this article and take it to your druggist. Tell him to give you a bottle of World's Tonic. It will cost you one dollar.

You will be delighted with World's Tonic for it will make you feel like a different person. Your eyes will sparkle with vitality and alertness, your brain will be clean and active; your complexion will be fresh and transparent, reflecting the purity of your blood; your digestion will be thorough and your appetite keen, for your food will taste delightful, and agree with you; you will sleep and awake refreshed, your system will be full of vim and vigor; you will feel younger, stronger, vigorous—you will enjoy the pleasure of living. Get started on World's Tonic today.

Nearly every person over twenty-five years of age; and many younger, need World's Tonic, more or less. You will be simply delighted with it. World's Tonic cannot do you any harm. It can only do you good. Sold at Paisley's, Smith's, McKee's, Eckerd's, and all other reliable drug stores.

Drive Is Launched To Save Millions In Tax Collecting

Ohio Statewide Method Would Save Pennsylvania More Than $5,000,000 Annually

The question of a fair and equitable assessment and taxation plan, long raised in the legislature by the Marshall and more lately the Ludlow bills, has again been brought into prominence by the State Chamber of Commerce. Its local tax committee, meeting at Harrisburg recently, passed a day discussing means of bringing the importance of local tax administration to the people. Representatives of 73 municipalities were present, New Castle being represented by President Fred L. Rentz of the Chamber of Commerce. This committee is not wedded to the Ludlow bill, but does believe that the legislature should do something to bring about centralization in local tax collecting and to end the stranglehold the strongest group of opponents to such a scheme—the assessors and tax collectors—have on all proposed tax legislation.

It is the opposition of this group, consisting of 6,000 organized assessors, that is blamed by the State Chamber, the League of Women Voters and many others who have studied the question for killing the bills already introduced in past legislative sessions to relieve local conditions.

The local chambers are to make a study of taxes and expenditures now necessary to collect them under the antiquated tax system. Their reports will go to the State Chamber, which will name a subcommittee to draft a referendum to be presented to the 110 organization members, which in turn will take a vote of the prevailing opinion among their individual members.

That action was taken after a general discussion of a paper presented by F. W. Walker of Beaver Falls, vice president of the State Chamber, who summed up the work of various organizations which have been trying to bring about a simpler and less expensive tax system. There was no indorsement of the Ludlow bill, which went down to defeat in 1925, but it was referred to frequently as a measure which in the main was aimed at the inequalities of taxation.

Philadelphia System Would Save Million.

Philadelphia, unlike many of the other municipalities of the state, has made a remarkable record in reducing the cost of collection by the elimination of the fee system.

"For the year 1924-1925," said Mr. Walker, "the total local school tax collected in the state was $114,318,426; the cost of collecting it $1,927,756. For the same period Philadelphia collected a school tax of $24,888,230 at a cost of $39,884. The cost of collection in Philadelphia was .0016 per cent; in other counties the cost ran to 2, 5 and even 10 per cent and more. At the Philadelphia rate all the local school taxes could have been collected for $184,051.

"For the fiscal year 1923-1924, the total amount of school taxes collected in fourth class school districts was $28,756,753, at a collection cost of $939,417. This cost of collection was 3½ per cent, or 20 times the cost under the Philadelphia system. The Philadelphia school tax is collected by the receiver of city taxes, who received from the school board $4,000 in 1923 for his extra service, in addition to his salary of $10,000 as the receiver of city and county taxes.

"Philadelphia collected all local taxes in 1925 at the rate of $2.03 for each thousand population. The cost in other counties, under the fee system, runs from two to six times as much.

"The state tax commission reported in 1925 that the cost of collecting county taxes alone in about one-half of the counties of the state ran from a minimum of 3.8 per cent to a maximum of 19.7 per cent. In certain average counties in Ohio, the average cost of collecting all taxes in the country was $4.06 per thousand.

Could Save $5,000,000 Annually

Surveys in twenty-eight counties showed local tax collection costs of $1,137,455 in 1924. On this basis the total cost of collection in Pennsylvania counties was estimated between $5,500,000 and $6,000,000. This cost is seven times the cost in Ohio, which collects the same amount of taxes but has a modern system of collection. If Pennsylvania should abolish the fee system now consuming her taxes and should adopt Ohio's method of collection, her collection cost would be about $873,000 instead of $6,391,000 (estimated), representing a saving of more than $5,000,000 a year. A saving of $50,000,000 during a decade would build an impressive number of new schools and miles of road.

"In Ohio local taxes are collected by the County Treasurer at a flat salary ranging from $2,500 to a maximum of $6,000 per year. They collect all county, municipal, library, park, school and township taxes as well as a small State levy and all special assessments. In addition, they collect liquor, cigarette and dog licenses, as well as inheritance taxes."

The resolutions adopted by the local taxation committee of State Chamber of Commerce, as a result of the meeting were:

Resolved, That the committee on local taxation urges the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce to hold a referendum of its membership on the Ludlow Bill of 1925, as introduced, or in a modified form calculated to win wider support.

Resolved, That the chairman of the committee on local taxation be authorized to appoint a sub-committee to assist the State Chamber in the preparation of a referendum on the Ludlow Bill of 1925; and be it

Further Resolved, That the committee on local taxation asks the State Chamber to invite agricultural and other organizations opposed to the Ludlow Bill to co-operate in preparation of the referendum.

Resolved, That the committee on local taxation recommends the appointment by each commercial organization of a committee to study and report on taxation and expenditures in its municipality and county.

PROGRESS—

THE PROSPERITY of a community is not measured by its population, but by its civic and commercial progress.

A handful of workers achieve more than a city full of drones.

Teamwork is what counts in everything. A prominent football coach recently said: "Give me a team of average ability who will work together each with the other and all for the team and I will win over any team made up solely of individual stars.

Individual ability makes great men—shining lights, but it is mass cooperation of energetic men of civic spirit, home pride and community enterprise that builds a city's progress and prosperity.

It was this spirit and cooperation which built New Castle and her wonderful industries of which we are justly proud, and to those public spirited workers and this most excellent community we should pledge our constant support.

Queen Marie Joins Bobbed Hair Class, Ferdinand Peeved

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a beard for a bob. That's the modern version of the ancient proverb in the royal court of Roumania, according to the Berlin Morgenpost.

Queen Marie of Roumania, whose hair has been one of her glories, has prepared for her American tour by having her hair bobbed, says the Morgenpost.

The king, so the story goes, was not consulted about Queen Marie's visit to the court hairdresser to be shorn and he is furious, so furious that he is making threats of reprisals. The king, it is whispered by the court gossips, in his fury has threatened to make a trip to the court hairdresser himself to be shorn of his beard. Such an act would be a drastic one, perhaps even a tragic one for everyone admits that Queen Marie's beauty is not detracted from by bobbed hair, but who knows what King Ferdinand would look like without his beard.

Moreover if the king is shaven it will destroy the tradition of the ages, for centuries have passed and never have the Roumanian people seen their king's unshorn face. There have been Van Dyke beards, flowing beards, and square bottom beards in the Roumanian court, but never an unshorn king.

Bucharest buzzes with the gossip of this hirstute crisis, meanwhile the court hairdresser is so busy ringing up his cash register that he hasn't time to discuss the matter. All he will say is that since Queen Marie had had her hair bobbed it seems that every woman in Bucharest wants a bob too, says the Morgenpost.

Those engaged in junking automobiles number over fifty thousand, not counting fool drivers.

NO CHANGE IN COST OF TRIP TO LOCAL FAIR

Announcement was made today at the office of the New Castle Fair Association that the same fare that has been charged in past years for transportation to and from the New Castle fair grounds, is again in force this year.

The charges for transportation one way to or from the fair ground is twenty-five cents in the busses and thirty-five cents in taxicabs or cars of small capacity.

It had been rumored that the price was to be increased, but this is not true and the Fair Association wishes its patrons to understand the true conditions existing in connection with transportation charges.

JAZZ, LAUGHTER AND KAZOOS IN CAPITOL TRIUMVIRATE

Theatre fans are fans because they like to be entertained. But occasionally they like to be part of the show themselves, and the idea of Charles Kranz, manager of the Capitol Theatre, that the audience would take to a "Jazz Week" with kazoos as their instruments, proved to be a smart idea Monday night. In theatrical parlance it was a "wow".

They took to it like a headwaiter takes to a cover charge and the result was the biggest kazoo chorus in the history of New Castle. Don Bartel and His Cosmopolitans, in conjunction with the Capitol Orchestra played the airs, with the audience kazooing along. And to put a kick in the musical punch, George P. Wilson tuned in with more of the monkeyshines that had the audience convulsed an act ahead.

It's a real bill of entertainment at the Capitol the first three days of this week. The folks hoped that Don Bartel had a real orchestra. Don as you may know proudly admits to Ellwood City as his home, and was known to many of the audience. He didn't disappoint anybody for his Cosmopolitans are a real band. This is his last road appearance for some time as the band leaves for New York City Thursday to appear in the Trianon, formerly the Cinderella ballroom, for a winter engagement. Zip Ashilman the drummer adds to the act with a comedy skit and eccentric dance.

George P. Wilson and Company present "As You Like It." Old Bill Shakespeare wouldn't have recognised it as his offering of like name, but the capacity house "ate it up". It's fifteen minutes of laughs, with never a hint of anything approaching off color. Wilson is the funniest comedian in the Capitol this season, and just in passing you may be interested to know that he shows something on a piano.

The picture is Johnny Hines in "The Brown Derby". Up until now there has been some mystery as to who the man was who won or wore the Brown Derby. Johnny is it, and his wearing of it brings tears of laughter to your eyes. Pathe News, a comedy, the Capitol Orchestra and Organ complete a splendid bill.

Four "Favorite Sons" Boomed For Legion Commandership

By Central Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—The meeting of the American Legion at Philadelphia is to be featured by two main considerations which in a way are interdependent.

The first question before the Legion is whether or not the original intention of holding the 1927 meeting in Paris is to be adhered to. On this decision depends the probable election of at least one of the four outstanding candidates for the office of national commander.

If Paris is to be the meeting place it is almost conceded that General John J. Pershing will be elected to head "the second overseas enterprise of the A. E. F.." A national movement is under way to elect the former A. E. F. leader by acclamation. Gen. Pershing, it has become known does not wish to be involved in any Legionary politics and will not allow his name to be used if there is any indication that members have other candidates whom they wish to present in preference to himself. Gen. Pershing's known enthusiasm for the Paris meeting combines the meeting place and election issues.

The prejudice which existed immediately after the war against the election of high army officers to important legion posts has practically disappeared and in spite of the rumored antagonism to things American in France there is a growing feeling that perhaps a legion meeting there would be a diplomatic move. Hence election of General Pershing by acclamation is expected by many Legion leaders.

The three other men who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the post of Legion "C. O." are:

Howard Savage of Chicago, Ill., past state commander. His candidacy is backed by his state organization which recently at the suggestion of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick went on record as favoring the Paris meeting. While this may confuse the issues temporarily it is not expected seriously to affect the situation.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson of Marion ,S. C., considered one of the south's favorite sons.

E. E. Spafford, past commander of New York. He has been indorsed by his state and his friends are making an active canvass for him notwithstanding his defeat in the elections for commander at last year's meeting.

Other candidates may, of course, be presented at the time of the election.

Ninety-Seven Billion Cigarettes Will Keep Smokers Busy Puffing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—United States will smoke about 97,000,000,000 cigarettes this year.

Figures on tobacco taxes issued Monday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclosed an increase of about 22,000,000,000 in the use of cigarettes since 1925.

The country will consume about 8,100,000,000 cigars in 1926, an increase of 1,000,000,000. About 40,000,000 pounds of snuff and 393,675,000 pounds of tobacco that will be used this year represent material increase over 1925.

Popularity of bridge is held responsible for greater sales of playing cards, upon which were paid a tax of $531,484 from July 1 to September 1. Radio bridge lessons are said to have nearly doubled the playing of this game.

Cigarette taxes from July 1 to September 1 amounted to $48,087,000, an increase of $4,300,000 over the corresponding period of 1925, but because of the cut in cigar taxes the income from this source of $4,137,000 showed a big decline.

Plan For Inquest In Woman's Death

(International News Service)

BRADDOCK, Pa., Sept. 28.—Officials were today preparing for the inquest into the death of Mrs. Ethel Green, 28, known as the "Braddock Butterfly." The inquest will be held in the Duquesne police station on Friday.

Mrs. Green was found dying in the gutter of a Duquesne street about a month ago. Blood was streaming from a wound behind her ear and she never regained consciousness. Several arrests were made in connection with her death and police believe that the inquest will reveal that the woman was murdered. The theory that she was thrown from an automobile has also been advanced.

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 28.—Superintendent of Schools J. J. Richeson, who assumed his new duties here in September, has advised all teachers that they must respect the religious beliefs of their students and must not teach any particular religious ideas.

Figures Of Elephants Appear As Lucky Charms On Parisian Dresses

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 28. — Now that this year's vacation period is over, it seems high time to talk about the next. The question has come up whether the holiday period should be advanced. It has often been discussed and in 1925 the hotelkeepers of the Cotes du Nord and Finistere addressed a letter to all the mayors of Brittany and to the Senators and Deputies of France asking them to set the school holidays at the beginning of July.

"L'Hotellerie," the official organ of the hotel and touring industry, is now publishing a circular letter demanding that the same arrangement be made and publishes the responses of many of its readers. With school ending as late as the 15th of July, as it does all over France, the holiday season is reduced to a short period of six weeks for the hotel owners.

A monument will soon be erected at Besancon in honor of Count Hilaire Bernigand re Chardonnet, the inventor of artificial silk. This industry, which had its birth in France, now offers a trade to more than 800,000 workmen in all of Europe.

Oysters in France will be dear as well as scarce this year because a parasitical disease has attacked a great many of the beds, hindering the growth and making it probably that very few of the little "animals" which cost 14 francs a dozen in September 1925 will bring thirty-three this year and all other familiar varieties will be practically "out of sight" for most humble consumers.

Because a stork has just passed over Alost in Belgium and stopped for some time on the steeple of St. Joseph's church, old weather-prophets are predicting a long, cold winter. It is believed that the bird was enroute for the Orient. Six of the birds have also been sighted at Marseilles and the old inhabitants are very much astonished.

Paris will soon have its "rue Alan Seeger." The name of the young American poet killed in France who wrote the famous "Rendezvous with Death" figures in the list of 40 poets and writers killed in the war whose names have been chosen by the Paris Municipal Council as titles for various Parisian streets and squares. Among the list published occur the names of Guillaume Apollinaire, founder of the school which presaged the Dad poets, Paul Reboux, many of whose plays were given at the Grand Guignol, Paul Drouet and many others.

Monsieur Poincare, France's Premier, in spite of the possibility of attacks by his numerous enemies, is often seen through his large bay window at night, bending over his work-table. Certain people stop as they pass by, look in and comment, and very often a large crowd gathers under his very nose without his notice.

One of his friends who is a near neighbor warned him that he must take care.

"Bah!" answered Poincare "there's no use drawing the curtains."

However, the Prefect of Police was advised and told Mr. Poincare that if he did not soon do it he would send around some of his gendarmes.

It is said that Poincare preferred to pull down the curtains at this threat.

The craze for lucky charms on dresses has now spread to having figures of elephants worked on frocks and even jewels. Many designs seen at recent fashion shows were covered with tiny representations of the mammoth of the jungle.

Fall hat styles indicate once again that as long as short hair remains an institution it will be impossible to induce women to wear a hat worthy of the name.

There seems to be more brim on the new ones, but they still fit the head like a glove, and are of the eternal felt. In desperation the velvet manufacturers are copying the various felts in a piece material, which looks very becoming.

PEP MEETING IS PLANNED

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Showing the spirit that makes grads of the school speak of the "Westminster Spirit" long after their under graduate days are over the Westminster college student body is making ready for a monster pep meeting to be held Friday evening in preparation for the first home game of the season Saturday afternoon when Westminster meets the University of Buffalo.

It is one of the customs of the college that a pep meeting be held before the first home appearance of the moleskin wearers. The Blue and White eleven met defeat at Pittsburgh last Friday at the hands of the Duquesne University eleven but the defeat has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the undergrads.

Jesse Cogley, cheerleader, will have charge of the program. There will be speeches by players and officers of the college. There will be music galore. Another event will be the singing of the Westminster hymn by the Freshmen class.

Linson Stebbins Travels 7,000 Miles To Preach In Canada During Summer

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28. — Linson Stebbins of Warren, Pa., a graduate of Westminster College, and a student at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh, was a visitor here Monday.

Stebbins just recently completed a stay of almost four months at Erskine, Canada, a village more than 2500 miles from his home. He spent the summer preaching. His pastorate was composed of three churches, each within a radius of 20 miles. He preached three times each Sabbath, making the trips between churches on horseback.

During the entire summer he traveled approximately 7000 miles. He reports that Canada is a delightful country but talks from the natives convinced him that one must be of a rugged nature to withstand the trials of a winter in the northern part of the country.

He was a member of the graduating class at Westminster in 1925. He will complete his seminary studies in two more years.

Ninety Passengers Are Rescued From Stranded Steamer

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 28.—All of the 90 passengers and all members of the crew of the Ward Line steamer, Mexico, which ran aground on Madagascar Shoals, near Progresso, have been rescued, despatches from Progresso today stated. The rescue was effected by the American steamer Rajah, with the Hamburg-American liner Rio ...co standing by and co-operating.

... is feared the Mexico is a total loss. She is hung hard and fast on the rocks of Madagascar Shoals, with heavy seas constantly pounding her. She is a steel ship of 6,000 tons, plying regularly between New York, Havana, Progresso, Vera Cruz and Tampico.

A report of the rescue was made by wireless by the Rajah to Progresso. The report said the Rajah and the Rio Panuco had stood by the wrecked vessel all day yesterday, until a brief lull enabled small boats to approach the Mexico and take off the passengers and crew. The Rajah is proceeding to Progresso, where those rescued will be disembarked.

Plan To Recall German Witness

Government Resumes Case Against Daugherty And Miller Today

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—With the government's case virtually completed against Harry M. Daugherty, former U. S. attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, on trial for alleged conspiracy, Richard Merton, German industrialist, was due to be called to the witness stand today for recross examination by defense counsel.

Although Merton is technically a government witness, his testimony was favorable to the defendants.

Following the official closing of the government's case today, Max Steuer is expected to move for a dismissal of the indictment against his client, Harry M. Daugherty, on the ground that the evidence submitted is insufficient. Col. William Rand, counsel for Miller, is also expected to move for a dismissal.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28. — Only one state wide nomination for the November general elections was unfilled today, the last day on which political party executive committees can certify to the state bureau of elections names of candidates to fill vacancies, caused by withdrawals or deaths of persons nominated at the May primaries.

The Socialist nomination for the United States Senate, made vacant by the death of Miss Cora M. Bixler, of Lancaster, is the one nomination which must be filled today, if at all.

Labor party vacancies were filled yesterday when the party certified the names of William B. Wilson and Eugene C. Bonniwell as its U. S. senatorial and gubernatorial nominees respectively.

A number of minor party vacancies remain for congressional and legislative offices.

Red Cross Receives Copy Of Proclamation Issued By President Coolidge

Contribution of $5 from a friend has been received at the Red Cross headquarter in the Lawrence Savings & Trust company building. To date about $145 has been received at the local chapter to assist in the relief work in the hurricane district in Florida.

A letter received by the chapter chairman at the local headquarters from the general chairman, John Barton Payne, contains a proclamation issued by the president of the United States.

The letter received is as follows:

The president has just issued the following proclamation:

"An overwhelming disaster has come to the people of Miami, Hollywood and surrounding communities in southern Florida. Such assistance as is within the means of the executive departments of the government will be rendered, but realizing the great suffering which now needs relief and will need relief for days to come, I am prompted to appeal urgently to the American people, whose sympathies have always been so comprehensive, to contribute generously in aiding the sufferers of this disaster.

"That the utmost coordination and effectiveness in the administration of the relief funds may be obtained, I urge that all contributions for this purpose be sent to the American National Red Cross at Washington or to the local Red Cross chapters. I need not assure the people that the Red Cross will utilize in the most effective manner all contributions received for relief in this catastrophe."

This places the responsibility squarely upon the American Red Cross and chapters should give wide publicity to this proclamation and see to it that prompt action is taken to collect and remit to national headquarters funds for this relief work.

JOHN BARTON PAYNE.
Chairman.

WHITE TO RECORD DEEDS FOR LOTS

Council adopted the suggestion of Solicitor Robert White made during council session today and passed Councilman Genkinger's motion authorizing White to record the deeds of all lots acquired by the city through delinquent tax sale for the past five years.

This will alleviate the necessity of advertising the lots for sale each year and result in a saving, White said.

His advice was accepted today after he asked permission to file deeds for 32 lots in the southern section of the city, formerly owned by the Browns.

Handle Of Auto Punctures Heart

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—Sebastian Rose, 66 years old, a farmer of Green county, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon when a touring car which he was driving left the road near the Claughton Chapel church, five miles south of here. Rose was pinned between a tree and the car, a handle on a door of which punctured his heart. His wife, who also was in the car, escaped injury.

MAN DROWNS BENEATH CAR.

WASHINGTON Pa., Sept. 28.—Pinned beneath an automobile in a foot and a half of water Elmer Hytiani 43 of Daisytown drowned last night before assistance could reach him. The machine which was being driven by John Rauto of Walkertown went over a 20 foot embankment on the Ritcheyville-Deems Grove road and turned upside down in the stream. Rauto is being held on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Mystery In Fall Of Jack Dempsey

By NORMAN E. BROWN

One's first impression of the outcome of the Dempsey-Tunney fight was that it was the old, old story of age and easy living against the fire and determination of youth.

One was inclined to give Gene Tunney the credit due the conqueror of the champion.

I hold that Tunney must be a good, if not a great fighter, an intrepid, courageous fellow, who will be a credit to the title he now bears if not a man worthy to be placed alongside Jeffries, Sullivan, Fitzsimmons and Corbett as champions.

But I find an ever-increasing air of mystery surrounding the miserable showing of Dempsey.

Those who followed the training camp progress of Dempsey at first hand—those who studied him closely there, and then saw him in the ring at Philadelphia are dazed—still in a state of coma.

As one wealthy realtor of my acquaintance remarked, "How did Dempsey lose, in the ring, that fire, aggressiveness and fair punching power he showed in the training camp?"

As the round by round of the fight will tell those who did not witness the fight, Dempsey struck but one or two determined blows in the ten rounds. For but a few seconds in two rounds did he assume an aggressive attitude.

Now Dempsey's main attribute as a fighter throughout his climb to the title and his reign as champion was his inborn desire to carry the fight—to rush his opponent and beat him down by the very force of his attack.

Why did he alter his style against Tunney? If he planned a strategic campaign against the young challenger is it reasonable to suppose he would have held to it after six rounds of fighting had resulted in nothing but a decisive lead for Tunney in points?

Supposing that the absence of the crafty Jack Kearns from his corner handicapped the former champion in waging his campaign against the challenger. It is human nature in moments of great stress and danger to lay aside superficial ideas and teachings and resort to the primitive—the natural. Why, then, when he saw the battle going against him, did not Dempsey throw aside any preconceived ideas and wade in with his old, devil-may-care style, smashing and slashing, wasting a dozen blows to get in one?

Dempsey knew that Tunney couldn't hurt him. Why, then, the timerity? Why, then, the willingness to let his title slip without doing or dying?

Why the affable handclasp before the ring instead of the old air of a meat-hungry lion going to dinner?

The natural question is: "What was wrong with Dempsey?"

Whatever was wrong it enabled Gene Tunney, upstanding youth and war hero, to step into the most coveted sport title in the world. So why worry about the reasons.

And yet what a horrible impression the fight left of Dempsey—Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, the Man Killer, the crouching, growling, blood-thirsty, plunging, weaving, devastating, bewildering socker.

A heavyweight title changed hands in ten rounds, on points, with neither man knocked off his feet. There is just one reason for little enthusiasm for Tunney, likeable as he is.

Westminster Opens Home Season Saturday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Westminster college's 1926 grid machine suffered an unexpected reverse at the hands of Duquesne University at Pittsburgh last Friday, but Westminsterites in general are awaiting the first home appearance of the eleven before they pass judgment on this year's crop of pigskin chasers. This initial appearance will come Saturday when the University of Buffalo is met here.

There is no need to beat about the bush, the defeat at Pittsburgh went hard with those who were of the opinion that this year's Blue and White outfit was "it." However there is no adverse criticism being spread about the campus for those who are in touch with the gridiron affairs know that Beede and Lawther coaches, have their hands full in placing a winning team on the field this fall.

The team which went against Duquesne was the "greenest" in the history of the college but the machine showed possibilities. Time after time the fat was demonstrated that there is offensive power but the defense must be strengthened.

Injuries were few so that a full team can be applied next Saturday unless unforseen events occur this week. The squad was permitted to rest Saturday but were called to the field early Monday afternoon when one of the longest drills of the season was held. Coach Beede predicts numerous changes in the personnel of the eleven unless better things are shown within the next few days.

Jimmy McQuiston, star halfback from last year who has been out with a bad knee is expected to be back in the game Saturday. His appearance will help considerably. He is the only triple threat man on the squad. Lauder another halfback who entered the Duquesne game without a thorough knowledge of the system is expected to go better against Buffalo. An attack of boils kept him away from the field for more than a week.

Plan Prosecution Of Sesqui Directors

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 28. Conferences between members of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association and John Robert Jones, their attorney were to be held today to prepare for the prosecution of Mayor Freeland Kendrick and directors of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition on charges of conspiracy to violate the Sunday "blue laws" officials of the association announced today.

This legal step was decided upon after the Supreme Court at Pittsburgh set November 22, nine days before the closing of the sesqui as the date to hear the committee's appeal for an early hearing on the Dauphin County Court opinion ordering the sesqui to close on Sundays.

Three Wise Men — By Feg Murray

Let's give a moment to the poor umpires, the men who get plenty of knocks and very few boosts, and to wham a barrage of abuse and pop bottles is merely another incident in a season full of arguments and disputes.

To err is only human, but here are three men who make the minimum amount of mistakes in a business where it is necessary to make decisions instantly, often under very difficult and trying instances. Bill Klem, "Hank" O'Day, and Ernie Quigley are three veteran National league arbiters, each of whom commands the respect of players and fans alike.

Bill Klem holds the record for umpiring in the most world series. He is noted for an antipathy to being called "catfish", and for being one of the best judges of balls and strikes in the business. He takes great pride in his work, and does nothing else but umpire, play golf and dabble in real estate. This is his 21st season in the majors.

"Hank" O'Day is noted for his sternness, his fearlessness and for having been a famous pitcher for the New York Giants. Angry players or hostile crowds don't bother "Hank" one bit. He is gruff and cranky, but as keen as a razor's edge. It was O'Day's decision in the famous Merkle-Evers play, it is said, that saved the honor of baseball.

Ernie Quigley is quiet and dignified, and a truly remarkable man. The statement that he sees more sport in a year than any other man is based on the fact that Ernie umpires around 160 baseball games, 25 football games and more than 100 basketball games each 12 months. He is an all-year-round official. Ernie gave evidence of his great strength, as well as his cool judgment, on August 25, 1925, in a game between the Giants and the Reds. "Pep" Young, after being hit by a ball thrown by Pitcher Donohue, was tearing out on the field to fight the innocent Cincinnati hurler, when Quigley picked up the struggling Giant bodily and carried him across the field to first base to cool off.

Feg Murray Says—

No, Esmeralda, they don't make stadiums in the shape of a horseshoe so that people can get in and out of the open end.

Father And Son Struck By Bullet

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 28. — Andy Filjak, 40 years old, of Star Junction, is in a critical condition with a bullet wound in his abdomen and his son, Joseph, 20 years old, has a bullet wound in his left hand, as a result of an accidental shooting which occurred in the Filjak home last night. Both are in the Uniontown hospital.

Joseph told police that he was examining a revolver which he found in his home when the weapon was discharged. The bullet went through his left hand, he said, and then struck his father in the abdomen.

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 28.—David Lutton, a farmer residing near Sandy Lake was seriously hurt when he was attacked by a ram near his home. He was knocked down, and the animal continued to batter him after he was on the ground. Ligaments in one leg were badly torn, and his back injured. Members of the family, who discovered his plight, rescued him from the enraged animal.

HE WHO GOES NOT NEAR THE FIRE WILL NOT BURN HIS PAW

"Old rats, young rats, fat rats, lean rats, large rats, small rats, sons, daughters and my great-great-grandchildren, sharpen your ears and listen to the words of one who is ancient among you, and because he is so very old knows many, many things."

Great-great-Granddad stopped to clear his throat, and in the baggage car it was so very still Pat wondered that the rats could not hear the beating of his heart.

"Sure, and 'tis respected the old one is! Such a solemn crowd! Never, no never, did I guess those wriggly rats could keep so quiet! Important must be the news he's about to tell them. Whist, now! 'Twill be something about the trap or I'm no Irish terrier."

Pat never opened his mouth, but that is what he thought. And as might have been expected of so clever a doggie, Pat was right.

"Once again in the affairs of the rats of the baggage car have the Two-Legs meddled," Great-great-Granddad continued. "Tricked by our quick wits, envying us our sharp teeth, jealous of our four legs that carry us fast and far from their two, they have set out to do us harm. On the floor behind me is a—what is it, children? You know the answer!"

"A trap!" cried the rats in chorus. "A trap that waits with its spring to break our backs! But we go not within its reach, so it cannot harm us. Shame on the rat who gets caught. He does not deserve sympathy, for he is stupid!"

Great-great-Granddad nodded his gray head and clapped his paws approvingly.

"Spoken like the sons and daughters of a family well known," he squeaked. "You have learned well the lesson that was taught you when first you crawled out of our cozy nest in the old rat hole—'He who goes not near the fire cannot burn his paw.' Wise rats, good rats, I am proud of you! But not yet do you know it all. You have much to learn. For he must be very wise, indeed, who carries home the cheese."

Peaches Are Going To Waste In Mercer County Is Report

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 28.—Peaches that would bring in seasons of crop scarcity $5 a bushel are going to waste in this county at the present time. Market saturation accounts for the conditions. You can't sell them, say the growers, for every one who has a peach tree has a crop that they are hunting someone to give them to.

Not since before the war have peaches sold at as low a price as this year, there being plenty of nice fruit offered for $1 a bushel. The plum crop is also a record breaker and due to its quantity is not being marketed as it would otherwise have been.

WALSH FAVORS CARDINALS IN COMING SERIES

Pupil Against Former Master

CARDS FULL OF MAGPIE CHATTER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Everything goes wrong at dress rehearsals, they say, but this one today should click with commendable regularity. First off, it will feature the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals, two interesting ball clubs, in their first post-season workout in preparation for the impending World Series but one of the secondary angles of the situation may prove the more interesting, at that. I refer to the fact that the contending clubs happen to be managed respectively by Miller Huggins and Rogers Hornsby.

Seemingly, it hasn't occurred to anyone that managerial workmanship will be neatly and quickly done with an utter lack of responsibility for goods left over thirty days, by a man who once was master and another once his pupil.

Hornsby Praised

Rogers Hornsby was just a recruit when he reported to the Cardinals in 1915 and Miller Huggins was the aloof manager, honored and respected if not altogether loved just for himself alone. Today Hornsby has become the greatest man on the far bank of the Mississippi while our Mr. Huggins, meantime, was permitted to go hence without apparent regret, to seek his fortune in the great city.

Before he departed, however, he turned his attention to Hornsby and, in a moment of weakness, changed the young man's batting stance and made him possibly the greatest right hand hitter of all time.

The writer likes the Huggins versus Hornsby equation equally as well as that featuring Hornsby and exchanging intermittent base hits in the first place, Huggins and Hornsby are radical opposites, yet both won pennants with ball clubs of considerable similarity.

Huggins Pensive

Huggins is pensive where Hornsby is volatile; Huggins is caustic when he thinks he can get away with it, Hornsby whether he thinks he can or not. Usually he can and does. Huggins has been called the student. He does most of his thinking well in advance and, if this fails him, he depends largely upon his noble athletes to roll their own. Hornsby runs his club from the ball field and calls them as they come.

Although the clubs arrive at the given point through the same processes—hitting and pitching—the two teams reflect the mannerisms of their managers by their attitude on the field. The Cards form one of those magpie ball clubs, chattering and gibbering their way through nine innings. The Yanks are almost voiceless.

This outward show of ambition makes the Cards look the part of the better outfit as, indeed, the writer hopefully thinks they are he would continue to think so if the Cardinals were as silent as the palate in a tongue sandwich.

GLENNA COLLETT IS MEDALIST AT HAVERFORD

HAVERFORD, Pa., Sept. 28.—Glenna Collett, defending her title as national women's golf champion, led 126 contenders over the difficult Merion links yesterday with a medal-winning qualifying score of 81.

The card of the champion was one stroke better than that of Mrs. Wright D. Goss, Jr., of Short Hills, N. P., finalist in the recent metropolitan championship and stood out conspicuously in a dreary damp day which developed generally high scoring, and witnessed the failure of three outstanding challengers for her crown. They were Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, O., semi-finalist in the national event last year and winner of the North-South championship over Miss Collett earlier this season; Mrs. Dorothy Klotz Pardue of Chicago, also a victor over Miss Collett last winter, and Miss Marion Turpie of New Orleans, the 17-year-old Southern champion.

To Stage 100 Mile Auto Race At Fair

Scheduled For Saturday Afternoon, Oct. 2—Local Boy To Enter Event

An 100-mile automobile race will be staged on the half-mile track of the New Castle Agricultural Association, Saturday, October 2, and it is anticipated that some of the best dirt track drivers in the country will be included in the personnel of the big field of starters.

Arrangements for the big speed spectacle were completed at a conference between the fair officials and Sidney Olcott, general manager of the International Automobile Racing Association.

Crack Drivers Coming

This veteran racing official assured the officers of the Agricultural Association that he will be able to bring to this city the well-known pilots who have fought it out for the rich purses at racing events he has handled this season and for the past few years at Butler and Washington, in this section, and at Akron and other Buckeye state cities.

McFadden To Enter

Jack McFadden, former New Castle racing driver, who is now residing in Warren, O., has been one of the drivers to appear in the racing classics at New Kensington and other places where Olcott was in charge, and he is sure that this pilot will be on hand for the 100-mile contest scheduled for Saturday, October 2. He has the promise of McFadden that he would appear in all races handled by him, and is especially anxious to appear in this city before his host of friends here.

Olcott and the fair officials have agreed that if it is necessary to hold over some of the horse races until the Saturday scheduled for the automobile race, the contest will be held on Saturday afternoon, October 9, but all are desirous of getting a good break in the weather so it will be possible to hold the 100-mile race.

Appoint Umpires For World Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — Hank O'Day and Bill Klem, veterans of the National League umpire staff, have been named by President John A. Heydler to represent the senior circuit in the World's Series between the Yankees and Cardinals.

It will be the thirteenth series for Klem, who has officiated in more title games than any other arbiter. His nearest rival in this respect is Tommy Connolly, dean of the American League staff, who will take part in his eighth series this fall.

President Heydler named Ernest Quigley and Frank Wilson to officiate in the Chicago city series.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — When Babe Ruth takes the field here Saturday in the first game of the World Series, he will set a record by appearing in his seventh post-season classic. No other player has been in seven World series.

Ruth was in the World Series of 1915, 1916 and 1918 with the Red Sox and in the Yankee series in 1921, 1922 and 1923.

Stoy To Fight Hill Tonight

PAL KANSAS TO BOX MULLIGAN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 28.—Tonight at the Rayen-Wood auditorium, Rosey Stoy, Lancaster southpaw gets his chance to battle his way back into the good graces of the fans of this section of the country.

Stoy is slated to go 12 rounds or less with Johnny Hill, Filippino featherweight. Hill is rated as the most sentational puncher now before the public. Hill deserves every word of praise that has been given him on his punching prowess as the Brown Typhoon in his only two fights in this section has scored two quick K. O.'s.

The semi wind up will feature another Filippino in action. Trip Limbaco, flyweight champion of the Orient, will take on Young Irish of Barberton, O over the six round route. Linibaco is making his debut in this country and comes here heralded as the most sensational boxer that has ever come up from the Philippines.

The second six rounder will feature Pal Kansas, local college boy and K. O. Mulligan of Barberton, O. Both these lads are game willing boxers and will put up a hard fight while they are in there.

The curtain raiser will show Johnny Kusic of Youngtown and Johnny Herman of Cleveland in another six rounder.

The last two named will go on promptly at 8:15 p. m.

The area of Spain is about twice that of the state of Oregon.

The Yanks Are "IN"—Bring On Your Series!

The Yankees under the management of Miller Huggins shown in the inset will open the 1926 World's Series Saturday, October 2, by meeting the St. Louis Cardinals. Urban Shocker, pitching ace of the Huggins' crew is also shown in the inset.

County Leaguers Dine And Celebrate Success Of Season Just Closed

Finis was written on the pages of the 1926 Lawrence county baseball league and also the Twilight league as upwards of 100 players, friends and guests of the league gathered in the banquet hall of the Elks club to partake of the annual "feed" on Monday evening. It goes without saying that the banquet was a success.

Rampant baseball spirit predominated the banquet room as the players gathered once more to forget any animosities that may have cropped out on the baseball field this year. Enthusiasm ran high last evening and everyone present pledged themselves to do all in their power to further the cause of the league's existence in 1927 and the zeal and zest that went with every speech showed plainly that the league is a popular one.

The banquet menu consisted of stuffed pork chops, sweet potatoes, lima beans and of course all the other trimmings that go to make up a fine meal.

Jackson Toastmaster.

With the banquet end of the program out of the way, John A. Jackson, vice president of the league, assumed the role of toastmaster, and after a short talk along the lines of baseball shot the opening gun of the elaborate entertainment program by calling on the "Pastime Quartet" composed of Steve Griffith, Jack Griffith, Arch Cubbison and Ben Ball, for a few numbers. The boys responded in a most satisfactory manner and laughter predominated the room from this time until the meeting adjourned.

Ernest Black, champion mouth-organ player of Lawrence county, was present last evening and gave several pleasing numbers on his harmonica. Mr. Black still retains his championship judging from the applause that greeted his efforts to please the ball players.

Harry Elwell, premier blackface comedian of New Castle, was another chap who gained rounds of applause for his part on the program. Harry in his best southern lingo gave a ten-minute rapid fire line of jokes that kept the boys amused, and ended his part of the program with that popular favorite "It Don't Do Nothing But Rain."

S. Plummer Emery Speaks.

Ex-Judge S. Plummer Emery, one of the strong boosters for the Lawrence county league, was called on for a short talk and responded by praising the Ellwood City team on its recent achievement and also by giving the ball players some good sound advice on playing the game squarely.

Representative Milton A. Bickett of Ellwood City was called on by Toastmaster Jackson and responded by giving the boys a short and well defined talk along the lines of baseball. Bickett, a resident of Ellwood, was naturally a strong booster for the newly crowned county champions. Bickett stated that he was a ball player some years back and that he still had a love for the national pastime.

Rev. H. D. Maxwell, pastor of the Emmanuel Reformed church of Ellwood City, had a part on the program and rendered two beautiful tenor selections, "The End of a Perfect Day" and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep". Rev. Maxwell also gave a short talk in which he congratulated the Ellwood City team on its victory and hoped that it would repeat next year.

Andrews Presents Pennant.

The following responded with short talks: Connie Wardman of the Ellwood City team, Ollie Earl of the Neshannocks, Alec Samuels of the Mahoning A. A., Robert "Bob" Robertson of Wampum, Sam Houk of Energy and "Miz" Dart for Bessemer. Tony Navarro and Albert Marshall of the Hillsville team, winner of the Twilight league, gave short talks.

William "Bill" Andrews, president of the Lawrence county league was called on to present the handsome pennant to the Hillsville team. The pennant and watch fobs for the champion Ellwood City team did not arrive in time for the banquet. Mr. Andrews also gave a short talk thanking the boys for their cooperation in making the league a success this season and promised that the league next year would be bigger and better than ever.

A hook-up with "KDKA" in a miniature form was one of the many features of the program with the Pastime quartet, Ernest Black and Harry Elwell doing their stuff before the "micraphone". Charles "Bugs" Walther, assistant sporting editor of the News, acted in the capacity of announcer for the radio program, and also gave the boys a brief talk when called upon by Toastmaster Jackson.

As said before the banquet last evening came up to the standard of other years and a mighty enjoyable time was had by all who participated. The banquet committee consisted of Chairman Eddie Connery, John A. Jackson, Alec Samuels and Charles "Bugs" Walther.

It was announced that plans will go forward immediately for the organization of a league for the season of 1927.

Resume Training At Grove City

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 28.—The Grove City college football squad resumed practice again yesterday afternoon after the close of the three weeks preliminary camp last Friday. Coach Bowser stated yesterday that the present week would be devoted to polishing off the team for the opening game next Saturday. A number of cripples must be sufficiently healed to be available for duty in the opening engagement. Capt. Cribbs, Paterlini, Johns, Lobuono and Rosenberg are all nursing minor injuries. Stephen Sholtis of North Braddock, an end, was forced to go home with badly torn ligaments in his knee. Sholtis is a lad of much promise.

The John Carroll university team of Cleveland which will open the season at Grove City next Saturday, is a much heralded outfit. In the initial contest last season the Cleveland team held the strong Quantico Marine team to a 0-0 score. This shows that Carroll team was well advanced early in the 1925 season and that we can probably conclude that it will be in mid-season form again next Saturday. Grove City will not be caught napping, however, and a real game can be expected.

Within a few hours after an automobile theft is reported every police officer in Great Britain is notified and furnished with the number and description of the car.

JACK HULME OPENS POOL

Swimming Pool At Westminster Officially Opened

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Westminster College's fine swimming pool located in the gymnasium building, was officially opened for the year Tuesday morning when the first classes were held under the supervision of Jack Hulme of New Castle, swimming instructor.

The pool which is one of the largest and best equipped in the tri-state district, is in fine condition. It was first opened during the winter last year and used extensively by the students. The classes this year are filled to capacity and predictions are that the year will be very successful.

Westminster is to have a swimming team during the coming season but as yet plans are still in the formulating period.

Gymnasium classes have also been started. They are this year under the supervision of J. W. Colman, physical director, who has succeeded E. Dwight Dyer. Colman is a graduate of Arkansas University, and held the office of physical director at Akron University. He will also coach track in the spring in addition to directing intra-mural and inter-class athletics.

The first boxing classes will be held this week. Peter Garnett, better known in the pugilistic world as Pal Kansas, will instruct in the manly art of self defense. Garnett is enrolled as a Freshman at Westminster. He is a junior welterweight, fighting at 143 pounds.

Italian Bulldogs Reorganize Team

Independent Champions In 1925 Back In Field With Fast Combination

Forty Players Report To Coach Marino; Hope To Repeat Last Year's Record

The Italian Bulldogs Independent football champions for the season of 1925 have reorganized for the seventh season and will have a faster, bigger and better team this year than ever before, is the present indication.

All of last year's players are back in harness this season and 40 responded to the first call of Coach "Kiski" Marino. Marino has coached the team since its organization in 1924 and has been in a large part instrumental in winning the championship. A wealth of material for this year's team is available and indications point to another grid title for the Bulldogs.

Games will be arranged with the Croton A. C. Colored Stars, Boro Cubs, East Side Buccaneers, and South Side Bulldogs, also with any other fast eleven in the city or country.

The lineup of the Bulldog team this year will be the same as last season with Frank Marcella former Ben Franklin high star at left end, and with Cassachia or Mash alternating at right end. Joe Nocera one of the best tackles in the city will be used at left tackle, with Frankie Ross at right tackle. The guard problem is a toss-up between Ray Campolli, Daughtery, DeCarbo and Sam Campolli, fighting it out for first string berths.

Captain Fred "Sully" Marcella all independent scholastic center last season who has played with the Bulldogs for the past seven years will fill the center position. Benny Marino will bark signals again this year, with "Dutch" Ross playing fullback, Scaglione, Carmen Marino, Micco and Pascarella are fighting it out for the halfback jobs.

North St. High Resumes Work

Football Squad Resumes Training In Preparation For Coming Season

Football activity has began again at North Street Junior high school after a lay off of a week. It has been problematical whether or not North Street would put a team on the field after the breaking up of the Junior class league but some sort of a schedule is to be arranged in the near future and as a result training has commenced all over again.

The lads are training at Boyles' field under the direction of Coach Lingerman and looks pretty good to an individual along the sidelines and will give any team that they meet a good tussle.

Ralph Lingerman, the coach, is a new comer to the city. He is a graduate of Slippery Rock State Normal and for the last four years he has been the coach of Bessemer high school where he was successful in turning out several good teams, both in football and basketball.

State Receives Big "Cut" From Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—The state of Pennsylvania was enriched yesterday by exactly $86,169.26 as the result of the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight in Philadelphia last Thursday night. Tex Rickard wrote a check for the sum and turned it over to Robt. Young secretary of the Pennsylvania boxing commission.

The amount covers the 5 percent state tax on the gate tickets. The 10 per cent federal government tax was $172,338.42.

RUTH M. CHENAULT TAKES FUTURITY

Coldstream Farm Filly Adds Another Victory To Record

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept 28.—The Futurity for 2-year-olds feature of the opening program of the trots yesterday was won by the Coldstream Farm's filly Ruth M. Chenault driven by Ben White. It was the ninth consecutive victory for the daughter of Peter Chenault, which has not lost a race this season and was one of the easiest races she has had .Starting a $50 to $18 favorite in the auctions the filly had no trouble in beating the small field, trotting the second heat in 2:04 1-4 over a heavy track.

Holly Rood Sheila, second choice, raced in front to the five-eights in the first heat and Grey Brewer did the pace making in the second but each time Ruth M. Chenault went to the front when White set her going and each time she was off by herself and breezing along at the finish.

James A. Gould, president of the Baseball Writers' Association, was appointed chief scorer with power to name his assistants from the New York and St. Louis chapters of the association.

Assignment of press seats will be in hands of the respective chapters of the writers' organization, subject to the approval of the commissioner. Applications for tickets for the New York games should be made to the New York chapter and those for St. Louis to the St. Louis organization.

Commissioner Landis has left for New York.

"Dugan Gang" Is Given Extremely Heavy Sentences

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28. — The "Dugan gang" declared by authorities to have been the most daring young highwaymen in and about Pittsburgh for nearly two years will no longer menace motorists at least for several years.

Four of the five members of the notorious "gang" today stood sentenced by Judge James H. Gray to from five to 25 years in the Western Penitentiary. They are: Thomas Mellett, 20; Bernard Harris, 18; Edward Dugan, 19, and John Jennings, 20.

The fifth man, John Poland, 21, had his sentence postponed because his attorneys have asked Judge Gray to appoint a sanity commission to examine him.

The four men sentenced pleaded guilty to charges of robbery. However, Judge Gray withheld sentence until Dr. W. T. Root, a noted psychiatrist, appointed by the court to make tests and observations had reported his findings.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—Logan Walthour, Ligonier, who was near death because of a severe attack of hiccoughs, is recovering at his home today. The man was seized with an attack of hiccoughs several days ago and in a few hours became unconscious. He was unconscious and near death for 24 hours. He is recovering slowly.

Tagging All Bases

Cleveland clinched second place by nosing out the Athletics in the ninth, 5 to 4. George Burns got his 64th double of the season and drove in all of Cleveland's runs, while George Uhle chalked up his 27th victory.

Rice, Philadelphia Rookie, made his debut against Boston and it was a wow. His triple accounted for two runs and enabled the slowtown boys to down the Braves, 5 to 4.

WHERE EXPERIENCE COUNTS

Yankee Hurlers Have Pitched 22 Games in World's Series

By NORMAN E. BROWN

In a short series—the length of the annual melee between the winning teams of the American and National leagues, experienced pitching usually counts.

Of course there was the case of Babe Adams, a rookie, who won three games in 1909 while still finding his bearings in the big show. But he is the exception that proves the rule.

What we're getting at is the fact that the Yankees, ambling into another world's series this fall, boast of a pitching staff which has, in its entirety, hurled a total of 22 games in the various world's series.

Bob Shawkey has been in four series and has worked in five games, drew credit for winning one and losing two.

Waite Hoyt has been in three series, a total of six games and has won two and lost two games.

Sam Jones, in three series, has worked in five games and gone without a victory while losing two games.

Herb Pennock, in two series, came out of four games with two victories and no defeats opposite his name.

Dutch Ruether, in two series, broke into two games and has one victory and no losses charged to him.

Urban Shocker, toiling a lifetime with the St. Louis Browns before joining the Yanks last year, never of course, broke into a world's series. Walter Beall, Herb McQuaid, Garland Braxton and Myles Thomas have yet to cut their eye teeth in world's series games.

Pennock and Shawkey are the fall classic veterans. Both got a brief chance with the Mackmen in the ill-fated series of 1914. Pennock worked three innings in one game but wasn't charged with a victory or defeat. Shawkey worked in five innings and was charged with the loss of the game.

While Ruether was with the Cinci Reds in 1919 and the Washington Senators last season, he appears only in the records of the 1919 event. He broke into two games, pitched a total of 14 innings and is credited with winning one game.

The failure of Manager Harris of the Senators to inject Ruether into the final game of the series when Johnson appeared unable to find himself drew much criticism at the time.

High Team Has Light Workout

Coach Bridenbaugh Lenient With High Gridders Monday Afternoon

Coach Phil. H. Bridenbaugh was very lenient with the New Castle High gridders on Monday afternoon, and after an hour of signal drill excused the squad until Tuesday afternoon. It is planned to stage a much more intensive workout today, with a possibility that scrimmage will exist.

The coach was rather well pleased with the victory obtained over Crafton High last Saturday and for that reason declined to put the boys through more than warming up traces.

The New Castle High team came through the Crafton encounter without any signs of further injuries. Three men were hurt in the opening game with Mars High.

According to those who watched the East High, Youngstown team in their game with Struthers High last Saturday, the Red and Black team will be outweighed by the visitors from over the Ohio line. The East High team while only in its infancy is rated as one of the strongest in Youngstown and they intend to take back a victory Saturday.

Hartman Will Have Good Team

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 28.—Coach Joe Hartman can feel confident that he has the start of a good football team in his high school eleven as demonstrated by the Saturday game with New Wilmington high that was played under the most trying weather conditions imaginable and prevented either team from showing their stuff.

Fumbles alone at critical moments kept the white and gold team from scoring. The forwards of the Hartman coached organization have plenty of power and drive. Seasoning of the backfield to such a degree that it will gain the yardage necessary in the big contests of the season is the task that Hartman will give instant attention to.

New Bethlehem will be played next Saturday and New Castle October 9. Both games are away. On October 15 Sharpsville is the attraction on the local field.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

"CARDS" WIN FLAG

Every dog has its day. So, too, it seems, does every major league city have its pennant. Now that the Cardinals have rewarded St. Louis' patience, the town of Hornsby has at last cast aside that none too pleasant distinction of being the only one of the present-day 11 big baseball cities never to have had an American or National champion, Writes Sam Otis.

Until 1919 there were four cities outside the select circle. Then Cincinnati came through. Next year Cleveland entered the charmed group, while in 1924 Washington made its debut. But St. Louis, with clubs in both leagues, couldn't make the grade until now.

Every member of the National circuit as now made up has landed at the top of the heap at least once. All but the St. Louis Browns have flown a pennant in the American. There remains just one link to be added to the victory chain, but the day when the Browns will be able to fit in does not appear close at hand.

HULK; NOT SHELL

The outstanding reason for Dempsey's defeat, aside from Tunney's real ability, which was the real determining factor, was the rustiness which Dempsey had acquired through three years of idleness. Lack of his old co-ordination rendered Dempsey incapable of even making a good fight of it. He couldn't get in step with his agile adversary and looked like a $50 preliminary fighter in comparison with the class exhibited by the man who defeated him, Harry Keck says. He knew what he wanted to do, but always was a fraction of a second late getting started to do it. And that fraction of a second represented the difference between greatness and mediocrity. It took the edge off his punch, for one thing, ruined his judgment of distance in attacking against a speedily moving object for another, and enabled his opponent to keep just one jump ahead of him all the time. And after a round or two of failure to measure up, Dempsey's morale slipped and he knew that he was headed for defeat, although he continued to show his old fighting heart. After the bout he was dubbed only a shell of his old self. That term was incorrect. He wasn't a shell, for physically he still was strong, far from dissipated and weakened. But he was dull, lethargic, lumbering. He was a hulk, not a shell.

YANKS ARE FAVORED

The National League pennant triumph of the St. Louis Cardinals has stimulated betting on the world's series in Wall street. The largest wager, placed on the assumption that the Yankees would win the American League flag, established the New York team as a 13 to 10 favorite, $13,000 being placed against $10,000. The short end was taken by a group of St. Louis enthusiasts, according to a New York dispatch.

Among a number of freak bets reported was one of $6,500 to $500 or 13 to 1, that the Yankees do not win the first four games, and another of $7,000 to $500, or 14 to 1, that the Cardinals don't capture four in a row.

WATCH MANUSH

Harry Heilmann of the Tigers won't repeat his 1925 feat of leading the American League in batting but in Heinie Manush Detroit is pretty certain of boasting the leader again this season.

Manush has been hitting hard and often ever since he broke into the line-up several months ago in place of the veteran Cobb. Manush always could smash the leather, but this year he's showing to better advantage than ever. He should finish the chase around the .380 mark, which, by the way, is pretty nifty batting, considering the toning down of the ball.

Manush came to the Tigers in 1923. Previous to that he put in two years of pro ball, one with Edmonton in the Western Canada League and the other with Omaha in the Western. It was while with the latter Manush attracted the attention of the big league scouts.

With Omaha in 1922 Manush combed out 245 hits in 167 games for an average of .376. He made 148 runs and stole 19 bases. In his first year with Detroit the big fellow hit .334 in 109 tilts. Two years ago he fell to .289 but came back last year to bat .303.

Manush takes a terrific cut at the ball and when he connects it goes. He's hit 14 homers thus far this season and has pushed out many triples and two-baggers. Keep your optics on Heinie Manush, says a syndicate scribe.

LOSES HIS "B. R."

Henry Belmar, former actor, and known to "the boys", lost an envelope containing $33 in Chip's billiard palace or on the street nearby. The "old boy" can ill afford to lose those thirty-three simoleons. Doubtless someone who has found the money has failed to locate Belmar. He can be reached at the Henry hotel. Here's the way he identifies the money: one ten spot; two five spots and 13 one-dollar bills. The envelope also contained a membership in the Authors' League of America and tax receipts.

Gamble—McFarlane certainly is the most optimistic chap I ever met.

Ramble—How come?

Gamble—He gave his wife a $20 bill this morning, out of which to buy a $5 hat for herself.

It was in a small town, but two fashionable weddings were going to take place there. One of the brides went into the postoffice with a feeling that the postal clerks would be thrilled at her order—if they could fill it.

"I'd like 1,000 stamps," she said "if you have them."

"Sure," said the postal clerk. "I can give you more if you want them. The other bride was in yesterday and she took 2,000."

It's nice to think people are better than you know they are.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Unsettlement in the industrial stocks continued in the early trading today as professionals promptly resumed selling of the outstanding speculative leaders. An improvement in the credit situation, with brokers' loans down $58,000,000 and call rates fractionally lower was without significance in view of the over-powering strength of the bearish contingent working for lower prices.

Further weakness in the oil stocks followed announcement of a general price cutting in California gasoline. Mid-Continent price basis was reported to be more unstable than it was a few weeks ago, with gasoline consumption having been cut down in the middle west, due to bad weather. Disappointment in the market behavior of the oils has resulted in heavy liquidation by outside traders.

The railroad stocks were inclined slightly higher, in response to the favorable August earnings statements. Rock Island was well bought around non reports that the stock would go on a 5 percent dividend basis this year. Atchison and New York Central made fractional gains in uneven trading. Equipment stocks were dull and slightly reactionary.

The market leaders in the steel, motor, copper and specialty groups were unable to make any progress. Loew's was again the feature of the amusement stocks with a rise to a new high at 48. Brooklyn Union Gas and Consolidated Gas moved up in company on rumors of a possible merger next year or some time. Selling pressure lifted in the second hour, but buying power was also limited, and stocks drifted around without apparent destination, but gradually settling to lower price levels.

Buxom African Girls Fetch Highest Prices

Angolan Parents Fatten Them In Pens For Husbands, Says Missionary

Girls, if you are fat, go to Angola the Portuguese name for Portuguese West Africa, W. H. Anderson Seventh Day Adventist missionary from the heart of Africa says that the fatter a maiden is the more beautiful she is considered by the natives.

"When a girl gets to the marriageable age 17, she is put in a pen and fattened," Mr. Anderson said. "She may be kept penned up and stuffed with food for nine to 18 months. The fatter she is the better price she brings to her father when she is sold. For a beauty who has been fattened so she can hardly waddle when released from the pen one must pay 20 head of cattle but if the maiden refuses to achieve obesity she commands the paltry sum of ten head."

"It's a great disgrace not to marry, so if a girl stays skinny in spite of all efforts you may purchase her at a bargain. The greatest disgrace is not to have children and childlessness is grounds for divorce in Angola.

"I found among these native tribes a remarkable code of justice" Mr. Anderson said. "They were practicing Mosaic law which had somehow been carried into Africa long centuries before white men ever penetrated the Dark continent.. —Milwaukee Journal.

Merton Takes Stand In Daugherty Trial

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Richard Merton, German financier and one of the principal witnesses in the graft conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, was recalled to the stand today in federal district court.

Merton, who came here as a government witness, previously had testified as to the manner in which he brought about the government approval in 1921 of the $7,000,000 claim of the American Metals Company for property seized during the war.

He was recalled so as to enable the defense to cross-examine him and permit him to sail for Germany as soon as possible.

Mr. Nunn finished 19th in the qualifying round of thirty-six holes, which placed him third in the second sixteen or flight. Although pitted against some of the best golfers of Western Pennsylvania, Mr. Nunn came through with flying colors and copped the second flight.

"Movie Madness" Presages Divorce of Ex-Kaiser's Son and Princess

Prince and Princess Eitel Friedrich.

Alleging humiliation to himself and to his noble relatives as but one result of his wife's constant endeavors to break into the movies, Prince Eitel Friedrich, son of the ex-Kaiser of Germany, has instituted divorce proceedings against the Princess. Both she and he have been unhappy in marriage for the last several years. The divorce is expected to be granted.

"The Slick Guy"

Nearly every one of us has seen the checkered-suit person with the velvet tongue. How smoothly he once told of the merits of this product or that—and raked in perfectly good coin for purchases that were often worthless.

The "slick guy" is seldom seen today. When the wise person goes to buy, he knows what is good in value and fair in price.

Simply by glancing over the advertisements in your paper, you can see where to go for the best buys. You can compare values and check up prices without even stirring from your easy chair. You know in advance just what you are going to get and how much it will cost. And you can have the satisfaction that comes from knowing your money is wisely and safely spent.

Nowadays, no one need be at the mercy of the "slick guy." There are still a few people who fail to read the advertisements—and "take a chance." Don't be one of them.

Advertised products are safe buys.

Eight Rules To Observe

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—Eight rules for the guidance of the average citizen in the fight against tuberculosis were laid down by Dr. Edgar T. Shields, chief of the tuberculosis clinics, in the weekly health talk issued today by the State Department of Health.

Following of these rules, Dr. Shields asserted, will not only protect the health of the individual, but will remove the menace of infection of those with whom he may come in contact.

Despite the state's fight and the sanatorium and clinic facilities which it has provided the co-operation of the citizen is needed to further reduce the toll of the white plague, Dr. Shields maintained.

The rules which Dr. Shields suggested follow:

Go to your own doctor and have at least one thorough physical examination each year and an extra one after each acute illness. This is the best kind of health insurance.

See that all physical defects are corrected, especially those of the teeth, nose and throat. Doing this will remove many of the obstructions on the road to good health and a long life.

Cultivate the proper habits of eating, sleeping and exercise. Once formed, they work automatically and continuously for your benefit.

Avoid all over-fatigue and undue exposure to cold and wet. Chilling and fatigue of body prepare a fertile soil for the prolonged growth of disease germs.

Allow children to drink properly pasteurized milk or that from non-tuberculosis cattle. No other kinds are safe enough for the little ones.

Stay in the sunshine and open air as much as possible. Tuberculosis loves darkness but hates the light.

Protect all your children from contact with any sick persons who cough and spit. Serious infection now and future breakdown often result when young children live with those who have tuberculosis.

File Suit For $35,000 Against Jack Dempsey

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—A $35,000 damage suit was on file in common pleas court No. 3 today as an outgrowth of the recent Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship contest here.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Mabel B. Laroche and her husband, M. J. Laroche, against William H. (Jack) Dempsey. The suit is based on the allegations that the ex-champion jostled against Mrs. Laroche as she left the ring at the sesqui stadium here last Thursday night and caused her to fall and receive injuries for which she asks to be compensated.

Judge William E. Ferguson has issued a capias for the arrest of Dempsey and fixed bail at $1,000.

KAMPUS KAR FADES AWAY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—The rule passed recently by the faculty of Westminster College forbidding the ownership and operation of motor cars by students in residence, went into effect Monday.

Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president of the college, took occasion at the chapel service Monday, to fully explain the workings of the rule.

It is possible for a student living outside of New Wilmington to commute to school as usual, excepting that permission must be received from the Dean of Men. A special parking grounds for the cars has been assigned. The cars are not to be used for pleasure driving about the village.

The action on the part of the faculty, has seemed very drastic to many students who were in the custom of keeping motor cars at their place of residence. With this facility for locomotion, trips out of New Wilmington were numerous while they were continually guilty of reckless driving about town.

This marks the passing of the "Kampus Kar" at Westminster which has been very popular the last few years. The faculty ruling is in keeping with steps taken by practically all the large schools throughout the country.

FEELING LOTS BETTER NOW

Writes Ethel May Snider Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Hartford City, Ind.—Doing housework and taking care of a sick woman proved to be too much for Ethel May Snider, R. R. 1 of Hartford City, until she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overwork had so undermined her health that she had to give up all outside work, and when she saw this medicine advertised in the "Star" and other papers, she went to a druggist and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She took it regularly, was greatly benefited and now feels very much better.

Ethel May Snider's experience is similar to that of thousands of other women in all walks of life, who have sent testimonials to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass.

From Maine to California, from Wisconsin to Texas, and from Nebraska to Florida letters are received every day from grateful women who say the Vegetable Compound has helped to restore their health.

Covert Rides In Wheelbarrow As Miller Pays Fight Bet

The Dempsey vs. Tunney fight is over as far as the fighting is concerned and it is over as far as Jess Miller is concerned and it is doubtful if he will ever again be as concerned with a fight as he was with this one.

Clarence "Billy" Covert was the winner and to him goes the spoils of victory. During the days before the fight many of the boys had the winner picked and of course when one picks a hampion it is only right that he support him and to defend him in all ways when some one comes along with a champ that is altogether different in his views a little bet is invariably the ultimate outcome.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Covert are men of greatly differing opinions and as each one had a sure winner picked they decided to show each other just who knew his business when it came to picking the man to come out on the top.

The loser was to push the winner through the downtown district in a wheelbarrow. Mr. Miller chose Dempsey as his champion and everyone knows just what happened to Mr. Dempsey but only Mr. Miller can tell how hard it is to pay a bet of this nature.

A good sized crowd of fans was on hand to watch the excitement and a great yell went up as the wheelbarrow was produced together with several big signs, one having inscribed on it the words "I bet on Dempsey' and on the other "I bet on Tunney." The contestants were started on their way down through town.

Only one stop in each block was allowed but the traffic signals could not be run through and this proved to be the loophole. Down Washington street to the diamond and back up again to County Line street and from there to Zach Allerton's barber shop was the course that Miller was obliged to take and there has been nothing in town for a coon's age that has caused so much laughter as did this unusual spectacle.

Well the whole thing was al done in the right way and Mr. Covert and Mr. Miller are the best friends ever. After the fuss was over each of the principals left the battle ground with a smiling countenance and a big two bit cigar sticking out of the corner of his mouth.
